

FORMULA TO END
AIRLINES STRIKE IS PRESENTED
BY GOLDBERGIt Calls for Return to Jobs and White House Inquiry —
Both Sides Consulted at Kennedy's Order.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (UPI)—Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg came up today with a peace formula designed to end the four-day-old wildcat strike of flight engineers that has tied up major airlines, it was learned.

The strike has grounded three major airlines, and three others maintained only token service. According to industry estimates, the tie-up was costing the airlines $5,000,000 a day.

Meanwhile, other pressures built up against the striking flight engineers. Western Air Lines announced in Los Angeles today that it had fired all engineers who have refused to fly assigned trips. A federal judge in Miami, Fla., held Eastern Air Lines flight engineers in contempt of court and fined the local $200,000 "or whatever is in the treasury."

Goldberg's plan was reported to call for striking flight engineers to return to work immediately while a special White House panel investigates causes of the walkout.

The Labor Secretary went to the White House to report his findings to President Kennedy after conferring with union officials and representatives of the affected airlines.

No Disciplinary Action.

His proposal, it was said, did not call for disciplinary action against the strikers if they returned to their jobs promptly.

The airlines also would be prohibited from making changes affecting flight deck assignments or the engineer's jobs until the White House panel made recommendations.

The plan apparently was devised after President Kennedy ordered new federal action this morning to end the strike. Goldberg followed the President's order by conferring immediately with Ronald A. Brown, president of the flight engineers' union.

Brown arrived at Goldberg's office at 10 a.m. (St. Louis time) for his first meeting with the Secretary of Labor since the walkout began last Friday night. He was accompanied by the union's lawyer, Isadore J. Gromline.

Brown said he did not know of President Kennedy's instructions to Goldberg but said he came at the request of the Cabinet officer.

Ordered Members to Return. The leader of the 3500-member union has ordered flight engineers back to work but asserts they have decided not to report for duty in protest against a National Mediation Board ruling. The engineers contend that the ruling will allow the pilots union to swallow up the flight engineers and destroy their seniority rights.

Brown and Gromline left Goldberg's office after 30 minutes. The union president declined to say what they had discussed.

Mr. Kennedy discussed the airline situation today with Senator George Smathers (Dem., Fla.), at the regular weekly White House conference of Democratic House and Senate

3 Astronauts Selected to Begin
Final Training for Space Flight

LT. COL. JOHN GLENN

First Mission May Be in April — Test of Unmanned Capsule Successful.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., Feb. 21 (AP)—The United States selected three astronauts today to begin final training for a manned rocket flight expected in two or three months.

They are Lt. Col. John Glenn, Capt. Virgil Grissom and Comdr. Alan Shepard.

The three were selected shortly after an unmanned space capsule weathered in apparently excellent condition a test of the worst that might happen as an astronaut returns from space.

The spacecraft, differing only in equipment from the one an American astronaut is expected to ride, sped upward from the missile test center on the nose of a huge Atlas missile.

Forty-three minutes later it was fished from the sea about 400 miles northeast of Puerto Rico and 1425 miles from the launching pad.

The spacecraft was built by the McDonnell Aircraft Corp. of St. Louis.

In Excellent Shape. Just before noon Robert Gilruth, project manager for the man-in-space program, told reporters that reports from the recovery ship indicated that the capsule came through in excellent shape.

This test gives us a new confidence in the system," Gilruth said, "but I must caution that several critical flight tests remain before we can send a man into orbit."

Officials said the purpose of the flight was "to qualify the design and structure of the capsule under the worst possible re-entry conditions, far more severe than could be expected on a normal orbit flight and re-entry."

Gilruth said, "In connection with the successful and significant shot today, I would like to announce that later in the program there will be flights of the Mercury space craft which will include manned missions."

Astronauts Glenn, Grissom and Shepard have been selected to begin concentrated training with the space craft for the first mission. The specific pilots to make each flight will be named just before the flight.

Gilruth said the selection was based on a large amount of technical and medical information gathered during the training of the seven astronauts which began two years ago.

Evaluation by NASA. He said that the data was evaluated by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration space task group and that he as the project director had made the selection of the three.

Glenn, 39 years old, of New Concord, O., is a lieutenant colonel in the Marine Corps. He and his wife Anna have two children, John David, 14, and Carolyn Ann, 13.

Grissom, 35, of Mitchell, Ind., is a captain in the Air Force. He and his wife Betty have two sons, Scott, 11, and Mark, 7.

Shepard, 37, of East Derry, N.H., is a commander in the Navy. He and his wife Louise have two daughters, Juliana, 9, and Laura, 13.

KENNEDY SETS UP
PRIORITY LIST OF
BILLS; MORE AID
TO JOBLESS NO. 1He Wants Action on 15 Other Measures—
Rayburn Says Progress in Congress Is 'Pretty Good.'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—President Kennedy gave Democratic congressional leaders a 16-point priority list of legislation today and promised to add to it soon.

He detailed the legislative proposals for which he sought urgent attention at a White House conference. Mr. Kennedy was reported to be satisfied with the "substantial progress" already made in Congress on his program.

Apparently stung by recent criticism that Congress is moving slowly, Speaker Sam Rayburn said the leaders believed they were making "pretty good progress" and were "moving pretty fast, as fast as is judicial."

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger, who gave reporters the 16-point "must" list, said that Mr. Kennedy's request that Congress authorize supplemental unemployment benefits had "number one priority."

Of the remaining 15 items, Salinger said the President had not asked that they be passed in any particular order but believed they should go through Congress as soon as possible.

Other Proposals.

The other 15 proposals, most of them already outlined in presidential messages to Congress, were:

Aid to dependent children, more liberal Social Security benefits, aid for depressed areas, the feed grain program, an increase in the minimum wage, federal aid for education, medical care for the aged under the Social Security program, aid for colleges, aid for medical education and research, a community health facilities bill.

Extension of the President's power to reorganize government agencies, Senate approval of the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development Treaty, creation of 59 new federal judgeships, setting up an office of international travel, and amendments to ease restrictions in the Battle act on trade with Iron Curtain countries.

Asked whether the President was pleased with the leaders' reaction to this program, Salinger replied, "Yes, no question about it."

Message on Resources.

Salinger announced that the President expects to send legislative recommendations to Congress Thursday dealing with natural resources development and would submit a general farm message and a budget message next week.

The meeting with congressional leaders preceded a conference with Paul-Henri Spaak, outgoing secretary general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Also present with Spaak were Secretary of State Dean Rusk and United States experts on European affairs.

Salinger told reporters after the congressional meeting that future White House messages would contain additional items for Mr. Kennedy's priority list on legislation.

Rayburn admitted that the House was "a little late getting started" because of the contest over enlarging the Rules Committee and the time consumed in setting up other committees.

But he said, "We think now we're going to have real steam ahead."

Report Expected Soon.

Rayburn said the House Ways and Means Committee would soon report a bill dealing with unemployment benefits and then go to work on the Social Security measure. He said the

FOOD PLAN COST
DALTON DELAYSGovernor Wants to Know if State Has Money for Program
to Feed Needy.By HERBERT A. TRASK State Political Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 21—Estimates of the cost of a surplus food distribution program in Missouri were cut in half today, but Gov. John M. Dalton still withheld his endorsement.

In declining to recommend passage of pending legislation that would provide for the state and counties to share costs on a 50-50 basis, Dalton pointed out that he was not saying he is against the program. He said he wanted to find out first whether the state will have the money to pay its share.

Dalton said he had misinterpreted figures sent to him last week by the State Welfare Division estimating how much the program would cost. The figures were for a two-year period, but were interpreted to be annual expenditures.

$967,400 Annual Cost. Under the corrected estimates, the annual cost in the state, if all counties and St. Louis participated, would be $967,400, of which Missouri's share would be $483,700. Originally, the total estimated cost was announced at $1,934,800 a year.

Dalton said today that the correct estimate for St. Louis is $180,000 a year, to be divided between the city and state. The estimate for St. Louis county is $28,000, or $14,000 each for the county and state.

Dalton conceded that the statewide program probably will cost less than the estimate since it is unlikely that all counties will take part. Only nine counties now have a program, and the Governor said no more than seven or eight others have expressed interest in establishing one.

Change in Policy.

In the past, the counties have borne the entire cost of distribution programs. Dalton said switching to a share-the-cost plan would be a change in policy.

The incorrect cost estimates announced by Dalton last Friday prompted the Aldermanic Committee on Surplus Food Com-

BANKS, MOST U.S., STATE OFFICES TO CLOSE TOMORROW

The 228th anniversary of the birth of George Washington will be observed in the St. Louis area tomorrow, a legal holiday.

Most schools and city, county, state and federal offices will be closed. However, the city and county offices of the Missouri Division of Employment Security will remain open to process applications for unemployment insurance benefits, it was announced.

Central Public Library and all branches, except those in public school buildings, will be open, but banks and savings and loan associations in the St. Louis area will be closed in observance of the legal holiday. Stores generally will maintain normal business hours.

There will be no mail delivery other than the usual lock box service and special delivery tomorrow. All stations and branches of the post office will be closed. The main post office will be open for emergency mailing only.

DEVEREAUX DROPS
APPLICATION FOR COLLECTOR'S JOB

St. Louis County Collector Ralph L. Devereaux announced today he would withdraw his application for appointment as collector in the county's new Department of Revenue.

He said the withdrawal was for "personal reasons," which he declined to discuss, and added that he had no plans as to what he would do after March 1, when the new department goes into operation.

Devereaux, former county Democratic chairman, was elected collector in 1958. He was criticized by many taxpayers in 1959 because of delays in mailing of tax bills.

Earl R. Chambers, county personnel director, said 23 applications had been filed for the collector post and seven for assessor. Written examinations will be held Saturday. The new department, created under a charter amendment approved by voters last Nov. 8, combines the offices of collector and assessor and the tax functions of the county clerk.

U.N. MAKES PLEA TO LUMUMBISTS
TO BAR VIOLENCESeventh Ex-Official of Dead Leader's Government Is Reported Executed.

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo, Feb. 21 (AP)—The United Nations appealed to the rulers of the Congo's pro-Lumumba territories today to treat Europeans and anti-Lumumba Congolese "with humanity and justice."

The deportation and death of six Lumumbist politicians, closely paralleling the fate of ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba, produced sharp anxiety here that Lumumbist leaders of Oriental and Kivu provinces might make reprisals against Europeans.

"We have very grave fears for those people in Stanleyville," a United Nations spokesman told a press conference.

(United Press International said the U.N. command had announced that another former official of Lumumba's government had been executed on order of South Kasai province tribal chiefs. The seventh victim was reported to be Jacques Lumumba, former state secretary to Lumumba.)

The appeal not to use violence was sent by Rajeshwar Dayal, the U.N.'s Congo mission chief, to Lumumbist leaders in Stanleyville, seat of Antoine Gizenga's rebel regime.

1000 Europeans Detained.

About 1000 Europeans are now in Stanleyville and the Lumumbist authorities refuse to let them leave. About 300 Congolese political prisoners are in Stanleyville jails.

In Leopoldville, the government denied any responsibility for the killing of Lumumba's followers. The six politicians were deported from Leopoldville Feb. 9 to South Kasai, the self-proclaimed independent mining state, and executed on the orders of its president, Albert Kalonji.

The interior minister in the new Leopoldville provisional government, Cyrille Adoula, issued a statement last night denying complicity in the executions. Adoula said the deportations were carried out before his government took office and that none of his fellow ministers had any knowledge of them.

Calling for an end to revenge and violence, Adoula said, "I have taken all measures to see that the situation is stabilized."

COUNCIL REJECTS
RUSSIA TO OUST
HAMMARSKJOLDAsian-African Resolution Adopted 9 to 0
—Move to Condemn Atrocities, Fails to Get Required Votes.By DONALD GRANT
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Feb. 21—A resolution urging immediate steps by the United Nations to prevent civil war in the Congo, including "the use of force, if necessary, in the last resort," was adopted by the U.N. Security Council early today.

The vote on the resolution, introduced by Liberia, Ceylon and the United Arab Republic with the backing of other Asian-African countries not members of the 11-nation council, was 9 to 0. Russia and France abstained.

Two Others Rejected.

Two other resolutions were rejected before the council ended its deliberations after 4 a.m. One, offered by the Soviet Union, called for the dismissal of Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and an early end to the U.N. operation in the Congo. It was defeated 8 to 1. Only Russia voted for it. Ceylon and the U.A.R. abstained.

The other rejected resolution was sponsored by Liberia, Ceylon and the U.A.R. Like the successful resolution sponsored by these three countries, it was backed by a group of 21 Asian and African nations.

This resolution would have condemned atrocities and assassinations in the Congo. It was prompted by the announcement yesterday that six associates of Patrice Lumumba had been executed in South Kasai province after deportation from Leopoldville by President Joseph Kasavubu's government.

The resolution failed to get the seven votes necessary for adoption after the Soviet Union, with its ninety-third and ninety-fourth vetoes, killed two United States amendments aimed to keep Leopoldville, Katanga and South Kasai from being singled out as atrocity centers while Stanleyville, the seat of the pro-Communist Lumumbist regime, went unmentioned.

The final vote was 6 to 0 for the resolution, with the United States, Britain, Nationalist China, France and Turkey abstaining. Voting for the resolution were Ceylon, Chile, Ecuador, Liberia, the U.A.R. and Russia.

Questions Remain.

Just where this complex series of actions left the United Nations' effort in the Congo remained in doubt. The Soviet proposals to pull the U.N. out of the Congo in a month, and to dismiss Hammarskjold, had been defeated. The Russian resolution, on the other hand, never was thought to have had a serious chance to be adopted.

The adopted resolution was drafted by the Asian-African group after the killing of Lumumba, former Congolese Prime Minister. It expresses regret at the deaths of Lumumba and two lieutenants, and notes the danger of civil war in the Congo as a result of this action.

The resolution "urges that the United Nations take immediately all appropriate measures to prevent the occurrence of civil war in the Congo," including force, with reservations. These reservations were underlined in statements before the council.

Hammarskjold's View. After the resolution was adopted, Hammarskjold indicated he believed his authority to employ the U.N. force in the Congo in combat had not been increased much.

However, he said it gave "a stronger and clearer framework for United Nations action." He said that in carrying it out he would seek guidance from the U.N. Conciliation Commission in

Democrats-Only Lunch in House
Spurs G.O.P. Hunger, Oratory

Special to the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 21—Republican members of the Missouri House today watched hungrily as Democratic legislators made history by eating a special lunch in the House chambers. The Republicans were not invited to share in the repast.

The lunch was financed through voluntary contributions by freshmen Democrats, and was to have been served in the House lounge. Majority Floor Leader James G. Trimble, Clay county, said, "However, as the debate on the income tax withholding bill continued past the lunch hour, the Democrats ordered the meal served in the chamber."

Tables were set up and waiters brought in spaghetti and meatballs, cole slaw, bread, coffee and chocolate cake. The happy Democrats munched away and debated between mouthfuls.

Representative Dorman L. Steelman, Republic floor leader from Salem, took the floor in protest.

"I do not blame the majority party members for having their lunch, but I do not believe it proper for them to eat it in the chamber," he said. He moved for a recess until 1:30 p.m., declaring it was unfair to "who are hungry too?"

The motion was voted down by the Democrats busily-eating without a hint of compassion.

U.S. IS WILLING TO LET NEUTRAL BOARD SCREEN AID FOR LAOS

Plan for Watchdog Commission Given to King, Other Nations in Southeast Asia and Russia.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—The United States is ready to submit all future aid to the royal Laotian government to the screening of a neutral nations' watchdog commission.

This evidence of full United States support for a genuinely neutral Laos was made known today by government sources. They said the offer had been transmitted to King Savang Vatthana of Laos, the Soviet Union and neutral nations in southeast Asia. The King has called for the neutrality of Laos.

If the neutral government of Laos decided to accept Communist aid, diplomatic sources said it would be expected that such aid also would be subject to screening by the neutral nations commission.

The United States action was discussed by Secretary of State Dean Rusk in a 30-minute meeting last night with Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov. Menshikov told reporters after the session he would inform Moscow of the discussion.

Rusk gave Menshikov a translation of King Savang's message, proclaiming that Laos "will not join in any military alliance . . . and will not have on its territory either foreign forces or military bases."

United States officials said the United States would be prepared to withdraw its more than 100 military advisers now training the royal army and turn over the job to military experts from neutral countries. This proposal would depend on a cease-fire in the fighting between leftist and government forces and a withdrawal of any foreign military advisers or technicians now aiding the leftist Pathet Lao.

The United States has provided more than $310,000,000 to keep the Laotian government afloat since its independence was assured by the 1954 Geneva agreement on Indochina.

United States officials said that the new Washington position goes further than the United States previously ever indicated it would go in an effort to assure an independent and neutral Laos.

Malaya and Burma have indicated willingness to serve on a watchdog commission. Cambodia's Prince Norodom Sihanouk has not yet indicated if he would permit Cambodia to serve as chairman. Cambodia adjoins Laos. However, the proposal of King Savang is similar to some that Sihanouk has made.

Talks With 3 Nations. United States officials said the United States consulted Cambodia, Burma and Malaya before King Savang issued his neutrality appeal last weekend. Britain, France and the Asian members of the Southeast Asia alliance were consulted on the King's plans.

A British diplomat here welcomed the American offer to have all of its future aid screened.

The Soviet reaction is being watched closely. Menshikov told reporters after his meeting with Rusk that the Soviet Union had always thought Laos should be neutral in accordance with the 1954 Geneva agreement.

Menshikov said no agreements or decisions were reached in his conversation with Rusk.

"It was a preliminary kind of talk," he said.

Earlier, the State Department called on the neutral nations of Southeast Asia and all other interested governments including the Soviet Union "to work together constructively to restore peace and concord to this troubled area."

As for the United States, it said that "we shall certainly respect the wishes of the Lao people as reflected in the King's declaration."

Laotian Ex-Premier Reported Going to Visit Rebels.

PHNOM PENH, Feb. 21 (AP)—Former Laotian Premier Souvanna Phouma left Cambodia today aboard a Soviet-built Ilyushin 14 airplane, reportedly for rebel headquarters in Xieng Khouang, Laos.

Phouma was accompanied by his wife and two leftist Pathet Lao emissaries, Phoumi Vongvichit and Chau Sisomang, who arrived aboard the Ilyushin yesterday for talks with the self-exiled neutralist.

Phouma said two weeks ago that he would go to Xieng Khouang to inspect troops still loyal to him.

Phouma fled before the anti-Communist forces of Prince Boun Oum seized the Laotian administrative capital, Vientiane, but he still is recognized by the rebels and the Communist bloc as premier.

The rebels led by paratroop Capt. Kong Le have set up a rump regime in Xieng Khouang, a trading center 110 miles northeast of Vientiane.

Submarine Tender Off for Scotland

The missile submarine tender Proteus at New London (Conn.) pier today before leaving for Holy Loch, Scotland where it will resupply Polaris submarines which operate in European waters. Moored to the Proteus is the Polaris submarine George Washington.

TENDER LEAVES FOR HOLY LOCH SUBMARINE BASE

NEW LONDON, Conn., Feb. 21 (AP)—The missile submarine tender Proteus sailed today for Scotland with a complement of 930 men.

The Proteus, equipped for loading Polaris missiles into nuclear submarines, headed for Scotland while a Navy launch kept away two pacifists in a canoe.

The Navy plans to use Holy Loch in Scotland as a base for Polaris submarines.

Edward Heath, who as Lord Privy Seal is the government's chief spokesman on foreign affairs in the House of Commons, told a public meeting in Glasgow last night.

"Britain's decision to let American Polaris-carrying submarines use the Holy Loch as a base will make war less likely."

About 7000 demonstrators marched across Glasgow Saturday in protest against the imminent activation of the base.

G.M. HUMPHREY STEPS DOWN AS NAT. STEEL CHAIRMAN

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 21 (AP)—George M. Humphrey resigned today as board chairman of National Steel Corp. He will continue as a member of the board of directors and chairman of the executive committee.

The board of directors named President Thomas E. Millson as the new chairman and chief executive officer of the corporation, fifth largest steel producer in the nation.

Paul Carnahan, chairman of the board of Great Lakes Steel Corp. of Detroit, was elected president. Great Lakes is a subsidiary.

Humphrey, former Secretary of the Treasury, said at a news conference:

"I'll be 71 on the eight of March. I think it's good for an organization to have changes take place—yesterday people taking over."

U.S. ARGUES DU PONT MUST DISPOSE OF ITS G.M. STOCK

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (UPI)—The Department of Justice has contended that the Du Pont company can correct an anti-trust violation only by disposing of its 63,000,000 shares of General Motors stock.

Arguments in the appeal before the Supreme Court were to continue today.

United States attorney John F. Davis told the court yesterday that the Clayton anti-trust act makes it necessary to cut the stock relationship between the two companies.

The Justice Department is appealing a 1959 district court ruling in Chicago that Du Pont could keep, but not vote, its three-billion-dollar interest in General Motors. The lower court held the voting rights must be transferred to individual stockholders.

WILLIAMS ARRIVES IN KENYA ON AFRICAN GOODWILL TOUR

NAIROBI, Kenya, Feb. 21 (AP)—G. Mennen Williams, United States assistant secretary of state for African affairs, arrived in Nairobi today on his goodwill and fact-finding tour of Africa.

Williams told newcomers at the airport President Kennedy had wanted him to make his trip "because we feel Africa is going to be of increasing importance in America's national policy." He said he had been struck by the friendliness of the people of Somalia, his last stop.

LUMBAGO ATTACK KEEPS EISENHOWER FROM GOLF

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Feb. 21 (UPI)—Former President Eisenhower is suffering from lumbago.

The new ailment came on after a cold which prevented the former Chief Executive all last week from leaving his vacation cottage at Eldorado Country Club to play golf.

He has been able to visit the golf course only four times since arriving here Feb. 8 with his wife for a vacation.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said the Senate Banking Committee would have a depressed area bill ready about March 1 and that the Senate already had passed bills dealing with government reorganization and the international travel office.

Mansfield said prospects were good for congressional approval of Mr. Kennedy's controversial proposals on federal aid for education and medical care for the aged under the Social Security program.

This afternoon, the President arranged separate talks with former Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler and Representative Chet Holifield, (Dem.), California, chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee. He also planned to address a physical fitness conference here.

Kennedy was to wind up the day with another in a series of discussions on United States-Soviet relations with Rusk and Llewellyn Thompson, United Ambassador to Russia. Thompson will return to Moscow this week.

The Chief Executive does not plan to hold a press conference this week because of the Washington's birthday holiday tomorrow. Wednesday is the day he usually meets reporters.

BRAZIL'S FEDERAL WORKERS' HOURS ARE INCREASED

RIO DE JANEIRO, Feb. 21—Brazil's new president, Janis Quadros, already is putting into effect some rather original steps designed to lessen government expenditures.

Beginning yesterday, all federal employees went on a full seven-hour day starting at 8:30 a.m. instead of the former six-hour day, starting at 11. Quadros hopes this move, which has produced an outcry, will lead to resignations of tens of thousands of workers burdening the federal rolls.

Quadros ordered also curtailment of foreign assignments for the Brazilian military, including service attaches, to save dollars, going as far as to recall the professor of Portuguese at West Point Military Academy and canceling a trip of Brazilian paratroopers to inter-American exercises in Panama.

SUPER-CARRIER KITTY HAWK PUTS TO SEA FOR TRIAL RUN

CAMDEN, N. J., Feb. 21 (AP)—The super-carrier Kitty Hawk, the longest ship afloat, put to sea today for the first time and shipping on the busy Delaware river was halted so it could pass. The 60,000-ton aircraft carrier eased from its berth at the New York Shipbuilding Corp. yard across the river from Philadelphia and began four days of trials to test its engines and operating equipment.

The ship is the first aircraft carrier to use surface-to-air guided missiles for protection. Launchers built into the stern of the ship can fire Terrier missiles at a rapid clip against attacking craft.

RIBICOFF WANTS NO RACE CLAUSE IN SCHOOL BILL

Secretary Against Barring Aid to Segregated Districts—Fight Looms.

By JAMES DEAKIN
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—A congressional fight over President Kennedy's school aid program appeared likely today after the Administration indicated it would not seek to deny federal education funds to segregated school districts.

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Abraham Ribicoff said yesterday he is opposed to an amendment which would bar federal school aid from districts refusing to comply with the Supreme Court's school integration decision.

"I don't believe we should try to put every problem that besets America on the back of education," Ribicoff said at a press conference.

Ribicoff's stand raised the possibility that Representative Adam Clayton Powell (Dem.), New York, would re-introduce the amendment he sponsored last year to bar the allocation of federal school funds to segregated areas.

Powell, who is chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee which will handle the school legislation, was quoted yesterday as saying that he might resubmit the anti-segregation rider. He could not be reached immediately today for comment.

On the floor of the House, however, Powell hailed the Kennedy education plan yesterday as dynamic and said his committee would begin hearings on the program as soon as possible after the authorizing legislation is introduced later this week.

If the Powell amendment is introduced again this year and adopted, as it was in the House last May, it would almost certainly unite a coalition of Southern Democrats and conservative Republicans against the school aid bill as a whole.

Food-for-Peace Director Wants To Use Surplus in Aid Programs

McGovern Ends Quick Tour of Brazil, Argentina—Tells How Plan Would Tie in With Economy.

By New York Times News Service

RIO DE JANEIRO, Feb. 21—President Kennedy's food-for-peace director said yesterday after visiting Argentina and Brazil that he will recommend in Washington that the United States surplus food disposal be made part of general economic development programs in recipient countries.

George McGovern, director of United States world-wide food disposal program, had just completed a one-week tour of South America's two most politically influential countries.

In Argentina, a food exporter to Latin America and Europe, McGovern discussed means by which an expanded United States program can be carried out without hurting Argentina's normal commercial possibilities. It was agreed that a permanent system of consultation will be set up between the two countries on food marketing.

In Brazil, South America's major importer of wheat and a large potential market for forage grains, McGovern found President Janio Quadros and other government officials receptive to an increased program making food available for long-term payment or by direct grant. Local currency generated by purchases of this food would be used in Brazil for economic development.

McGovern toured drought-stricken northeast Brazil over the week-end. He described a family of 15 persons living in a mud hut in Pernambuco state. "They were starving," he said. "Their food for the day was a fistful of a piece of manioc (cassava root) flour. A baby was dying with measles and malnutrition. The father was a jobless sugarcane cutter."

McGovern said he felt a nutritional program for an estimated 12,000,000 underfed people in the area should be the immediate target. But he said the basic objective should be to use local currency funds from the food program to increase local food production.

McGovern said it was necessary to meet a Brazilian requirement that food disposal be tied into a long-term program of economic development, including technical assistance and development capital. He said the program must avoid creating dependency habits based on United States surpluses without any follow-through to promote local food self-sufficiency.

West on the basis of improving education for whites and Negroes alike. It is my hope that they will not be able to block education with any other side issues, however important they are."

At the same time, Ribicoff said he did not think either he or the President has any power under existing law to prevent the allocation of federal school funds to states or local school districts refusing to comply with the school integration decision.

Powell had said earlier this year he might not resubmit his amendment if he received assurances from the Kennedy Administration that it would do everything it could with existing authority to bar federal funds from segregated schools.

Ribicoff's statement yesterday indicated that the Kennedy Administration is not prepared to offer Powell the assurances he seeks, raising the possibility that the rider will be introduced again this year.

SENATE UNIT APPROVES NEW ST. LOUIS POLICE BOARD

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 21—The Missouri Senate's Municipal Corporations Committee today unanimously recommended Senate confirmation of the reappointment of the St. Louis Board of Police Commissioners by Gov. John M. Dalton.

Senator William E. Hilsman (Dem.), St. Louis, introduced the four commissioners, H. Sam Priest, president; Russell L. Dearmont, Alphonse G. Eberle and Kenneth Teasdale, to the committee with the statement that he "heartily recommended their confirmation."

After brief deliberation, the committee announced it would approve the reappointment. The committee's action plus the endorsement by Senator Hilsman, in whose district all four commissioners live, makes Senate approval virtually assured.

STATE OF SIEGE IN BOLIVIA DUE TO LABOR STRIFE

Government Blames Reds and Rival Party for Unrest—Wave of Arrests Begins.

LA PAZ, Feb. 21 (UPI)—Bolivia declared a state of siege today to stave off what the government described as Communist-directed labor unrest through the nation.

The emergency measure was decreed after a teacher's strike started and labor leaders threatened a nation-wide mining walkout.

The Interior Ministry said that conclusive proof that opposition Authentic party leaders and Communist organizers "are seeking to precipitate subversive action . . . It is mandatory on the government to maintain public order to prevent bloodshed . . ."

A wave of arrests followed the state of siege decree. Among the first to be picked up were the leaders of the Authentic (M.N.R.) party, of which Walter Guevara is head.

ALDERMEN TO BE ASKED TO CLEAR WAY PROMPTLY FOR STADIUM

Chairman to Urge Land Clearance Committee to Send Measures to Board for Friday's Session.

Immediate action on measures to clear the way for construction of the downtown stadium project will be recommended Friday to the aldermanic committee on land clearance and housing.

Committee Chairman A. Barney Mueller (Dem.), Twenty-first Ward, said he had asked the group to meet before the regular Friday session of the Board of Aldermen. "I am going to recommend to the committee that we release the measures immediately so they can be placed on Friday's agenda of the board," he said.

The measures include approval of the development plan for the $89,000,000 project, which includes a 50,000-seat sports stadium and related parking and motel facilities; an agreement between the city and the Civic Center Redevelopment Corp., sponsor of the project, and approval of technical procedures which would permit the Land Clearance Authority to act for the developer in acquisition and clearance of the site.

Second Public Hearing. Mueller made his statement today following a second public hearing on the proposal. A public hearing was held earlier on a measure to declare blighted the 31-block area in which the project will be located.

Proponents, including civic organizations and representatives of the city administration, stated generally, as they did at the earlier hearing, that the development was necessary to rebuild the central area of the city.

The project is immediately south of the downtown area. Its general boundaries are the Mississippi riverfront memorial site, Eleventh street, Market street and the railroad yards.

Speedy action by the aldermen was urged to get the project under way. Proponents included the Chamber of Commerce, Downtown in St. Louis Inc., the Civic Center Corporation, the City Plan Commission, the Land Clearance Authority, and Mayor Raymond R. Tucker.

Little Opposition. Little opposition was expressed yesterday. Most of the operators of businesses in the area voiced approval but sought definite information as to construction schedules and arrangements for moving them, and for compensation for their properties.

O. O. McCracken, executive director for the development corporation, told them each building would have to be appraised separately and separate negotiations would be undertaken.

He said that the first phase of construction, the stadium itself and some adjoining parking facilities, would not start until about two years after a contract had been signed between the city and the developers.

The only opponent who spoke was Robert J. Kratky, attorney representing owners of the Tenth and Walnut garage and several parking lots in the area.

He questioned whether a bond issue item could be passed to provide the city with $6,000,000 in funds for municipal improvements in the area.

Proposed Municipal Projects. The municipal funds would be used for the widening and paving of some streets, for new street lighting and for the installation of a block-wide mall between the Civil Courts Building and Seventh street.

"If this program depends on a bond issue, it's going to fail," he said, "because a bond issue cannot be passed in this area." He charged also that there was no practical financing plan for getting the development under way. He wanted to know whether there was any assured financing for the project.

McCracken replied that more than $17,000,000 in equity capital already had been pledged and that the corporation had ceased seeking additional equity capital because it felt it had enough. He said there would be no difficulty in obtaining additional capital.

McCracken said the bills must be passed before the remainder of the financing could be sought.

He said that failure of a bond issue proposal to defray the cost of municipal improvements in

Where Sidewalk Collapsed

RIVER RISE HERE TO ENDANGER AUTOS AT LEVEE

The Mississippi river is expected to rise rapidly on the St. Louis levee today and tonight, the Weather Bureau said today. Motorists were warned not to park too close to the river.

Heavy rains, melting snows and breaking ice jams on the upper Mississippi are causing most of the rise. Within a few days a heavier flow is expected from the Missouri river.

The Mississippi river gauge here registered 14 feet at 7 a.m. The Weather Bureau said it would be up to about four feet by 5 p.m. and six and one-half feet by tomorrow at 8 a.m.

This means the levee parking area will be reduced between 10 and 15 feet by early evening and 20 feet by morning, the Weather Bureau said.

DR. SMITH TO SELECT ONE OF THREE AS HOSPITAL CHIEF

Dr. J. Earl Smith, director of health and hospitals, will select one of three physicians certified to him yesterday as eligible for appointment as hospital commissioner. A total of 31 had applied for the long-vacant post.

The eligibles are Dr. John W. Bowden, medical officer in charge of the United States Public Health Service Hospital, Staten Island, N. Y.; Dr. Kenneth R. Nelson, chief medical officer of the United States Coast Guard, Bethesda, Md.; and Dr. I. Herbert Scheffer, executive director of Miriam Hospital, Providence, R.I.

Salary for the post is $14,774 to $17,959 a year. With the job goes an eight-room brick home, together with food, utilities, laundry, maid service, lawn care and an automobile with all operating costs, making the true value of the job $20,774 to $23,959 a year.

The area would not deter the development, since the proposed ordinance would require the developers to proceed anyway.

He added that the stadium proposal was the only one in the country in recent years in which such a development was provided for with private capital.

WARNS AGAINST PROTEIN DIET IN CIRRHOSIS CASES

Treatment of persons with cirrhosis of the liver with a high protein diet may increase liver damage in some cases, Dr. W. Stanley Hartroft, head of the department of pathology at Washington University School of Medicine, said last night. Dr. Hartroft spoke at a St. Louis Medical Society postgraduate course on liver and gastro-intestinal diseases at the society's auditorium, 3839 Lindell boulevard.

Dr. Hartroft suggested tests to determine whether large nodules of fat exist in the diseased liver. If they do, he said, it may be advisable to start with about half the normal protein intake daily and supplement the diet with vitamins and medicines to reduce the amount of fat.

Intake of meat and other proteins then may be increased over a period of time, Dr. Hartroft said. Until a year or so ago, he added, it was believed a high protein diet was indicated in most cases of cirrhosis.

UNIVERSITY CITY PLANNING FOREIGN CITY AFFILIATION

A project in University City for affiliation with a foreign city is being initiated by Mayor Nathan B. Kaufman and sponsored by the University City Mid-Day Lions Club.

A community meeting will be called at City Hall for civic, service and other organizations to discuss the city's entrance into the program. With the assistance of the American Municipal Association in Washington, an attempt will be made to select an overseas city of comparable size and cultural background. The purpose will be to exchange ideas and special projects and to facilitate understanding of mutual problems.

The mayor, in co-operation with the city manager, will serve as honorary chairman of the program. A committee representing community groups will promote affiliations and select the joint projects to be undertaken. Chairman for the Lions Club is Burl L. Garrison.

MAN IS BRUISED IN 10-FOOT FALL AS WALK COLLAPSES

A part of the sidewalk on the south side of the 500 block of Missouri avenue in East St. Louis collapsed yesterday as Clarence C. Fultz, an insurance agent, was walking over it, police reported. Fultz dropped several feet.

Fultz, 45 years old, 3204 Gross avenue, East St. Louis, was treated at St. Mary's Hospital and released. He suffered a bruised right knee.

Two I-beams apparently had rusted away from two concrete pillars that supported the sidewalk over the open space below, police said.

SEALED COPPER BOX IN OLD EAST ST. LOUIS CITY HALL

Workmen today found a sealed copper box under the cornerstone of the old East St. Louis City Hall, which is being razed.

Robert Keeley, commissioner of public property, said the box would be opened Thursday morning at the regular meeting of the City Council. The box apparently contains mementos of 1898, the year the City Hall was built.

The cornerstone itself was a solid granite block about 24 by 18 by 18 inches. The block, which bore the date 1898 and the names of Mayor M. M. Stephens and three other city officials of the 1890s, was lifted out of the northeast corner of the building with a clamshell bucket.

ELECTRICAL APPLIANCES WORTH $1069 ARE STOLEN

Appliances valued at $1069 were taken yesterday in the burglary of the Lazar & Sons Electrical Appliance Store, 2206 South Broadway.

Entrance was gained some time between 2:20 and 8:10 a.m. by breaking a 28-by-19-inch hole in a brick rear wall. A tire tool and lug wrench used in the break-in were found in debris near the hole.

Seven television sets, two dehumidifiers and a record player were stolen.

HOLLORAN SAYS HE IS STAYING IN RACE FOR MAYOR

Won't Quit Under Any Circumstances, He Asserts—Not Taking U.S. Job.

Mark R. Holloran, Democratic national committeeman for Missouri, will remain in the race for the Democratic nomination for mayor of St. Louis and will not accept any part-time federal job, he said yesterday.

Holloran told the Post-Dispatch last Friday he would withdraw from the mayoral race if he obtained a part-time federal post he was seeking in the administration of President Kennedy. He said also he had been approached by a "representative of my opponent" to withdraw from the race in the interest of party harmony. He identified the representative as James E. Crowe, St. Louis attorney and former city counselor.

Holloran's Statement. In a formal statement yesterday, Holloran said: "I am a candidate for mayor in the Democratic primary election and I will not withdraw under any circumstances."

The statement said the conversation with Crowe took place Feb. 13 in Kansas City. Holloran said he was unable to say whether Crowe was speaking in a representative capacity when he asked for Holloran's withdrawal, but the statement emphasized what Holloran called Crowe's close relationship to the present city administration.

"He (Crowe) is widely recognized in St. Louis political circles as a political spokesman for the administration, and this position would seem confirmed by his frequent appointment to serve as a lawyer in city matters in which the Mayor had the power to effectively recommend such appointment," Holloran said.

Spoke as Individual.

Crowe has stated he was speaking only as an individual to Holloran and not as a representative of Mayor Tucker, who is seeking renomination for a third term. Mayor Tucker also denied that Crowe had any authority to represent him in seeking Holloran's withdrawal.

Turning to the matter of the federal appointment, Holloran's statement noted he had served Missouri on the Democratic National Committee for nine years without compensation or reimbursement of expenses.

"I have never attempted to benefit financially from my political work in the Democratic party," he said. "From the time of his victory, I had hoped to be able to serve the administration of President John F. Kennedy through an appointment to a part-time, non-salaried position."

"I do not conceive that this desire was in any manner in conflict with my campaign for mayor. Many federal, state and local officeholders have served, and do serve, in such national

CAB Hasn't Done Adequate Job, New Chairman Tells Senators

Alan Boyd Reports Lack of Funds and Manpower—Safety Bureau Head Also Says Staff Is Too Small.

By SAM B. ARMSTRONG
National Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—The Senate Aviation subcommittee heard testimony yesterday by the new chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board that the agency, responsible for investigation of accidents, had not done an adequate job. The hearings on air safety were then recessed until this afternoon.

The delay was to permit CAB officials to organize certain facts and testimony on recent air crashes.

Alan S. Boyd, who was named CAB chairman two weeks ago after brief service as a member, told the subcommittee yesterday: "We feel we have not done an adequate job in the past."

The 38-year-old Boyd is the youngest member of the CAB. His testimony about lack of funds and manpower followed that of Melvin N. Gough, CAB safety bureau director, who said his staff of 139 persons was so small that it was kept busy with accident investigations and did not have time to attend instruction courses to improve their qualifications.

"In directing our efforts to any area when and where an accident occurs," he said in a prepared statement, "I find we are not able to take proper advantage of and make maximum use of information, experiments and knowledge which is available to us."

Trying to Cut Dangers.

The subcommittee is investigating all phases of air safety and aircraft accident investigations to determine what Congress might do to reduce dangers.

Senator A. S. Mike Monroney (Dem.), Oklahoma, subcommittee chairman, said this would include such factors as air traffic control, airport facilities, weather and aircraft design.

(Yesterday, the Associated Press reported, Monroney said New York's La Guardia airport was one of the most notorious advisory positions. However, this matter has been so grossly misinterpreted that I would not now accept any such appointment."

Holloran conceded that Mayor Tucker had the endorsement of a majority of the Democratic ward organizations. "Past experience seems to demonstrate, however, that more than ward support is necessary to win an election," Holloran went on. "If I do not have the organizations, I do hope to have the people, and they in the final analysis will determine who the next mayor of St. Louis is to be."

The Sixteenth Ward Regular Democratic Organization endorsed Mayor Tucker for renomination at a meeting last night. The Mayor now has the formal endorsement of 14 regular party ward organizations and examples of failure to correct runway hazards.

(In talking about an Eastern Air Lines accident last September, Monroney said La Guardia was spending millions of dollars to improve its passenger terminal facilities, but had failed to correct some hazardous conditions which he said were well known and feared by pilots.)

The 374 fatalities reported last year set a new record.

Luck in two recent crashes avoided an even worse accident record, Gough testified under questioning by Monroney.

Mexican Jet Takeoff.

One was the crash of an Aeromexico DC-8 jet in a takeoff at Idlewild airport in New York last Jan. 19. Four crew members were killed but 102 passengers escaped before it burned.

The other, which might have sent last year's figures much higher, was the unusual accident at La Guardia airport last Sept. 14 when an American Airlines turbo-prop Electra with 76 persons aboard hit an eight-foot dike, flipped on its back and burned. There were no fatalities.

The usable length of the runway on which the Electra attempted to land had been reduced by construction work.

Monroney said: "How long, how long, O Lord, how long are we going to have to go over the same situation at one of the country's major airports?"

As a result of the Electra crash, the FAA began a rush program to install a new visual "glide-slope system" at several major airports. High intensity red and white lights are placed along the runway so that a pilot making a visual landing can determine when he is descending along the proper slope.

Long a subject of controversy and complaint has been the lack of approach lights at La Guardia. Such an installation would require piers that would obstruct shipping channels in the East river. An agreement with the Army Corps of Engineers to shift the channel is being sought.

Approved by Voters. Berkeley voters approved annexation of the airport and adjoining area in a special election in 1959. The City of St. Louis and McDonnell Aircraft brought suits contesting the action. Last October Judge Mueller issued a permanent injunction barring Berkeley from attempts to exercise jurisdiction over either the airport or the aircraft factory.

Berkeley filed a notice of its intention to appeal the decision shortly thereafter, but decided to study the issue thoroughly before pursuing it, Roberts said.

BURNED BADLY IN EXPLOSION OF ANTI-FREEZE FLUID

Sylvester Eppers, operator of an automobile brake service, suffered severe burns of the body and legs today when a can of anti-freeze fluid exploded in his shop, 5945 Natural Bridge avenue.

Police were told that Eppers, 42 years old, was using a welding torch near the can of fluid. Firemen were called to put out a small fire in the shop.

Eppers was taken to Homer G. Phillips Hospital. He lives at 10412 St. Ann lane, St. Ann.

BERKELEY DROPS SUIT TO ANNEX LAMBERT FIELD

City Council Votes 4 to 3 to Abandon Appeal to Supreme Court.

The Berkeley City Council voted last night to drop the city's suit seeking annexation of Lambert-St. Louis Field and land occupied by McDonnell Aircraft Corp.

The suit was before the Missouri Supreme Court, on an appeal by Berkeley last November from a decision by former St. Louis County Circuit Judge Fred E. Mueller that the annexation was "unreasonable, oppressive, illegal and void."

Mayor Louis A. Roberts said the decision to drop the suit was by a 4-to-3 vote in an executive session of the council.

Would Be Costly.

Noting that the council last year had voted unanimously to proceed with the appeal, he said lengthy discussion of the issue in the intervening months had made several councilmen decide the appeal would be costly and possibly worthless.

"We determined that to pursue the appeal would cost the city of Berkeley about $18,000," Roberts said. "Assuming that our case was successful in the Supreme Court, there is no promise that the city would be able to retain the benefits of annexation, since within a few years' time, Berkeley may be nothing more than a borough in some sort of municipal county government," he added.

Roberts added that the council's decision does not mean that Berkeley officials now believe the attempted annexation was improper. Nor does it mean that the council will not pursue the matter further at some later time, he added.

"We believe our case for annexation of the property is still a strong one, and we were backed up by more than a seven-to-one majority of Berkeley voters who voiced their opinion in a public vote," he said.

United Nations

The Congo—which has endorsed Ileo's government as a possible basis for reconciliation of the rival political factions. He also called for more troops to build up the thinning U.N. Congo force.

The resolution adopted calls again for the withdrawal of Belgian and other "foreign military and paramilitary personnel and political advisers not under the U.N. command" from The Congo. It calls on all states to stop such personnel from going to The Congo.

Statements before the council interpreted this section to prohibit supplies which might be used by armed forces in The Congo, as well as personnel.

Lumumba Inquiry.

The resolution calls for an immediate investigation of Lumumba's death and punishment of those guilty.

Valerian Zorin, the Soviet delegate, told the council he did not interpret this to mean that the secretariat under Hammarskjöld was empowered to conduct the investigation. Hammarskjöld replied that he would leave that issue up to the U.N. Advisory Committee for The Congo, which includes representatives of 15 Asian and African nations.

Included in the resolution is a reaffirmation of previous resolutions—in effect a reaffirmation of Hammarskjöld's mandate in The Congo.

This section was interpreted as a defeat for the Russians, though the Soviets might have vetoed this section, or the whole resolution, if they had chosen to do so.

Finally, the resolution urged the convening of the Congolese Parliament, reorganization of the Congolese armed forces and the removal of such forces from the political life of the country.

Members of the U.N. staff involved in the Congo operation said the most important practical result of the resolution may be to halt the withdrawals of troops from the U.N. force in The Congo. The Congo force has dwindled from 20,000 troops to about 15,000.

India indicated the possibility of a major troop contribution if the Security Council took vigorous action.

Action Bitterly Contested.
The defeat of the second Asian-African resolution was the most bitterly contested action of the session.

The resolution expressed a highly emotional reaction on the part of Asians and Africans and others to the latest wave of political assassinations in The Congo, announced yesterday.

The resolution condemned "the unlawful arrests, deportations and assassinations of political leaders in The Congo." It called on all concerned to put an end to these actions and on the U.N. to take all measures to prevent them, "including, if necessary, the use of force as a last resort."

It also called for an investigation of these new political murders. Adlai E. Stevenson, the chief United States delegate, clashed with the sponsors of the resolution concerning their determination to pin-point the latest political murders. He sought to add Stanleyville, the Lumumba stronghold, to the resolution's list of Leopoldville, Katanga and South Kasai as scenes of atrocities. This was rejected by the Asian and African sponsors.

Zorin contended the issue was not geographical, but political. Lumumba had been supported by the Russians.

The latest victims had been turned over to the leaders of Kasai province by The Congo government, which also had turned Lumumba and his colleagues over to the leaders of Katanga, where they were killed.

Appeal by Liberia.

Liberia, long the closest friend of the United States in Africa, was joined by Ceylon, the U.A.R., Morocco and India in urging the United States to support the resolution. A number of minor amendments were accepted by the sponsors in an effort to attract American support.

When differences between the United States and the Asians and Africans had been revealed as chiefly concerning the inclusion of Stanleyville, in the list of Congo places where atrocities and assassinations had occurred, Stevenson said he thought the council should make it clear that all of The Congo was its concern.

C. S. Jha of India said there were, as yet, no confirmed reports of political murders in Stanleyville.

George Padmore of Liberia, saying he spoke "for all of Africa," twice made direct and highly emotional appeals to Stevenson to change the United States position and support the resolution.

On this issue, Stevenson found himself in a position quite different from his position on the "use of force" resolution, which the United States supported.

Washington's Insistence.

For two days Stevenson—at the insistence of Washington—had been attempting to get this Asian-African resolution amended. Chiefly, these amendments would have expressed confidence in Congo President Kasavubu and in Hammarskjöld. Inclusion of either would have assured a Soviet veto.

Stevenson is known to have opposed Washington on this issue. In the end he was given instructions which allowed him to support the resolution, even without the inclusion of his amendments.

His address offering support was greeted warmly by Asian and African delegates here. Stevenson expressed the "gratitude of the delegation of the United States to those delegates of India, of Nigeria, of Liberia, of the United Arab Republic, of Ceylon and of all the others who have contributed thoughtful aid and ideas to the draft resolution which has been tabled by Ceylon, Liberia and the United Arab Republic . . ."

"This is surely the right way to proceed. Its provisions touch upon the immediate dangers of civil war and outside intervention."

Certain Reservations.

Stevenson went on to say that despite American support for this resolution he had certain reservations. In particular, he said, the call for "use of force" could not be interpreted as meaning any interference in the internal affairs of The Congo.

"It is our understanding," Stevenson said, "that authorization to use force . . . means that every effort will be made to accomplish the purposes of this paragraph by agreement of the contending elements in that divided country. Clearly this resolution means that force cannot be used until agreement has been sought by negotiation, conciliation and all other peaceful measures."

Substantially the same reservations were repeated by Britain, France, Turkey, Chile, China and Ecuador.

Hammarskjöld, in his statement interpreting the council action as finally taken, declared he understood that troops would serve in the future, in the United Nations force, "on the same legal basis" as previously. The new resolution, he said, gives the U.N. "a stronger and clearer framework" for action, "although, as so often before, not providing a wider legal basis or new means for implementation."

"I note," he added, "the reaffirmation of previous resolutions which entrusted the Secretary General with execution of the decisions of the Security Council in the Congo affairs."

Regret at Defeat.

Hammarskjöld expressed regret at the defeat of the second Asian-African resolution.

"Its adoption would have strengthened the hand of the United Nations representatives in The Congo," he said. "However, I note that there has been no difference of opinions, if I understand the situation correctly, as regards the operative paragraphs."

"Under such circumstances," he said, "I feel entitled to use those operative paragraphs with the full moral value which they have in our efforts in The Congo."

In particular, he said he would "bring to the attention of those concerned the strong condemnation of unlawful arrests and other actions of a similar kind."

Hammarskjöld added a strong defense of his actions which have been under heavy Soviet attack during this debate just concluded. (Meanwhile, the Associated Press said a new U.N. report from The Congo quoted the South Kasai minister of justice as saying the six executed Lumumba followers had been tried before a tribunal made up of chiefs of the Baluba, Apende, Bakete, Bakuba and Bashille tribes and sentenced to death for crimes against the Baluba people. The report was relayed by Rajeshwar Dayal, U.N. special representative in The Congo.)

Belgium Again Denies It Is Sending Arms To Congo.

BRUSSELS, Feb. 21 (AP) — A Foreign Ministry spokesman repeated today that Belgium is delivering no arms to The Congo and is not recruiting for any factions in its former colony.

The spokesman was commenting on the resolution adopted by the United Nations Security Council.

With regard to the U.N. call for withdrawal of Belgian political and military advisers, the spokesman said the Belgian government could in no way intervene.

He said these persons were called in by the Congolese authorities themselves and it was up to them to order their return to their home countries.

Belgium, he added, is not opposed to any such withdrawals of European personnel, provided this will not mean a worsening of local disorders.

BRUSSELS POLICE BEAT OFF ATTACK ON ARAB EMBASSY

BRUSSELS, Feb. 21 (UPI) — Belgian police and mounted gendarmes fought off a mob of university students trying to storm the United Arab Republic embassy tonight.

Lobbing tear gas grenades and charging with rifle butts behind the mounted gendarmes, the police repelled the attackers after an hour-long fight. Three policemen and two students were injured. Some students were arrested.

The street fight pitted about 200 gendarmes and policemen against an estimated 700 students. The students were trying to avenge an attack on the Belgian embassy in Cairo last week by a mob protesting against the death of former Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba.

9,725,764 LIVING IN TOKYO

TOKYO, Feb. 21 (AP)—Tokyo's population reached 9,725,764 on Jan. 1, the metropolitan government announced yesterday. It included 5,016,894 men and 4,708,870 women.

Airline Strike

leaders. Smathers said Mr. Kennedy had some "new and original ideas" on the strike situation which had been transmitted to Goldberg.

Salminger said he did not feel it was accurate to say that the President was taking a personal hand in the attempted strike settlement efforts. He preferred to describe it as the President acting through Goldberg.

The Washington development came as officers of the Flight Engineers' Pan American World Airways chapter began to answer subpoenas in New York issued by United States District Court there to testify how the strike began. Pan American has charged that the union officers organized the wildcat walkout but the officers have denied this.

Officers of the union's Pan Am chapter and 42 flight engineers were ordered to appear in the same court Monday to show cause why they should not be held in contempt for continuing the strike despite a court order. Other airlines have obtained similar orders and multi-million-dollar damage suits have been filed against the engineers' union. Trans World Airlines asked for $3,500,000 in a single suit at Kansas City, Mo.

An American Airlines official testified yesterday in Dallas, Tex., that a number of striking engineers told him of "mysterious telephoned threats."

About 75,000 airlines employees were furloughed yesterday and 9000 more were scheduled for layoffs today. Trans World Airlines, American Airlines and Eastern Air Lines rolled all their planes into hangars and shut down.

Pan American, National Air Lines and Western Air Lines were as good as closed down with up to 85 per cent of their employees laid off and only a token number of planes flying.

Situation in St. Louis.

(In St. Louis, 75 daily flights of the three airlines were canceled and 638 of a total of 747 employees were laid off.)

(T.W.A. furloughed 366 of 410 workers, American 200 of 233 and Eastern 98 of 104. T.W.A. normally has 40 daily flights out of St. Louis, American 23 and Eastern 12.)

(Eastern was taking no reservations. The other two lines were taking none for the next week.)

Hiring Replacements.

In announcing the firing of flight engineers, Terrell C. Drinkwater, Western Air Lines president, said his firm is hiring others and training them "as fast as possible." He said as the new engineers receive their federal certificates they would start flying regular schedules.

It is Western's intention, Drinkwater said, to provide at least some service over portions of the company's system where no service is operated by competitive airlines.

All employees furloughed yesterday by Western will be recalled to duty as they are needed, Drinkwater said.

United States District Judge Emmett Choate assessed the fine against Eastern Air Lines flight engineers in the Miami case.

Almost 150,000 travelers in waiting rooms across the country discovered their tickets were useless except for refunds. Air mail service also was threatened. Only one airline—United—was still flying a coast-to-coast route. Only one—Northeast—still had normal service between New York and Florida points.

Puerto Rico, which depends on airlines for 95 per cent of its travel to the mainland, was virtually isolated. For resort areas such as Florida, the walkout was extremely damaging. Miami put its daily losses at $3,000,000.

Organized labor appeared to be lining up against the strikers. In Miami Beach, AFL-CIO President George Meany said in his opinion the only long-range solution for the airline industry was establishment of a single union.

Backed by Foreign Engineers.

But the strikers had support from flight engineers of foreign airlines which might have added extra flights to make up for the grounded United States planes. Engineers for KLM Royal Dutch Airlines said they would refuse to man such flights, and the strikers here said engineers for British Overseas Airways Corp. and Air France would follow suit.

The strikers said a full-scale walkout might spread to the foreign airlines, but the airlines said there was no indication of such a move.

PRICES FAIR DESPITE RIGGING OF BIDS, G.E. ASSERTS

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (UPI)—The General Electric Co. asserted yesterday a preliminary study showed that customers got their money's worth despite bidding rigging and price fixing for which G.E. and other firms were fined nearly $2,000,000.

An interim report showed that price changes for electrical equipment "exhibit similarities with those of other comparable complex mechanical equipment where unquestioned competitive pressures have been at work," the company said.

G.E. said "much more detailed analysis is clearly required before passing judgment on the impact (of the pricing practices) on specific customers." But it said the preliminary study indicated "customers have been given fair value for prices paid."

The company has said it would fight any suits brought by the Federal Government, states, cities or other companies as a result of the anti-trust suit.

60 REPORTED ARRESTED IN VENEZUELAN REVOLT

CARACAS, Feb. 21 (AP) — Venezuelan authorities are reported to have rounded up 60 military men and civilians after squelching a miniature revolt against the government of President Romulo Betancourt.

The government announced only the arrest of Col. Jose Edito Ramirez, accused of leading the abortive uprising. Reliable sources said others arrested included at least 30 civilians and a Roman Catholic priest.

The informants said the priest was the Rev. Simon Salvatierra and that it was he who announced over a local radio station that the armed forces had taken over power.

CITY FLOOD CONTROL FUND RISE SOUGHT

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 — A recommendation that the Federal Government spend $9,100,000 in the coming fiscal year on the Mississippi river flood control system at St. Louis was made to President Kennedy yesterday by the two Missouri Senators.

Senators Stuart Symington and Edward V. Long, Democrats, asked that $800,000 be added to the present $8,500,000 budgeted for the work, which eventually will protect St. Louis against a flood stage up to 52 feet. The $8,500,000 figure was in President Eisenhower's last budget.

The proposed increase was part of a recommendation that the President increase Corps of Engineer spending in Missouri by $2,500,000 to help the state's economy.

"The State of Missouri has been particularly affected by the slowdown in our economy," the Senators said in a letter to Mr. Kennedy. "St. Louis, Kansas City and Joplin have been declared areas of substantial labor surplus, and 19 counties in Missouri would be considered areas of chronic unemployment."

Other projects for which increased budget recommendations were urged included:

Marion County drainage district, from nothing in the Eisenhower budget to $300,000; Missouri river channel stabilization, Kansas City to St. Louis, $3,500,000 to $4,000,000; stabilization of the Missouri from Kansas City to Omaha, Nebr., $2,800,000 to $3,300,000; Perry county levees, $400,000 to $500,000; Stockton reservoir, $232,000 to $700,000.

3 DAMAGE SUITS DISMISSED IN MARINE DEATH MARCH

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Feb. 21 (UPI) — United States District Judge Albert Bryan dismissed yesterday three damage suits totaling $600,000 which arose from the 1956 death march of a Marine Corps platoon at Parris Island, S.C.

The suits were filed by families of three of the six Marine recruits who were drowned when the training march led through Ribbon creek. Judge Bryan said the defendants, including former Marine Commandant Gen. Randolph Mac Pate and 15 subordinates, were not liable to civil suit because of an official action.

The suits were filed by the families of Jerry Lamonte Thomas, Fairfax county, Va.; Norman A. Wood, Bay Shore, N.Y., and Leroy Thompson, Brooklyn, N.Y.

TUNISIAN SEEKING U.N. POST

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Feb. 21 (AP)—Mongi Slim, Tunisian ambassador to Washington and the United Nations, said yesterday he will be a candidate for president of the fifteenth session of the U.N. General Assembly starting next Sept. 19.

He will oppose former Prime Minister Ali Saïraoudj of Indonesia for the presidency of the 99-nation assembly.

WOMAN ACCUSED
DUCKING STOOL

LANCASTER, Pa., Feb. 21 (UPI)—Three Lancaster couples filed charges yesterday against a neighbor, they accused of being a "common scold" under a 101-year-old law which provides the ducking stool as a penalty.

Named in the charge was Mabel McCombs, 57 years old, who was accused of "cursing and swearing" at the neighbors who brought the charges. Miss McCombs previously faced seven charges of disorderly conduct brought by the same neighbors last August.

The defendant said she was aware she had been charged with being a scold but did not know the law provided she be dipped in a stream if found guilty. The charges were filed by Richard H. Snyder on behalf of himself, his wife and two other couples, Mr. and Mrs. William Retallick, and Mr. and Mrs. Dale A. Pasker.

A scold conviction was returned here in 1945 but since there was no ducking pool the Lancaster county court put the woman on probation for a year.

TITAN SUCCESSFULLY FIRED
ON 5000-MILE TEST FLIGHT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., Feb. 21 (AP)—The Air Force Titan intercontinental ballistic missile was fired last night on a second straight successful 5000-mile test flight.

The 98-foot missile hit a target in the South Atlantic after a 30-minute, 17,000-mile-an-hour flight. Two early rockets in this advance series failed before a successful shot was recorded Feb. 10.

The Air Force timetable calls for Titan to be operational in midsummer. A total of 14 squadrons, each with 10 nuclear-armed missiles, is planned.

JEWISH LEADERS OPPOSE BILL ON SLAUGHTERING

By HERBERT A. TRASK
By the State Political Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 21—St. Louis orthodox Jewish leaders appeared last night at a hearing before the Senate Criminal Jurisprudence Committee and vigorously opposed a provision of a bill to require humane slaughtering of livestock.

Rabbi M. H. Eichenstein, chief rabbi of the United Orthodox Jewish Community of Greater St. Louis, and other leaders contended the measure in its present form violates the Missouri constitutional guarantee of religious freedom.

The bill, sponsored by Senator Robert Pentland (Dem.), St. Louis, and backed by the National and Missouri humane societies, requires that livestock be rendered insensible to pain before being shackled, hoisted and slaughtered.

Rabbi Eichenstein said a clause in the bill purports to permit ritual slaughter, but the restriction on shackling and hoisting would prohibit it. Jewish law, he added, provides that the animal must be brought to position to be slaughtered fully conscious and in perfect health.

Wants Conformity.
He recommended the proposal be amended to conform with a similar federal humane slaughter law which exempts ritual slaughter.

Speakers against the bill in its present form included Rabbi Yakov Jacobs of St. Louis; Maurice Abramson, St. Louis county councilman from University City, and representatives of the Missouri Locker Association.

Proponents included representatives of humane societies and animal protective associations. Another hearing on the controversial proposal was set for March 6.

Establishment of state-financed college scholarships for qualified Missouri high school graduates was proposed in a bill introduced today by Senator A. Boney Vandlandingham (Dem.), Columbia.

Recipients must be residents of the state and be in need of financial assistance to enter a college or university. An applicant would have to qualify by passing a competitive examination. Scholarships would be awarded without regard to race, religion or sex.

Maximum of $600
A total of 382 scholarships would be granted annually to two students from each of the state's 34 state senatorial districts and two from each of the 157 legislative districts. The grants would be for a maximum of $600 a year.

The cost of the program would be expected to rise to a maximum of $1,312,000 by the 1965-67 biennium.

Among measures tentatively approved in the House yesterday was one which would provide for creation of a 15-member commission to study problems of local government. It would be a permanent commission composed of five senators, five representatives and five members appointed by the governor.

Also advanced was a proposed constitutional amendment which would permit persons who have resided in the state for 60 days or more to vote for presidential and vice presidential candidates.

Action On Amendment.
The House tentatively approved ratification of a proposed amendment to the United States Constitution to allow permanent residents of the District of Columbia to vote for presidential and vice presidential candidates.

Bills introduced in the house yesterday included measures which would:

Prevent persons riding as non-paying "guests" in automobiles from recovering damages for personal injury or death in case of an accident, unless they could prove "gross negligence" on the part of the driver, and increase the salary of the state geologist from $9,500 to $13,500 a year.

Representative R. J. King Jr. (Rep.), of Clayton was barred from taking the floor to speak about his allegations that some House committees were violating the state constitution and House rules by failing to announce recorded votes.

However, he got his point across by expounding on the subject in a resolution asking that he be allowed to speak. The lengthy resolution was read by the clerk before it was ruled out of order by Representative James G. Trimble (Dem.), Clay county, majority floor leader.

U.N. Plea

these things do not happen again in our country."

Tshombe Mobilization.

By United Press International.
In Elisabethville, Katanga President Moise Tshombe ordered general mobilization of all Negro and white inhabitants of his province today to "defend lives and property menaced by the United Nations."

Tshombe ordered the mobilization a few hours after the U.N. Security Council at a meeting in New York called for the withdrawal of all foreign military and civil advisers from The Congo.

"The Security Council resolution is a declaration of war by the U.N. against Katanga and the whole former Belgian Congo," Tshombe said in a broadcast.

He also barred all foreigners from leaving the country, apparently in an attempt to nullify a U.N. order for all foreign and military advisers to get out of The Congo. He said the frontiers would be closed if necessary to prevent foreigners from leaving.

Tshombe has declared his province independent of the rest of The Congo and has set it up as a separate state.

Tshombe charged that the U.N. resolution, which gave Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld extraordinary powers including the use of force to prevent civil war in The Congo, is "an offense against the sovereignty of our independent state."

Tshombe ordered the mobilization in a broadcast over Elisabethville radio. The move came as Lt. Gen. Sean McKeown, the Irish commander in chief of U.N. forces in The Congo, headed off on a peace mission in another part of this strife-torn land.

McKeown flew to Equatorial province to try to head off open warfare between the two major factions of the Congolese army. His first meeting was to be with Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu, Army strongman of the central government in Leopoldville.

Mobutu has been assembling his forces in Equatorial for an attack on the Communist-supported Gizenga forces in Stanleyville, capital of adjacent Oriental province.

U.N. sources said McKeown planned to go to Stanleyville next to talk with the army strongman there, Gen. Victor Lundula.

There have been persistent reports that Lundula has seized power from Gizenga, political heir of Lumumba, and has offered to talk peace with the Leopoldville government of President Joseph Kasavubu and Premier Joseph Ileo.

Surplus Food

modities to write Dalton urging that he approve the program. The letter, signed by Alderman Joseph P. Roddy (Dem.), Seventh ward, chairman of the committee, challenged the estimates.

Roddy's letter said the committee "is much disturbed over reports that indicate a different attitude" on Dalton's part than he showed two weeks ago in a conference with the committee in Jefferson City.

"At that time, no question as to the need of these commodities was presented," the letter stated. "On the contrary, the conferees felt convinced that you fully recognized the need."

Efforts to be increased.
Efforts to put the distribution program in effect here will be increased this week. The Board of Aldermen expects to meet Friday, Saturday and Monday to make ordinances to establish the program.

Poelker told a reporter he expected to receive approval later today from the Army Corps of Engineers in Washington for the city to use part of a building at the old small arms ammunition plant on Goodfellow boulevard for a warehouse.

Office space for administration of the program will be established at 2331 Mullany street, where Catholic Charities of St. Louis has offered rent-free quarters.

Once approval is given for the warehouse space, the city will be able to complete an agreement with the State Welfare Division under which surplus food can be ordered. Poelker said the first order now is being prepared.

In Jefferson City, a bill introduced yesterday by Senator Soris J. Webbe (Dem.), St. Louis, would provide an emergency allotment of $160,000 to pay the state's share of distributing surplus foods in Missouri. The money would cover the remaining four months of the current biennium.

Increased unemployment here in recent months has resulted in requests for re-establishment of a food distribution program that was abandoned at the end of 1959.

Arthur K. Atkinson, chairman of the Salvation Army Advisory Board, said today that 380 persons have contributed $10,079 without solicitation to help defray the expenses of the organization's food distribution. The Army had applied to the United Fund for a special relief appropriation. However, the unexpected contributions were enough to cover the expenses, and the request has been withdrawn for the time being, Atkinson said.

The United Fund Executive Budget Committee will meet in two or three weeks to consider the situation further, chairman George K. Hohlitzelle said.

Now! Relieve acid attacks caused by STOMACH TENSION

Tablet discovery checks attacks in seconds... then works like a warm glass of milk to keep acid stomach soothed for hours

N.Y., N.Y. (Special). Medical science knows that today, millions suffer from Stomach Tension... a distress caused by today's hectic pace of living. Stomach Tension pours wave after wave of burning acid onto delicate stomach tissues. But ordinary antacids merely relieve the first wave of acid... then leave the stomach open to further attack. An antacid was needed that could give prolonged soothing relief... the same amazing relief that doctors knew a warm glass of milk gave. The answer came when physicians discovered a Glycine compound—a medication that soothed a burning acid stomach even better than a warm glass of milk. This compound gave faster relief than ordinary antacids, and actually worked to soothe the stomach for hours. This most effective compound is named Amitone.

If you have Stomach Tension and ordinary antacids don't give the relief you want, get Amitone. No prescription needed.

COUNTY TAXING UNITS OWE DEBT OF $144,888,725

Tax-supported bonded indebtedness of local governments and other taxing units in St. Louis county on Jan. 1 of this year totaled $144,888,725, the Governmental Research Institute reported today.

In addition, the institute said in a report, tax bonds amounting to $21,750,000 have been authorized by voters but are not yet sold.

Combined bonded debt outstanding and authorized, totaling $166,638,725, represents 10.9 per cent of the county's assessed valuation, the institute reported.

The figures were based on information covering all local governments in the county except four of the smaller municipalities and three fire districts, the institute said.

Various Taxing Units.

Governments with tax supported bonds outstanding or authorized on Jan. 1, 1961, included St. Louis county, 26 school districts, 20 cities, towns and villages, nine fire districts, 10 sewer districts and one water district.

Seventy-four cities, towns and villages, 10 fire districts and the library district had no bonds outstanding or authorized, the report said.

Largest amount of tax bonds is that of the county government, which has $29,785,000 outstanding and $11,922,000 authorized but not yet sold, the institute reported.

It added that the combined total, $41,707,000, represented only 2.72 per cent of the county's assessed valuation of $1,534,985,549.

R-2 District's Debt.

Ferguson-Florissant R-2 School District has the second largest amount of bonds, with $7,237,000 outstanding and an additional $2,000,000 authorized, the institute said. It added that the combined total represented 9.43 per cent of the district's assessed valuation, as compared with the 10 per cent maximum authorized by the State Constitution.

Maryland Heights, Mehlville R-9 and Riverview Gardens school districts have bonds outstanding and authorized in amounts representing more than 9 per cent of their assessed valuations, the report said.

Kirkwood had at the beginning of the year $2,321,000 outstanding, which represented 3.58 per cent of the city's assessed valuation, the institute said. This was the largest amount among cities, towns and villages.

Division as to Use.

Of the total bonded debt outstanding and authorized, 62.4 per cent was accounted for by school districts, 25 per cent by the county government, 7.4 per cent by cities, towns and villages, 4.6 per cent by sewer districts, and the remaining .6 per cent by fire and water districts, the report said.

DAM BREAK FATAL TO 400 IS LAID TO FAULTY BASE

© New York Times News Service
PARIS, Feb. 21—A faulty rock base was held yesterday to be responsible for the break in the Malpas dam which sent a wall of water into the Mediterranean tow of Frejus the night of Dec. 2, 1959, causing the death of 400 persons.

A group of six experts in a report just concluded for judicial authorities in Draguignan said that the dam should never have been built where it was. Geological studies preceding actual construction were inadequate, the experts asserted. The studies showed the soil would crumble easily, causing the dam to give at its base when it was filled by heavy rains.

The report will serve as a basis for possible criminal prosecution although it did not itself make accusations against any persons.

NEW ARMY WASTE CHARGE BY SENATOR

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (UPI).—Senator John J. Williams, (Rep., Delaware) told the Senate yesterday the Comptroller General has filed a "shocking indictment of mismanagement" of the inventory of the United States Army depot complex in Japan.

Williams said investigation disclosed that because of failure to catalog inventories the depot had been refusing to fill orders for many items on which it actually had an oversupply. In one five-month period, Williams said, the warehouse refusal rate averaged 22 per cent. Later some 3000 items listed as unavailable were found to be on hand.

"At the Yokohama commissary," he said, "they had enough insecticide in their inventories to fill their requirements for over 60 years... enough furniture wax to last almost 10 years... (and) enough 'seasoning' in inventory to last them approximately seven years."

The senator said one disposal yard sold 25 new generators for $3400 and one reconditioned truck for $405 when requisition orders were on hand for similar equipment valued at $34,200 and $12,000, respectively.

Tires valued at $88,000 were about to be sold as surplus although records showed that the tires were needed in Japan and Korea, he said.

"In private industry such loose management would not be condoned and those responsible would be fired... These government agencies should be conducted on the same business-like basis," Williams said.

In No Hurry.
STEARNS, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. Caldwell Phillips finally visited the business section of Stearns the other day—for the first time since she moved here 37 years ago.

Astronauts

will be eligible for later flights," Gilruth said.

Gordon Cooper, Walker Shirra, Donald Slayton and Scott Carpenter.

Gilruth said possibly as early as April, one of the "select three" will be tucked into a bell-shaped Mercury capsule mounted atop a Redstone rocket for a flight 115 miles into space and about 290 miles over the Atlantic Ocean from Cape Canaveral. This is the same flight plan tested Jan. 31 by the chimpanzee Ham.

Glenn, Grissom and Shepard will undergo final mental and physical examinations and dry run rehearsals on the ground between now and the day that one of them will be named for the mission.

Gilruth said "it is not possible to forecast exactly when the first manned mission will take place." However, indications are that one more unmanned test of the capsule will be attempted next month with a Redstone, paving the way for a manned shot on the next rocket.

Veteran of Two Wars.

Lt. Col. Glenn flew combat missions in World War II Pacific campaigns and in the Korean war.

In 1957, Glenn set a transcontinental speed record of three hours, 23 minutes in a Navy F-8U jet between Los Angeles and New York.

His father, John H. Glenn, remarked when the son was first picked as an astronaut: "We're all thrilled death."

Capt. Grissom flew 100 combat missions in Korea before becoming a test pilot in 1956.

Dennis Grissom, his father, said when he was first picked for training: "We're not worried too much—mostly proud. He's always wanted something like this. He made model planes all the time when he was a boy..."

Comdr. Shepard, a graduate of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, has been a test pilot and has flown 3600 hours—1700 of them in jets.

Shepard barely passed the astronaut measurement specifications. He stands 5 feet 11 inches, the maximum allowed.

Withholding

(Rep.), Clayton, would have eliminated the so-called $26,000-600 windfall on which Gov. Dalton is counting to balance his record-breaking biennial budget of $1,255,000,000. Specifically, the amendment would have waived 50 per cent of the tax due by an individual on or before April 1, 1962.

King insisted that, as the bill is drawn, individual taxpayers would have to pay 50 per cent more tax than they would be paying under the present system. He said the withholding would start July 1, but that the individual would have to make a return on April 15, 1962, and pay full taxes on all his 1961 income, without any credit for that portion withheld since July 1, 1961.

King reported that corporations would not be subjected to this "penalty."

"We would be soaking individuals an extra 50 per cent but not the corporations," he said. "I don't care how badly the budget needs balancing nor how bad our financial situation is. I just don't see how we can justify placing this 'lug' on one segment of our taxpayers. With this amendment we can say this is a withholding bill—without it, it is an added tax on one group of our taxpayers."

On another roll call vote, the amendment was beaten, 91 to 53.

A spokesman for the Administration said King was mistaken in his interpretation of the bill. The spokesman told a reporter the tax would be withheld during the last six months of this year but the amount withheld would be subtracted from the total 1961 tax due when returns are made in April, 1962. The windfall results from the fact that taxes for 1960, 1961 and 1962 would be collected in a two-year period this year and next.

The bill was defended by Trimble as an attempt to collect all taxes due before levying any new ones. He said it was estimated the withholding system would bring in $6,000,000 more revenue a year in addition to the temporary windfall. He said the bill contained adequate provisions to compensate employers for any extra burden caused by withholding.

Gov. Dalton had told a caucus of House Democrats last week that he wanted the bill pushed through this week. It is now ready to be called up for final passage on the House floor.

Divorces Cousin of Czar.

LONDON, Feb. 21 (AP)—Princess Emilia Romanoff was awarded a divorce today from Prince Vsevolod Romanoff, a first cousin of the last Russian Czar. They were married in London in 1956.

EX-CONVICT PLEADS GUILTY TO NARCOTICS LAW CHARGES

John W. Johnson, former convict, 3000 block of Bell avenue, pleaded guilty yesterday of two violations of narcotics laws, United States District Judge George H. Moore deferred sentence until March 17 and asked for a probation report.

Johnson pleaded guilty of receiving and concealing six ounces of heroin last Aug. 21. He pleaded guilty of selling a small amount of heroin for $38 on Jan. 20, 1960. Maximum penalty on the first charge could be 10 years plus $20,000 fine. Maximum penalty on the second charge could be 20 years plus a fine of $20,000.

Agents said Johnson had been operating here more than a year. He obtained his supplies in Chicago and sold principally to dealers here, it was said. He has a record of several convictions on white slavery charges, federal authorities said.

'VETERINARIAN OF THE YEAR' AWARD GIVEN TO DEAN GROTH

Dean A. H. Groth of the University of Missouri School of Veterinary Medicine was presented with the Missouri Veterinary Medical Association's "Veterinarian of the Year" award last night.

He has been dean of the veterinary school since its establishment in 1949. He studied at Iowa State University and Colorado State College and was formerly director of the Regional Animal Disease Laboratory of the Bureau of Animal Industry at Auburn, Ala.

The award was presented by E. G. Bailey Jr., association president, at its annual banquet here last night.

KENNEDY TRIP TO CANADA PROBABLE IN MAY OR JUNE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—President Kennedy will visit

Canada, probably in late May or early June. The trip is likely to be his first venture outside of the United States since his inauguration.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said it might be any time between now and mid-June" but added that late May or early June is the likely date primarily to address a joint session of the Parliament which is expected to adjourn in early summer.

SPANISH CONSULATE BOMBED FORMOSA DENIES SENDING U.S. ARMS INTO BURMA

GENEVA, Feb. 21 (AP) — Three Molotov cocktails exploded in the entrance hall of the Spanish consulate general in Geneva today. The gasoline-filled bottles were thrown through the front windows. Firemen put out the flames before they could spread.

TAIPEI, Formosa, Feb. 21 (AP)—The Chinese Nationalist Government denied yesterday that it had sent United States-supplied arms to anti-Communist Chinese guerrillas in Burma's frontier area opposite Red China. An official statement commented on reports from Burma that Burmese shot down an American-built plane and had captured the Chinese crew and modern United States arms. Washington expressed concern and asked the United States ambassador in Burma to investigate. A statement issued by the Ministry of Information said United States arms supplied by treaty to Nationalist China have been used only for the defense of Formosa and the offshore islands and "any allegation to the contrary is completely false."

Tough Sandlot Baseball Issue Gets Congressional Decision

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (UPI)—Representative Robert W. Kastenmeier (Dem., Wisconsin.) came to grips with this knotty problem: Was John Crowley safe or out in the sandlot baseball game at Plain, Wis.? John, apparently a member of the younger set, put it up to Kastenmeier. "We were playing workup and Brenda was on first," he wrote. "I was up and hit a grounder to third. The third baseman threw it to the first (sic) but he fumbled it, I then took off for second. "About halfway I saw Brenda was on second yet. I told her to start for third. She did. She was to (sic) late and was out. "They then said that I forced her to third and that she was safe (sic) and I was out. "Who's right? "They won't believe anybody and anything except you. I would kindly like and (sic) answer to this letter as soon as possible." Kastenmeier is a member of the House Judiciary Committee, but he said he consulted baseball experts before making his decision. "You were safe," he wrote John. "Brenda ran for third at her own risk, and when she was tagged before she safely reached the base, she was out." Kastenmeier's aide, who helped with research on the question, now are awaiting word from Brenda.

URGES WOMEN VOTERS BACK C.A.P.S. SCHOOL CANDIDATES

Election of the five candidates for the Board of Education sponsored by the Citizens' Association for the Public Schools is essential to ending overcrowding in the public schools, members of the St. Louis League of Women Voters were told today. Mrs. Gilbert Harris, a board member and a C.A.P.S. candidate, asserted at a luncheon meeting in Bishop Tuttle Memorial, 1210 Locust street, that evidence has indicated "some board members put other interests above those of the children." "This creates an unfavorable impression and makes it difficult to obtain voter approval for necessary improvements," Mrs. Harris said. "If the C.A.P.S. slate is elected, public confidence in the board will be quickly restored." The other C.A.P.S. candidates who addressed the meeting were Frederick E. Busse, James E. Hurt Jr., James S. McClellan and Elmer W. Pounds.

ST. LOUIS SOLDIER KILLED IN KANSAS AUTO ACCIDENT

Kenneth J. Morenz, 19-year-old son of Mrs. Roland H. Lortie, 5327A Jamieson avenue, was killed last night in an automobile accident near Gardner, Kan. Morenz and two companions were riding in a car that overturned two miles south of Gardner, which is south of Olathe, Kan. The youth was an Army private stationed at a Nike missile base in southwestern Johnson county. He was a 1939 graduate of St. Mary's High School here.

Lumumba Demonstration.

SINGAPORE, Feb. 21 (AP)—More than 500 students and workers tonight demonstrated outside the closed Belgian and United States consulates after attending a trade union congress convention to condemn the murder of Patrice Lumumba. They jeered, booed and sang.

U.S. PICTURES BIAS IN ALABAMA VOTING

OPELIKA, Ala., Feb. 21 (AP)—United States attorneys sought new evidence today to show that college-trained Negroes were turned down as voters in Macon county while white voters with little or no education were registered.

Testimony that such a pattern exists went into the record of the United States District Court trial yesterday. The Justice Department is trying to show that Negroes in Macon county are systematically excluded from voting because of their race. The suit seeks a court order to prohibit state and county authorities from future racial discrimination.

Although Negroes outnumber white residents nearly six to one, there are twice as many white voters as Negroes on the poll lists in the county.

From the 20 witnesses on opening day of the trial, Justice Department attorneys produced testimony that:

Nine Negroes, all with at least a high school education and five with college degrees, tried without success to register to vote. Two of them finally were accepted after several previous futile attempts.

Another Negro tried four times to apply for registrations but always ran into long waiting periods and was never able to make a formal application.

Although the Negroes without exception said they were forced to make their applications at the board of registrars office in the courthouse at Tuskegee, white voters were interviewed by registrars at home or at neighboring stores.

One white voter, a 62-year-old housewife, had "never been to school in my life and I can't read or write." Two others failed to finish grade school.

Four white voters who had satisfactorily answered a standard voting questionnaire were unable to give the meaning of some of the same questions read to them in court.

Registrars helped some white applicants complete the questionnaire, and in some instances explained to them what the questions meant, but the Negroes were given no help in writing their answers.

Each of the Negro witnesses was required to write in long-hand lengthy passages from the United States Constitution, but none of the white voters could remember being asked to perform a similar test.

TENTATIVE APPROVAL GIVEN TEACHER PENSION REVISION

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 21 — The Senate tentatively approved today a bill to liberalize the St. Louis teachers pension system. The sponsor, Senator Robert Pentland (Dem.), St. Louis, said the measure would authorize increased contributions from teachers to their retirement plan.

The new St. Louis retirement plan would be placed on a par with those in St. Louis county under the bill, Pentland said. He contended this was necessary to keep St. Louis public school teachers from accepting jobs from county schools.

The Senate also approved tentatively a bill to make Missouri's highway speed law permanent. The law now is scheduled to expire Sept. 1.

Establishment of a joint Senate-House committee to study Missouri's lag in population and industrial growth was proposed in a resolution introduced today by Senator Jasper R. Brancato (Dem.), Kansas City.

DALTON REAPPOINTS RUSSELL FERGUSON

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 21—Gov. John M. Dalton yesterday reappointed Russell Ferguson of Columbia as state purchasing agent for a term ending at the pleasure of the Governor. Ferguson, formerly purchasing agent for the City of Springfield, Mo., was appointed state purchasing agent in December 1959 to succeed Elwood Long of Fayette, who resigned after an investigation by the Post-Dispatch of his conduct of the office.

Dalton announced also appointments to the Board of Curators of Lincoln University. Carl G. Stifel, 625 South Skinner boulevard, St. Louis, was reappointed to a term ending Jan. 1, 1966.
Mrs. Lillian Mosee, 1250 Laciende Station road, Richmond Heights, was appointed to a six-year term to succeed Dr. August T. Piper of St. Louis, whose term has expired.

William Henry Young of Kansas City was appointed to a term expiring Jan. 1, 1964, to fill a vacancy caused by the death of Carl R. Johnson of Kansas City. Dr. Carl M. Peterson of Kansas City was reappointed for a six-year term.
The Governor announced also the reappointment of two members of the Board of Regents of Southeast Missouri State College at Cape Girardeau for terms ending Jan. 1, 1967. They are Fred A. Groves, a Democrat, Cape Girardeau, and Herschel Bess, Republican, of Poplar Bluff.

Edward R. Jayne, Democrat, of Kirksville was appointed by Dalton as a member of the Board of Regents of Northeast Missouri State College at Kirksville to succeed W. A. Cable of Hannibal, who died. Jayne will serve until Jan. 1, 1967.
Dalton reappointed Paul A. Johnson, Democrat, of Mountain Grove as a member of the State Board of Poultry for a term ending Aug. 16, 1962.

CHINESE EX-EMVOY SPEAKS AT WEBSTER COLLEGE

Paul K. T. Sih, author and retired diplomat of the Nationalist Chinese government, discussed "Prospects for Communist China" yesterday at Webster College.
Speaking at an assembly on the campus at 470 East Lockwood avenue, Webster Groves, Sih said that "the peoples in Asia must make a choice between Christian humanism and the United States as leader, and Communist materialism with Soviet Russia as leader."

Sih has established the Institute of Far Eastern Studies at Seton Hall University, South Orange, N.J. He is the author of the texts, "From Confucius to Christ" and "Decision for China."

NEGRO APPOINTED ENVOY TO NORWAY

© New York Times News Service
WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—President Kennedy announced the selection yesterday of a Negro career foreign service officer, Clifton R. Wharton, to be Ambassador to Norway.

Wharton, 61 years old, has served in diplomatic posts for 32 years. In 1953 he was assigned as consul general to Marseille, and in 1958 as minister to Rumania, his present post. As ambassador to Norway he will succeed Miss Frances E. Willis. The President announced also his first judicial appointment: William A. McRae Jr., a law partner of Senator Spessard L. Holland, (Dem.), Fla., was selected to be United States district judge for Southern Florida. McRae, a resident of Lake Wales, Fla., will succeed retired Judge William J. Barker.

The Administration had submitted McRae's name to the American Bar Association's Committee on the Federal Judiciary, which found him highly qualified. Four United States attorneys and two assistant secretaries of the Army were among those named yesterday.

William F. Schaub, a veteran official of the Budget Bureau, was picked to be Assistant Secretary of the Army for financial management. Since 1941, he has served in the Budget Bureau and is now chief of its military division. Richard S. Morse of Abington, Mass., was selected as assistant Army secretary for research and development, a new post. He is now director of Army research and development.

The four new federal attorneys were:

Joseph D. Tydings of Baltimore, son of the late Democratic Senator from Maryland; Millard F. Tydings; Lawrence Gudow for the Eastern District of Michigan; James P. O'Brien for the Northern District of Illinois; Newell P. George for Kansas.

ESTIMATES CIVIL WAR BOOKS AVERAGE NEARLY ONE A DAY

Intense interest in the Civil War has persisted among the people of the United States because that conflict was "exclusively American," Charles L. Dufour, New Orleans newspaper columnist and author, said here last night.

He spoke at the commemorative banquet of the Civil War Round Table of St. Louis in the Louis IX Room of Union Station.

Dufour said that 36,000 books have been written about the Civil War, an average of nearly one a day, since the end of that war. In his recent book, "The Night the War Was Lost," he contends that the war was won by the North when it gained control of the Mississippi river from St. Louis to New Orleans.

DISMISSAL OF SUIT AGAINST HUMANE SOCIETY IS UPHELD

Dismissal of a suit by 21 veterinarians for an injunction to restrain the Humane Society of Missouri from practicing what the plaintiffs called veterinary medicine "in unfair competition" with them was upheld today by the St. Louis Court of Appeals.

Circuit Judge Theodore A. McMillan had dismissed the suit on the ground that the question whether the Humane Society was acting beyond the powers conferred by its charter in charging fees for treating animals could be raised only by certain parties named in a state statute. These were the Missouri attorney general, State Veterinary Board and the circuit attorney and prosecuting attorney. The Court of Appeals agreed with Judge McMillan.

WOMAN'S REPORT KILLS PLAN FOR OFFICERS' CLUB

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—The White House reported today the saving of $200,000 as a result of President Kennedy's appeal to citizens to report to him any wasteful or unnecessary expenditures.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said "an American lady in Europe" sent Mr. Kennedy a telegram reporting plans for a $200,000 plush addition to an officers' club.

Salinger said Mr. Kennedy got in touch with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and the project was killed in two hours. Salinger refused to say where the club is, but emphasized that all of the money for the project would have been in American dollars.

The Kennedy Administration, like the Eisenhower Administration, is striving to cut expenditures abroad to close the deficit in this country's balance of payments and the consequent outflow of gold.

Mr. Kennedy told his press conference last week that he was interested in hearing from citizens with knowledge of any waste or needless expenditure of federal funds.

8 PARAGUAYANS REPORTED CHASED INTO BRAZIL, KILLED

BRASILIA, Feb. 21 (UPI)—Reports from the jungle province of Mato Grosso said Paraguayan troops invaded Brazil recently to shoot eight refugees foes of President Alfredo Stroessner after they had crossed the border.

President Janio Quadros ordered an investigation of the alleged incident near the village of Amambai.

G.O.P. CALLS ADMINISTRATION 'GOVERNMENT-BY-ROOMMATE'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—The Republican National Committee came up today with a new tag for the Kennedy Administration — "government-by-college-roommate."

G.O.P. National Chairman

Thurston B. Morton, said in a "fact memo" to party leaders: "Under Truman we suffered and eventually defeated government-by-cronyism. We can do the same with government-by-college-roommate."

4 IN CAR WRECKAGE FOR 2 1/2 DAYS, 3 DIE

GALLATIN, Mo., Feb. 21 (AP)—Four missing Gallatin men were found in a smashed car yesterday, two of them dead and another dying.

They disappeared Friday night.

The only survivor, Paul Holcomb, 38 years old, was trapped in the car almost 2 1/2 days with a broken leg.

Lewis Lee Smith, 41, still was alive when help finally came but died as he was being put in an ambulance.

The other two victims were Martin Kenneth Boulton, 41, and Lucky Norris Holcomb, 40. They apparently were killed outright when the car crashed Friday night.

Archie Blackburn of Gallatin found the wreckage Monday when he saw tracks leading off Missouri 6 and followed them 100 yards into a field, where the car crashed against a tree about 1 1/4 miles west of this northwest Missouri community.

Paul Holcomb was taken to a hospital at Cameron, Mo., where he was reported to be in fair condition.

"If Blackburn hadn't noticed those tracks it could have been weeks before the men were found," Sheriff S. L. Houghton said. "The car was hidden in a ravine about 14 feet deep."

"The car doors were jammed and we had to pry them open."

"Paul Holcomb was conscious enough to know me but he couldn't talk. Smith was unconscious. Boulton and Lucky Holcomb were in the front seat and undoubtedly were killed instantly."

Because Friday was a warm day, the men were wearing only light jackets. Then Saturday turned cold and the temperature dropped to 12 degrees above zero Saturday night. Sunday was warmer, but the temperature dropped to 22 Sunday night.

JAPAN TO OFFER FOOD TO COMMUNIST CHINA

TOKYO, Feb. 21 (AP)—Japan decided today to offer rice and other food to Red China, where a serious food shortage has resulted from a series of natural disasters.

Foreign Minister Zentaro Kosaka told a press conference the Cabinet formally approved a decision to offer the food through the International Red Cross.

Japan will abide by negotiations between the Red Cross and Peiping as to when and how much food is to be sent, Kosaka indicated, assuming Red China accepts the offer. Kosaka said the government will seek Red Cross co-operation immediately. The Japanese decision followed overtures by other nations to alleviate suffering from drought, typhoons and other natural disasters described by Red China as the worst in recent history. The Chinese Nationalist government on Formosa said it is willing to supply 100,000 tons of rice to the mainland.

Unofficial sources said Japan's offer might also amount to around 100,000 tons of rice.

By United Press International. Red China meanwhile appeared to be preparing its almost 700,000,000 people for still more drought and famine.

For the second day in a row, Radio Peiping broadcasts monitored in Hong Kong said farmers face more dry weather.

A Communist New China News Agency dispatch said "some districts" of Honan, Shantung and Hopei provinces along the Yellow river basin are in the midst of a "serious" dry period and other districts "had it even more serious."

U.S. TO ASK NATO ALLIES TO SHARE MORE AID COSTS

© New York Times News Service

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—The United States will ask its North Atlantic allies to draw up a plan for sharing more equitably the burdens of the common defense and aid to underdeveloped nations.

This was disclosed formally last night when the State Department made public a memorandum handed to the West German delegation following bilateral talks last Friday at which Germans agreed to help relieve the balance-of-payments situation.

The United States said that the heavy deficit in the last three years in its balance of international payments "arises wholly from its commitments and actions in the common defense of the free world."

Without these "freely assumed obligations," the note continued, the United States would "now be running a heavy surplus in its balance of payments." Consequently, the note said, this issue was not simply a bilateral question but one for all the Western Allies.

This is especially true, the Kennedy Administration emphasized, because the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is soon to start rebuilding its strength for new tasks, and some of the members are in a position to contribute more to the joint endeavor than they have in the past.

The note said that the United States was prepared to enter into urgent discussions with the allies on the question of equitable shares in aid to underdeveloped nations and for the common defense. The first question should be dealt with in the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development, the second within NATO, the note suggested.

In the last three years the United States has had a deficit of more than 10 billion dollars in its international payments, with a consequent decline in gold reserves of about five billion dollars. West Germany has been running heavy surpluses, and its foreign reserves now stand at over seven billion dollars.

WORK BEGUN ON $1,000,000 BALLROOM AT PEORIA HOTEL

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—The Pere Marquette Hotel is building an addition to house what the hotel officials claim will be the largest hotel ballroom in Illinois, outside of Chicago.

The $1,000,000 hall is expected to be completed March 15, 1962. It is being constructed over a parking lot alongside the hotel and will accommodate more than 1000 persons, depending on the type of event.

Hotel officials said Peoria's importance as a convention city prompted the project.

U.N. ATTACHE QUILTS, CHARGES BRUTALITIES BY TRUJILLO

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP)—

An attache of the Dominican Republic's mission to the United Nations has resigned, protesting against brutalities in his country and requesting political asylum in the United States.

Isidoro Santana, 42 years old, said yesterday he had sent a letter of resignation to Dominican dictator Rafael Trujillo.

The letter said: "I have established by confidential information from the mother country that human rights are continuing to be violated in a constant and mer-less form. . . . I have also learned that the jails continue full of political prisoners who are submitted to horrifying tortures. . . . I cannot co-operate—and I refuse to do so—with a regime that disregards the fundamental principles for which humanity is fighting."

PRESIDENTIAL SEA COMMAND POST PLANNED BY NAVY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—

The Navy disclosed yesterday it is working on a seagoing high command post from which the President and the Joint Chiefs of Staff could direct operations in an all-out nuclear war.

Vice Admiral John T. Hayward, deputy chief of naval operations, said development of such a ship is a major effort to insure the survival of leadership in such a situation.

Hayward tied the concept of survival through mobility to the plea for more space funds as he and other Navy officials appeared before the House Science and Astronautics Committee.

The Navy shied away from the Army call for a new joint military space organization that would clip the wings of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy James H. Wakelin Jr., agreed with Hayward and Rear Admiral Thomas F. Connolly, assistant chief of the Weapons

Bureau, that the civilian space agency is serving a useful purpose. Hayward argued that "mobility is just as important in space sciences as in the ballistic missile business."

Situation of Chile's Farmers Nearly Hopeless; Communists, Socialists Their Only Champions

Farm Colonization Plan Ignores Poor, Rural Masses — Taxation Is Tailored to Favor the Large Landholders.

This is another of a series of articles by a Post-Dispatch team investigating Communist infiltration in South America.

By TOM YARBROUGH

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch

SANTIAGO, Chile, Feb. 21.

IMPOVERISHED, UNDERPRIVILEGED and well-nigh hopeless farmers of Chile are worse off than the depressed masses who work the land in other South American countries. In Chile, at the moment, even with a national congressional election coming up soon, no political leader of national standing is taking the part of this segment of the population.

In Venezuela, Colombia, Ecuador and Peru, there was much beating of drums for agrarian reform, although little actually was being done in terms of hard fact and accomplishment of time-worn objectives. In those other countries, at least, loud promises were being made. In Santiago, there is a great silence on the subject of land reform and agreement on all sides that the large landholders—the plantation operators—have a tight interlocking network of influence and control.

THIS EXTENDS through the Chilean Congress and through the financial, industrial and commercial communities. In short, with those who run the country, the have-nots have no champion. They do have champions among the Communists and Socialists, however, and the showing of those candidates in the March 5 election will be watched with great interest.

Chile has a national organization for farm colonization, set up by decree a year ago for the purpose of creating a large middle class from among the poor and largely illiterate rural masses.

This farm colonization establishment is officially an arm of the government. It has brought forth its plans for the first 2000 families to be helped and they are not among the 250,000 families most in need of help.

In a population of more than 7,000,000, the colonizing authorities propose to choose 2000 farmers and settle them on land to be bought by the establishment. This is to be done at the unlikely cost of about $25,000 per farmer.

This would cover the cost of land and farming equipment for one man and his family. In other words, it would set him up in the farming business.

As a further mark of the wholly unrealistic nature of the proposal these 2000 families would be assisted not all at once, but group by group over a five-year period.

THE WHOLE SCHEME depends on a $25,000,000 loan from the United States Export-Import Bank in Washington, for which application has been made. With this, the Chilean government proposes to put $30,000,000 from its own resources.

Agriculture in this country has been dominated for centuries by the big operators of large holdings and they have long practiced paternalism to such a degree that the farm workers are demoralized. They have not known of a better life and have not cared about raising their level of existence.

Operators of large agricultural properties are on the defensive these days, for the know that almost any discussion of their situation is likely to turn to the question of what can and should be done to improve the plight of their workers.

They have determined to their own satisfaction that the United States Government is not on their side, but against them in any standoff with the peasants, the sharecroppers and migratory laborers. It is said here if 15 or 20 of the biggest operators could be persuaded to change their attitudes the ice would be broken and all the others would come around. But those 15 or 20 are not about to be persuaded.

Land holdings tend to be very large or very small—2500 acres or more, or 25 acres or less. More than three-fourths of the usable land is in the larger category.

Taxation is tailored in favor of the large holders. This land is assessed at about 10 per cent of its market value and taxed at the rate of $5 for each $1000 of assessed value. Revenues from these properties account for only 4 per cent of the national income.

BRITAIN CHARGES RUSSIANS USE FORGED DOCUMENT

LONDON, Feb. 21 (AP)—Britain has complained to the Soviet government that Russian newspapers and radio broadcasts are using a forged document to misrepresent British policy in Africa, the Foreign Office said last night.

The document, the Foreign Office explained, purports to be a British cabinet paper calling for action to gain control over trade unions in new African nations and to exclude United States trade union influence. Errors in grammar and spelling show it was not prepared by a Briton, the Foreign Office said.

Effort Being Made to Build Story Of 'How Cuba Was Lost,' Hide Facts

Narrative Based Largely on Testimony of Political Envoys.

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

© 1961 St. Louis Post-Dispatch

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.

A DETERMINED EFFORT is being made to build a narrative of how Cuba was "lost" which will obscure the realities of the Cuban revolution in much the same way that they have been obscured in China.

The narrative is based largely on the testimony before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee of several political ambassadors to Cuba and to other Latin-American countries. The target of their testimony, just as in the aftermath of the revolution in China, are State Department officials charged with encouraging the takeover of Fidel Castro.

The purport of their testimony is not, as President Kennedy suggested, that these officials may have made "miscalculations." The political ambassadors charge with varying degrees of frankness that the State Department officials were motivated by sympathy for Castro and perhaps for Communism.

In the view of many impartial specialists on Latin America, including stout anti-Castro exiles, this conceals the long chain of tragic events that led to the overthrow of the corrupt Batista dictatorship and to Castro's takeover. Above all, in this view, it is a disservice since the same situation exists today in other Latin-American countries and unless immediate steps are taken to begin to alleviate hunger, poverty and a widespread sense of injustice, Castro-like revolutions are threatened in Colombia, Bolivia, Peru and Venezuela.

THE LATEST TESTIMONY comes from William D. Pawley who was ambassador first to Peru and then to Brazil from 1945 to 1948. He carried out other Latin-American assignments up until 1954 while developing his business interests in Miami. Pawley accused another former political appointee, Spruille Braden, who was ambassador to Colombia, Cuba and Argentina

WILLIAM A. WIELAND

SPRUILLE BRADEN

and then assistant Secretary of State for Latin America, of joining in a program that seemed to be helpful to Communism in Latin America. This Braden indignantly denies, offering to come and testify under oath.

Pawley told how six weeks before Batista fell he discussed with State Department and Central Intelligence Agency officials a plan to persuade Batista to step out in favor of a coalition government that would prevent Castro from taking power. This was checkedmate, he indicated, by William A. Wieland, then in charge of Cuba in the State Department, and his superior, Assistant Secretary Roy Rubottom who was later made ambassador to Argentina.

"He is either one of the most stupid men living or he is doing it intentionally," Pawley testified in answer to a question about his charge that he had found Wieland working "somewhat contrary" to American interests in Brazil.

PAWLEY is a long-time friend of the deposed Batista. He also, according to his own testimony, has maintained close relations with the Dominican Republic dictatorship of Rafael Trujillo. He described it as "a beautiful little country that has accomplished more for its people in a shorter time than any other country in Latin America."

Another political appointee testifying before the Internal Security subcommittee was Earl E. T.

Kennedy Looks For Dividend on Support of U.N.

He Is Convinced It Will Be Rallying Point for Small Nations.

By DREW PEARSON

(Copyright, 1961.)

WASHINGTON.

LAST FALL after Prime Minister Khrushchev attacked Dag Hammarskjöld at the United Nations, the British proposed to President Eisenhower that the West set up a separate organization of free nations. They argued that the U.N. was being more and more dominated by Africa and Asia, would degenerate into a propaganda sounding board for Soviet spokesmen.

President Kennedy, when he entered office, turned down the British proposal. He decided to go all out in supporting the United Nations.

HE FIGURED that the U.N. had become the symbol of small nations, that foreign ministers and visiting prime ministers appreciated the fact that here was one place where they could meet the great leaders of the world on equal terms. He decided that the more the United States supported the U.N. the better would become our position in the eyes of the world.

He dropped some hints along this line in his press conference last week, but in private talks he has spelled it out in greater detail.

Since the Lumumba crisis in The Congo, Adlai Stevenson, U.S. Ambassador to U.N., has reported back to Mr. Kennedy that he is confident the smaller African-Asian nations will rally around the U.N. and even around Dag Hammarskjöld, despite Russia's attacks. However, neutralist Premier Nehru of India is now willing to send Indian combat troops to The Congo. Hitherto he was not.

This adds up to a probable diplomatic victory over the long haul.

TO UNDERSTAND the significance of the new Kennedy policy requires going back to what happened in Africa under Eisen-

McNamara Mapping Defense Speed-Up; Plan to Cost 2 Billion

Program Would Hasten Missile Production and Boost Readiness for Brushfire Wars.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (UPI).

SECRETARY OF DEFENSE Robert S. McNamara is preparing a defense speed-up plan expected to increase spending about two billion dollars and strengthen the nation's power for global and brushfire wars.

Now being put in final shape for President Kennedy, the plan calls for speeding missile production and readiness, increasing the number of jet bombers kept on 15-minute alert and expanding conventional forces for police-type actions.

The size of the armed forces probably will be increased above the present strength of 2,493,000 men.

Final reports from four Pentagon task groups which made a rush reappraisal of the nation's defenses were handed to McNamara yesterday for a final going-over and submission to Mr. Kennedy next week.

THE PROPOSALS, which McNamara or Mr. Kennedy may revise slightly, would add $2,092,000,000 to the $41,840,000,000 military appropriations request that the Eisenhower Administration sent to Congress for fiscal 1962, which starts next July 1.

The proposals are to meet defense deficiencies which Mr. Kennedy criticized in last fall's election campaign. They are designed to provide a retaliatory force so well protected that it could survive surprise attack and deal a return death blow.

Forces for Korea-type wars and what the new Pentagon team calls sub-limited wars, such as the Lebanon crisis, would be expanded.

The plan calls for reducing vulnerability of bomber forces by keeping 50 per cent of the Strategic Air Command—approximately 1600 bombers—on the ground and ready to take off on 15-minute warning. One-third are on ground alert at present. Practice for an airborne alert, to be used in time of emergency, would be stepped up.

CONSTRUCTION OF BASES for Atlas and Titan intercontinental missiles would be speeded.

Plans call for a new production line for Minuteman intercontinental missiles so that output could be increased from the presently planned 30 a month to 60 if desired.

Polaris missile submarine construction already has been ordered increased.

The Eisenhower budget contained no new money for the Skybolt missile, designed to be carried by B-52 bombers, but the new plan adds funds for it.

THEY ALSO recommended against the Navy's missileer airplane, designed to carry the Eagle fleet defense missile.

There were reports that they further raised doubts about the Air Force's 2000-mile-an-hour B-70 bomber, but that service was expected to fight hard for production of the plane.

Under plans for giving the nation a dual capability—for either nuclear or non-nuclear combat—the Army, Navy and, possibly, Marines were expected to get increased manpower. Production of conventional weapons for the Army and Marines would be increased and combat units would be given greater flexibility for varied actions under the plan.

5 In Ceylon Parliament Hurt.

JAFFNA, Ceylon, Feb. 21 (AP)—Five Parliament members were injured in a police charge on a stone-throwing crowd of 3000 here yesterday. The crowd had been showing its sympathy for pickets obstructing entry to government offices in protest against the adoption of Sinhala as this former British colony's official language.

If All Goes for Roads

The facts about Missouri's 3-cent gasoline tax should be explained to the public. All the publicity about the inadequacy of Missouri's highways has obscured the fact of the tremendous progress our State Highway Department has made in the improvement of Missouri road network over the past 10 years. Yes, Missouri has the lowest gasoline tax in the country, but every bit of it goes to the State Highway Department for the maintenance and extension of our system and for the replacement of outmoded highways.

Missouri is one of the few states that insists on its gasoline tax revenues being used entirely for highway purposes. In most other states, gasoline tax money goes into the state's general revenue funds and is used in the same way that income tax is used. It is proper that highway users should pay for highway maintenance and improvement through tax on gasoline purchases, but a gasoline tax is fair to the motorist only when all of it is used on the highways.

We have a remarkably good highway system now and we are further ahead in the construction of our portion of the Federal Interstate Highway system than most other states.

This is not to say that more money won't be needed to keep us ahead in highway development. A tax increase may be needed, but it should be allowed only if the people, through a referendum vote, say that they are willing to foot the bill.

David S. Milton

If Parks Get in the Way

St. Louisans have been told where they stand if they enjoy parks, flowers, grass and recreation. Concrete slabs take precedence over all else. Forest Park took years to develop, but that doesn't mean anything. Myer Ableman of the State Highway Department says, "If parks get in the way we have to go through them."

Seems to me Mr. Ableman is in the way of an orderly development of the urban community. I hope those interested in our parks will stand up and fight, right to the courts.

Don't Let Them Take It Away

One Reader's Dissent

The Post-Dispatch's editorial position in defense of the "original cost less depreciation" method of computing the rate base for public utilities carries serious implications.

The original cost of a utility's facilities bears no relation whatsoever to present-day considerations. We were to be in an inflation-free economy such reasoning would be sound. Inflation is our way of life, however, and we must revise our accounting concepts accordingly. The "perfect" accounting system will always have the depreciated value of a piece of equipment equal to its market value.

It makes little sense to pretend that the profits earned as a fixed percentage of the cost of a plant purchased 40 years ago will ever provide for the replacement of that plant at today's prices. The "present value" theory advanced by the State Supreme Court considers the problem of replacing equipment in an inflationary economy, and hence provides for the continued existence of our private, taxpaying utilities.

Edward A. Burkhardt

Name to be Honored

The improvements contemplated for Market street from the riverfront to Grand will, without a doubt, transform this street from a dull, drab thoroughfare, in some sections, into a beautiful, modern boulevard for its entire length.

I, therefore, would like to suggest to the City Plan Commission that this new boulevard be named "Pere Marquette boulevard" or "Marquette boulevard" in honor of the French missionary and pioneer explorer who in 1673 sailed down the Mississippi from Wisconsin to the confluence with the Arkansas river.

I would also like to suggest that some of St. Louis's own heroes' names be considered for streets or avenues in the new riverfront area, names like "Butch" O'Hare, the pilot who destroyed so many Japanese planes in World War II.

Likewise, some consideration should be given to building of a monument or naming a street or avenue in this area in honor of Dr. Thomas Dooley, who by his self-sacrifice and devotion to the welfare of his fellowmen made America and St. Louis famous throughout the world.

A Bill Finds a Sponsor

A new member of the Missouri House of Representatives has introduced a bill, and thereby proved us mistaken.

The legislator is Representative Robert M. Blackwell of Bonne Terre, and the bill is intended to restore a sound basis of utility regulation in Missouri by directing the Public Service Commission to use the original-cost method of valuation in arriving at the rate base.

Mr. Blackwell has proved us mistaken, and we commend him for it, because we thought no member of the Legislature would care, or dare, to introduce this bill. State Senator Kelso Journey introduced a similar measure at the 1959 session. When he came up for re-election last fall, he was defeated. When the utilities lobby can show this much muscle against an individual legislator, as we said a week ago, other legislators understandably hesitate to invite similar reprisal.

But Mr. Blackwell does not hesitate. He is not afraid of the utilities lobby and, as he showed while serving as mayor of Bonne Terre, he is not afraid of a fight. In his first term at Jefferson City, he has stood up in the House of Representatives to be counted on the side of sound utility regulation, and he deserves support.

The original-cost method of utility valuation was used in Missouri for many years, and has been determined by the United States Supreme Court to be the fairest and most equitable method. But the Missouri Supreme Court, in two recent cases, ordered the Public Service Commission in determining fair utility rates to take into account not only the investment actually made in the utility property, but something called the "fair value," whatever that is, of the property. This can only mean, if taken seriously, a long-term tendency to increase utility rates beyond the level needed to provide a fair return on actual investment.

In the interest of the state's utility customers, every one of whom has a stake in this matter, the Legislature ought to enact a law which leaves no doubt that original cost remains the basis of Missouri rate regulation.

We still think, as we said on Feb. 13, that Gov. Dalton should get into this fight. Mr. Blackwell, after all, is only one of many members of the Legislature. He can introduce a bill, and we hope he will fight persistently for it, but he cannot expect to prevail single-handed over the utilities lobby. After all, that lobby beat this bill in 1959 and then beat the man who proposed it. Only strong leadership by the Governor can give utility customers the kind of rate regulation they are entitled to.

Where does Gov. Dalton stand?

Unfair to Fairs

The New York World's Fair of 1964-65 is going to be a bit of an oddity, according to present indications. Among the 21 countries that have reportedly agreed to participate are the Soviet Union, Spain and the Vatican. Official exhibits are not expected from Britain, France, Italy, Austria and other members of the Bureau of International Expositions, which has a rule that its 30 members (not including the United States) may not participate in more than one "world's fair" in any one zone in a 10-year period. And the B.I.E. approved the 1962 Seattle fair first. It must be frustrating to New Yorkers to find the most remote big city in the country, one known to some of them mainly as the home of Addison Simms, sneaking ahead on a big promotion.

The Fight for Cockpit Jobs

The flight engineers have a strong case in their jurisdictional struggle with airline pilots, but they are using the wrong method to present it when they wage an illegal strike in defiance of President Kennedy and with contempt for the Railway Labor Act.

They ought to obey the President's executive order for a 60-day cool-off while a special board examines their grievance. If they do not, the President should take strong action to secure a resumption of service.

The Flight Engineers International Association headquarters says it cannot make its members obey. The members are disregarding two injunctions issued by federal judges. They report "sick" or cannot be found. These are about as "spontaneous" as the same tactics with which the Air Line Pilots Association tried to keep Federal Aviation Agency inspectors from sitting in the cockpit to check operations. They are not the tactics by which labor disputes should be settled.

Flight crews and ground mechanics know that the new jets, carrying twice as many passengers twice as fast as the piston-engine planes, are causing a drastic decrease in jobs. The belief that by 1965 the increase in passengers will make up for the temporary decline in air line jobs has meant little thus far.

Both the pilots and the engineers want that third seat, and in some cases a fourth seat. There are 15,000 pilots in the ALPA and only 3500 engineers in the FEIA. FEIA charges that ALPA wants to swallow it up completely. That fear is what is really behind the Pan American dispute over hours. It is the issue in the Northwest Orient Airlines strike which has been going on since October. It is the issue between the engineers and United Air Lines.

This came into the open Feb. 6 when the National Mediation Board, 17 months after the ALPA petitioned it for a representative election on UAL, recommended that pilots and engineers be classified as flight deck crew members represented by a single union. Since UAL has 1500 pilots and 600 engineers, the issue could not be left unclarified. Naturally, the engineers do not want to be added to the bottom of the seniority list as they were in somewhat similar circumstances at Continental Air Lines.

The situation in UAL is almost unique in that all but 17 of its flight engineers have been qualified at company expense as pilots. Pilots also have been trained as engineers. But the duties of neither have been changed. The NMB has pointed out that this "cross training and cross utilization" has destroyed "any distinguishing features between members of the crew on which class or craft determination would be possible." Thus it can be seen that FEIA has cause to worry.

In a way it can be said that automation has caught up even with the air lines. And FEIA's fear of ALPA is understandable. How can FEIA assure itself that if the two unions become one the engineers will be treated fairly? Integration with guarantees against loss of seniority would be one answer. This and other phases of the problem should be threshed out around a table without disruption of a major part of the nation's transportation system.

Faith in Schooling

In this land of "the little red schoolhouse," opposition to President Kennedy's aid-to-education proposals—and there is opposition—seems strangely inconsistent. Considering the demand for college diplomas, Americans surely have not given up the idea that schooling is the key to personal and national well-being.

President Kennedy in his special message Monday cogently stated the need of education—excellent education—as the basis of our economic and military strength, to say nothing of higher values. He urged adoption of a balanced federal aid program.

This would cover teachers' pay and construction of public schools, according to each state's view of its needs. Each state would receive help according to a formula based on its public school population and its resources. The Government would provide a minimum of $15 per pupil—just half the amount recommended by Mr. Kennedy's task force. The cost would range from $666,000,000 in the first year to $866,000,000 in the third year.

Higher education—which, as the President says, is becoming more and more expensive—would be helped by extension of the existing program of 3½ per cent loans for student and faculty housing, a similar loan program for other academic facilities, and a new program of scholarships.

The President urges the allocation of an average of $700 for 25,000 scholarships the first year, 37,500 the second year, and 50,000 each year thereafter. For each scholarship, an additional $350 would be granted the school.

This program will not meet the rising cost of educating our growing school population. It is not meant to do that. Instead, it is to help the states run the public schools, and to assist public and private education beyond the high school. It respects the traditional pattern of public grade and high schools and the sharing of higher education between public and private institutions.

The single fact that today there are 90,000 teachers in public schools who do not measure up to the standards prescribed for them—a fact cited by the President—is enough to dramatize our shortcomings. So it hardly seems necessary to dwell on the problems of armaments, of industrial automation and the other complexities of a technological society with which we can cope only through education. Nor should it be necessary to speak of the intelligence and urbanity of spirit necessary to the success of democracy. With the need so apparent, surely there should be no educational penny-pinching in this nation which so early put its faith in the "little red schoolhouse."

Toward a Laos Settlement

King Savang Vatthana's endorsement of a nonalignment policy for Premier Boun Oum's government may open the way for a settlement in Laos. The State Department, which has backed Boun Oum, declared the monarch's ideas were "constructive and promising." The British saw "great merit" in them. Thus it appears that King Savang was reflecting a modified Western position.

In his pronouncement the King ignored a Communist contention that neutralist Souvanna Phouma is the legal Premier. He said Boun Oum's regime is the only recognized government and that it intends to adopt a policy of "nonalignment, noninterference and good neighborliness." He made this constructive suggestion:

That Cambodia, Burma and Malaya form a commission which would visit Laos to establish that Laos threatens no one and aspires only to peace, and that the commission then would denounce all foreign intervention. This is a proposition that should be acceptable to the Soviet Union, as well as Red China, if the Communists genuinely want peace in the area. Both East and West should be able to agree on the composition of the commission.

The King has asked Secretary General Hammarskjöld to bring his declaration before the United Nations. This should be done at the earliest opportunity. If the Russians reject it out of hand it would be a strong indication they do not want a Laotian settlement; but they might well accept it.

Home Rule Is the Issue

The St. Louis county police tax proposal that State Senators Johnson and Schechter say they will offer is as disappointing as it would be ineffective. It is disappointing because it includes a crippling clause of precisely the kind advocated by the measure's north county opponents, Representatives Young, Hickey and Cantrell.

We refer to a provision that would require some future State Legislature—not the County Council nor even the voters of St. Louis county who will have to pay the bill—to fix the new police tax rate and set up a rebate formula. Even if the constitutional amendment that is a necessary preliminary to any kind of action were adopted, there is absolutely no guarantee that the Legislature then would consider the problem, much less get around to devising a satisfactory formula. In effect the Johnson-Schechter proposition amounts to a face-saving gesture to cover a failure of the Democratic party in the county.

What the county really needs is an amendment permitting either the County Council or the voters of the county by Charter amendment to fix a police tax and to write a rebate formula. In other words, "home rule." That was the aim of the now-dead Aschmeyer bill, which in the form providing for a Charter amendment had been endorsed by the County Council. Supervisor McNary has made some strong remarks about "letting the people decide." If he means what he says, he ought to tell Senators Schechter and Johnson their proposal is unacceptable as it now stands.

The issue is quite simple. Shall the people of St. Louis county have the right to spell out the terms under which they will finance their own County Police? Or shall the matter be left to the mercies of a future State Legislature in which those who oppose a first-rate County Police Department can wield their knives in the darkness?

Movie With a Message

But Message Uses Distortion in Film Advertised by Un-American Activities Committee

Paul Jacobs in
The Reporter

With the active help of the House Un-American Activities Committee, a commercial film company in Washington, D.C., has sold 500 prints of a movie called "Operation Abolition" during the past few months at $100 each.

Although the committee has attempted to disguise its role, it is responsible for much of the production of the film, which presents a distorted version of demonstrations that were staged by a group of college students when the committee had hearings in San Francisco last May on the subject of alleged Communist activities in northern California.

The movie is made up almost entirely of newsreel shots, filmed by TV cameramen who covered the events for stations KRON and KPIX in San Francisco. After the hearings had been completed, two committee staff members—William Wheeler, chief West Coast investigator, and Fulton ("Buddy") Lewis III, went to the television stations with subpenas for all the newsreel film that had been shot during the demonstrations.

They then selected the footage they wanted and had prints made of it, telling the stations that the film was needed for "documentation." Neither the studios, the staff photographers, nor the reporters were paid for their film, although "Operation Abolition" is ostensibly a commercial venture.

The prints were sent to Washington, where the committee staff edited the film and wrote a commentary for it. After that had been done, film and commentary were turned over to a commercial film company, Washington Video Productions, to be made into a movie.

"Buddy" Lewis assisted the company with the technical work on the film, and the narrator's voice is his. Representatives Francis E. Walter (Dem.), Pennsylvania, chairman of the committee, and Gordon Scherer (Rep.), Ohio, a committee member, both appeared as commentators. The film was then made an official House document and advertised by the committee in a special publication, "The Communist-Led Riots Against the House Committee on Un-American Activities in San Francisco, May 12-14, 1960."

The film itself opens without any of the usual credits. Instead, Congressman Walter launches immediately into the main theme of the picture, which is to suggest that the demonstrations were Communist-inspired and Communist-led. In the attempt to prove this assertion, both the narration and the way the film clips were edited deliberately distort a number of facts.

For example, separate sequences have been run together in "Operation Abolition" to give the impression of mob action, and the film shows students displaying defiance after police warnings, although actually the demonstrations occurred at a completely different time. And the police use of fire hoses on the students is justified on the basis of the claim that the students attempted to rush police barricades inside the City Hall, where the committee was holding its hearings.

But no film accompanies the commentary about this alleged attempt; in fact, photographs taken at the time show the students seated on the floor and in the corridors when the hoses were turned on them. After the riots were over, the sheriff of San Francisco said: "There was no act of physical aggression on the part of the students."

The film has received wide distribution. The Saturday Evening Post recommends it, with the claim that "For once the facts are pictorially recorded for all to see!" The National Review has plugged it. Prints have been bought by a number of corporations, including the Schaefer Brewing Co. of New York and the Standard Oil Co. of California, which purchased 10 prints to show to its employees. The staff of Washington Video Productions say that requests for prints of the film are coming in so fast they can hardly keep up with them.

Students at the University of California in Berkeley have prepared a detailed answer to the movie which they are distributing wherever they can. William Wheeler of the House committee staff has admitted on a Los Angeles TV program that there were distortions in the film.

Some of the students may have misbehaved, but no evidence has been offered proving that their original demonstration was under the control of the Communist party. Although "Operation Abolition" seems to be doing well at the box office, this unusual venture of the House Committee on Un-American Activities into moviemaking is not apt to win any prize for accuracy.

Where's Missouri? From The Washington Post

States which ratify the proposed constitutional amendment giving residents of the District of Columbia the right to vote in presidential elections are entitled to a place on a distinctive Roll of Honor. They have acted, not because of any special influence the District has been able to exert or because of any political reward that can be anticipated, but rather because they believe that all American citizens are entitled to an opportunity to participate in the election of the President and Vice President. This principle is held in such regard that many of the ratifying legislatures have voted unanimously. The Honor Roll of ratifying states to date is as follows:

Hawaii, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, California, Maryland, Oregon, Idaho, Maine, Minnesota, New Mexico, Nevada, Montana, South Dakota, Colorado, Washington, West Virginia, Alaska and Wyoming.

Between Book Ends Entrepreneur of Begging

THE KING OF SCHNORRERS, by Israel Zangwill. (Thomas Yoseloff, 158 pgs., $4.95.)

By definition a schnorrer is a beggar. In actuality though he is an entrepreneur who happens to be engaged in the profession of begging. His success depends upon professional pride and resourcefulness rather than personal shame and disability. A king of schnorrers would therefore be pre-eminent in such qualities, as is Manasseh Bueno Barzilai Azavedo da Costa. Indeed, Da Costa is a schnorrer's schnorrer, admired by his peers and avoided by his benefactors (though in vain). He believes "the schnorrer is the greatest man on earth: for it stands in the Talmud. He who causes is greater than he who does." Therefore, the schnorrer who causes charity is even greater than he who gives it.

The present story, beautifully printed and strikingly illustrated, was first published in England in 1894. While Zangwill may be remembered by American readers chiefly for his serious work, "The Melting Pot," where the U. S. is depicted as "God's crucible, where all the races of Europe are melting and reforming," he is also a brilliant humorist, who could create a hilarious comedy about the social manners of nineteenth century English Jewry.

The plot is a rather simple one. Da Costa is a highly successful beggar, who has a most beautiful daughter. His friend, Yankel ben Yitzchok, a less successful beggar, desires to marry her. Ordinarily such a marriage would be hailed with the same hoopla as the uniting of two royal houses. However, in this case, Da Costa is a Sephardic Jew and Yankel, an Ashkenazic one, and such a familial difference presents problems—as well as opportunities for Zangwill's wit.

There is another problem. Being a devoted father, Da Costa is naturally concerned with the competence and earning power of his potential son-in-law. In a love-weakened moment, Yankel volunteers to do the ultimate—to schnorr from a miser. Da Costa is unimpressed, for "a miser who spends nothing on himself may, in exceptional cases, be induced to give away something. It is the man who indulges himself in every luxury and gives away nothing who is the hardest to schnorr from. He has a use for his money—himself! If you diminish his store you hurt him in the tenderest part—you rob him of creature comforts. To schnorr from such a one I should regard as a higher and nobler thing than to schnorr from a mere miser." There then ensues a series of schnorring performances such as none have ever witnessed or heard of, but which ends happily for all concerned, except the reader, who would be a real schmilch not to read the book again and again. ## DORIS FLEESON

Administration Courts Voters

IT HAS TAKEN THE KENNEDY ADMINISTRATION only its first month in office to realize it must sell its leaders first and its program second. From the President down the New Frontiersmen are active and available. Everything including the family photograph album is being thrown into the effort to captivate the American people and other nations.

The television networks are almost choking on the rich political diet granted them, though they are of course chary of complaint. Congress is not being cold-shouldered; on the contrary, its individual members have not so much personal attention in years, complete with photographs for the constituents. But the strategy of out-flanking it, should it prove balky, is plain. It will be hard to persuade the voter that men so accessible and cordial are cracking black-snake whips over the legislative branch. Nor can it be claimed that a mere charm school on a national scale is being attempted.

Cool Realism.

The frame of reference is always the lofty goals outlined by President Kennedy; the stream of legislation drafted at the White House is not as comprehensive as was first expected, but it is continuous and it is workmanlike.

It is hard to escape the conclusion that the President is planning the path ahead with the same cool realism applied between 1956 and 1960 to the road to the White House. He no longer needs to prove that he is formidable.

Perhaps no Congress has had to confront an Administration and President planning ahead quite so far. The country for various reasons was ready for WASHINGTON. The two Roosevelts and Woodrow Wilson; its backing allowed them to act promptly.

Nixon Aims for '68.

A conservative coalition-in-being put Kennedy on notice at once that it was prepared to veto him. It lost the first battle, which was in the House Rules Committee, but it will win others from time to time. Kennedy is proposing so to establish himself that it can not win the war.

The challenge extends to Republicans as a party, as many far-sighted ones among them acknowledge. The hints being thrown out from the camp of Richard M. Nixon that he will aim for 1968, not 1964, puts him among those who perceive what Kennedy is attempting and how.

The immediate rival for public support, Congress, will have to start sooner to make its long-term decisions if they are to be something more than mere negatives.

About the Weather.

The Kennedy moves to cure and palliate the recession are just ahead. The weatherman is furnishing the temptation to dawdle some more.

For he is prophesying an early spring, with all it will mean in the way of jobs. Better weather is bound to bring an upturn in the building trades, with a consequent boost to the steel industry.

It will tempt people with jobs and savings into the stores and choked automobile salesrooms. The sum is an invitation to wait and see in the pattern of the recent past.

FUNERAL IN WICHITA, KAN., FOR DR. ROWE F. BISBEE

Funeral services for Dr. Rowe F. Bisbee, a physician and former St. Louisan, will be tomorrow at 9:45 a.m. in Wichita, Kan.

Dr. Bisbee, who was 40 years old, died Sunday of a heart ailment in Wichita. A graduate of Yale University, Dr. Bisbee attended the Washington University medical school. During the Korean conflict he served as a physician with the Forty-fifth Army division. In Wichita he has been a physician employed by the Boeing Aircraft Corp. and the Sedgewick County General Hospital. He was a nephew of Alex R. A. Garesche of St. Louis.

Surviving are his wife; a son, Henry; two daughters, Jo Anne and Rebecca, and his father, Henry F. Bisbee, formerly of St. Louis, now of San Mateo, Calif.

'MAJORITY OF ONE' A GLOWING COMEDY

New Show at American Is Perfect Vehicle for Gertrude Berg.

By MYLES STANDISH

"A Majority of One," which opened at the American Theater last night, is a gentle, warm, glowing comedy of middle-age love. It is a perfect vehicle for Gertrude Berg, a gentle, warm, kindly and glowing actress. As a Brooklyn Jewish widow she goes with her daughter and son-in-law to Japan and is courted by an aristocratic Japanese gentleman. Her personality fairly radiates across the footlights. This is not just an accent role, but the part of a likable human being.

When she directs a bit of sarcasm at her daughter and son-in-law it is subtle, not spelled out. When she is hurt, she goes through no wailing and gnashing of teeth; it's a delicate hurt, expressed in the drop of her voice, something you can feel more than see. When she returns home gay from sake, after putting a germ of thought in the mind of the Japanese gentleman that will help out a difficult industrial treaty with the United States, even her daughter isn't quite sure she has had something to drink. There is a sparkle in her eye that lights up the stage without being ostentatious.

When she is dressed by the wealthy Japanese's daughter in Japanese robes for the dinner and comes into the room self-conscious in the splendor that does not go with her honest, forthright face and heavy figure, she intones "Madame Butterfly," with that up-singing accent, and it is richly comic. Her Mrs. Jacoby may be her Molly Goldberg of radio fame lifted a notch in the economic scale, but it is a genuine person who wins your heart.

As her foil, co-star Cedric Hardwicke presents a victory of manner over casting. He looks about as Japanese as Winston Churchill, and the British part of his accent keeps winning over the Japanese inflections. But he projects an enormous dignity and an unassailable integrity that make his Mr. Asano a prototype of the old-fashioned Japanese gentleman of formal courtesy. He may be starchy, but he is not stuffy; a sense of humor peeps out from under the suave manner and intrigues you.

Leonard Spigelgass hasn't written a comedy for biff laughs. Rather it is a comedy of character vignettes, with a slight plot about how the Brooklyn widow's daughter and son-

It is an extractor, not of howls, but from Mae Questel as a gabby, plump Brooklyn friend of the widow; John Malcolm as a brisk English detective employed by the Tokyo police; and Arsenio Trinidad as a brash Japanese houseboy.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY TO HEAR BOSTON ATHENAEUM HEAD

Walter Muir Whitehill, director and librarian of the Boston Athenaeum, will speak on "The Responsibility of Possession" at 8:15 p.m. Friday at Clayton High School Auditorium, 2 Mark Twain Circle, it was announced today.

Speaking before members of the Missouri Historical Society, Whitehill will emphasize the future role of the independent historical society in America. He also will describe the functions of the Boston Athenaeum, a private library containing historical documents, state papers and most of George Washington's private library.

Whitehill is a member of the faculty of the Peabody Museum of Archaeology and Ethnology. He is also the author of several books, including "Boston, a Topographical History" and "Fleet Admiral King: a Naval Record."

Funeral services for Mrs. Richard J. Conway, wife of a former president of Local 109 of the Oil, Atomic and Gas Workers Union, will be tomorrow at 9 a.m. at St. Jerome's Catholic Church, 10225 Ashbrook drive, Bellefontaine Neighbors. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Mrs. Conway, 66 years old, died Sunday. She lived with her husband, a retired employee of Laclede Gas Co., at 1324 Odessa drive, Bellefontaine Neighbors.

BAR FAVORS TEACHING COMMUNIST HISTORY

Urges Colleges, High Schools Give Instructions in Aims, Methods.

CHICAGO, Feb. 21 (AP)—The American Bar Association yesterday urged high schools and colleges to give "adequate instruction in the history, doctrines, objectives and techniques of Communism."

A resolution to that effect was approved by the House of Delegates, the policy-making body of the organization of 99,000 lawyers. The resolution proposed: "Through our members and the co-operation of state and local bar associations, we encourage and support our schools and colleges in the presentation of adequate instruction in the history, doctrines, objectives and techniques of Communism, thereby helping to instill a greater appreciation of democracy and freedom under law and the will to preserve that freedom."

There were no negative votes, but Edward L. Cannon of Raleigh, N.C., said schools should be told of a need for "teaching more Americanism than they do now."

The House also approved suggested legislation aimed at making sure that no case could be decided by the Supreme Court of the United States by a majority of fewer than five judges.

If one or more of the nine members became ill or disqualified himself, a substitute or substitutes could be called in to sit in a particular case.

On the reserve bench would be 11 United States circuit judges who would go to Washington from their home circuits if and when needed. They would be assigned to such standby duty by the President of the United States but would retain their judicial posts in their home districts.

Earlier, the delegates refused to back a move to give immunity to federal income tax cheaters who make voluntary confessions before they are caught.

The House of Delegates also adopted a resolution urging prompt passage of legislation to establish $9 additional judgeships.

Opposed legislation that would force merchants and moneylenders to spell out the details of financing charges on installment purchases and mortgages.

Sylvester C. Smith Jr., of Newark, N. J., was selected today as the next head of the A.B.A.

Smith, general counsel for the Prudential Insurance Co. of America, was nominated president-elect of the organization. Nomination is equivalent to elec-

KENNEDY TO SPEAK AT MEETING ON PHYSICAL FITNESS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (UPI)—Athletes, educators and physicians met today to discuss ways of keeping the nation's youth in shape.

President Kennedy, who has expressed concern over the steady decline of physical fitness in America, was to address the one-day conference.

Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Abraham A. Ribicoff opened the meeting, to be attended by about 100 persons in physical fitness programs.

The meeting was set up to devise new methods to bolster programs on youth fitness.

Mr. Kennedy said recently that automobiles, buses "and all the rest" have made American life easier, thus making physical fitness a serious problem.

THE REV. BERNARD PENDER FUNERAL SERVICES FRIDAY

Funeral services for the Rev. Bernard Pender, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church in East St. Louis since 1942, will be at 11 a.m. Friday at the church. Burial will be in Mount Carmel Cemetery in East St. Louis.

Father Pender, who was 67 years old, died Sunday at St. Mary's Hospital in East St. Louis. He had been in failing health for about six months, and preached his last service on New Year's day. A native of Ireland, he came to the United States in 1921 and entered Kenrick Seminary. After he was ordained in 1926 he became assistant pastor of the old St. Patrick's Church in East St. Louis.

He became pastor of St. Patrick's Church in Cairo, Ill., in 1928, remaining there until his return to East St. Louis as pastor of St. Patrick's Church. Surviving are a sister, Mrs. Mary McNamara of St. Louis, and a brother, James Pender of Chicago.

DOUGLAS FURBER DIES

LONDON, Feb. 21 (AP)—Douglas Furber, writer of the song hit, "The Bells of St. Mary's," died yesterday. He was 75 years old.

He will start his one-year term as president in 1962 after a year as president-elect.

PERCY GRAINGER DIES; PIANIST-COMPOSER

Protege of Grieg Made His Piano Debut at Age of 10.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (UPI)—Percy Grainger, Australian-born concert pianist, conductor and composer, died yesterday in White Plains hospital after a long illness. He was 78 years old.

Mr. Grainger made his piano debut at the age of 10 in Australia, beginning a career that carried him throughout the world.

He was a student of Edward Grieg and was chosen by Grieg to play his famous piano concerto at the Leeds festival in England in 1907. After Grieg's death, Mr. Grainger was the pianist at memorial concerts in Denmark and England.

Mr. Grainger came to the United States in 1914 and toured the country as a pianist. In World War I, he served as an Army bandsman.

Among his 400 compositions for voice, piano, orchestra and chorus, were "Country Gardens," "My Robin is to the Greenwood Gone," "In a Nutshell," "Green Bushes," and "A Scotch Strathspey and Reel."

Mr. Grainger was a specialist in folk music and had made more than 500 recordings of folk songs.

He was born in Melbourne and studied music first with his mother and then in Germany. He became a United States citizen in 1917.

Surviving Mr. Grainger is his wife, Mrs. Ella Storm Grainger, a well-known Scandinavian poet.

Chances For Bid To N.I.T. Boosted

By Robert Morrison
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff
SOUTH BEND, Ind., Feb. 21.
—John Benington's call of the wild and St. Louis University's karate method of basketball have tamed another lion.
The Billikens handled Notre Dame with ease, 74-60, last night at the ancient Irish field house where visitors seldom have had it easy, win or lose.
St. Louis had a 24-point lead twice before coach Benington eased up with his reserves. Afterward the leaders of the Fighting Irish paid due respect to the St. Louis sons of battle.
"We haven't met a defense like that all season," said Irish coach Johnny Jordan, whose team plays a schedule that makes that mean something.
"They're so quick reacting and so aggressive," said Jordan of the Bills.

Praise from Krause.
Another fighting Irish, Moose Krause, athletic director who used to pass the time in this somewhat celebrated series tilting with former St. Louis coach Eddie Hickey, had the same words of admiration.
"My, your boys are aggressive," said Moose to Benington. The Billiken coach smiled and recalled the name given the St. Louis defense by Oklahoma City U. Coach Abe Lemons.

Whimsical Abe called it karate—the deadly back-of-the-hand striking that with proper timing and leverage can split a block of wood. The Bills' defense isn't quite that lethal but Abe gave a picturesque description of the quick way they use their hands.
"They were taking turns stealing the ball so much here I didn't know where it was half the time," said Benington with a chuckle.

The Bills' coach had come prepared. He had a duck-call horn with him. His first idea was that if the din of some 3500 Irish students and fans prevented his St. Louis players from hearing him from the bench, he would quack with the duck call to get a time out.

He didn't have to use it that way, and he finally decided it merely had served as a "call of the wild."

"They were really tough this night," said Benington, admiring the way the Bills screened the huskier Irish away from the boards, grabbed rebounds and stopped possible tips-in.

Tourney Hopes Raised.
Handing Notre Dame a defeat that was only its second on the home floor in 27 games meant something else—that St. Louis has a chance to win in any of its remaining four games on the road. The Bills start this stretch at Tulsa Thursday night and continue against three teams that have beaten them before—at Wichita Saturday night and next week at Drake and Bradley.

St. Louis has a 15-7 record now. Two victories this week would put the Bills in the National Invitation Tournament picture.

"You have to figure that a team that has beaten Iowa, and Kentucky away from home as we have, and now Notre Dame, has something," said Benington. "It could be, too, we might have Bevo ready, if we went to a tournament."

The St. Louis victory over the Irish was the tenth in the 18-game series that was resumed this season after a seven-year lapse, and the first for a St. Louis team at South Bend since the college heyday of Easy Ed Macauley.

21 for Bill Nordmann.
A significant point about the Bills' defense was that until little more than four minutes remained in the game, Notre Dame had scored only 12 field goals. The Irish got seven more, mainly against Bill Nordmann.

Donnell Reid started at a forward position for St. Louis with Tom Kieffer shifting to backcourt. Reid was a sensational performer, scoring all of his 13 points in the first half and covering Irish scorer Armand Reo effectively except for a brief period when Reid sat out in the second half after getting three fouls.

Bill Nordmann was a tiger in the middle, high scorer with 21 points. Glen Mankowski, front man in the defense against the Irish 1-3-1 attack formation, also joined in the scoring and generally strong rebounding.
And a little guy from Indiana, returning to that hallowed basketball soil, had one of his greatest nights. That was St. Louis's George Latinovich, whose home is near Terre Haute. He popped five of six from the field, scored 13 points, hit better than any of the hot-handed Bills.

Whooping It Up on Hilltop

Washington University students held a rally on campus and marched into the Field House before last night's basketball game with Portland, in effort to stir up support for the school's athletic teams. The season's last home game was lost by Bears.

Pomerantz Hits 22, Fouls Out; Bears Lose in Second Overtime

By Harold Tuthill

Any hopes Washington University had of breaking even this basketball season were shattered by Portland, Ore., University which went two exciting overtimes to defeat the Bears, 70-62, last night at the Field House.
The loss left Washington with a 7-11 record and two road games to go, Saturday against the tough University of Chicago team and next Monday against Loyola of Chicago, likewise a strong five.
Washington, playing before an enthusiastic crowd, about 2200, which turned out for the home final, might have eked out a victory with a little luck. Charley Stegmeyer missed a free throw which would have given the Bears a 53-52 lead instead of a 52-52 tie at the end of regulation time.

In the first overtime Washington had a 58-56 lead with 22 seconds to go but Sandy Pomerantz fouled Portland's Frank Bosone, who proceeded to sink both efforts and send the teams into another extra period of five minutes.

5-11 Player Pilot Hero.
Gary Gray, 5-11 backliner, who lists Portland as his home, was the Pilot hero in the last five minutes. He scored eight of his team's 12 points while Washington was being held to goals by Stegmeyer and Bill MacMann.

Chuck Smith's Bears were given a rousing reception by a crowd which formed early for a student rally and then traipsed into the Field House. Among the interested spectators was Chancellor Ethan A. H. Shepley, who spoke during the intermission.
"I'm supposed to make a

Bears Show Fight.

The chancellor was something of a prophet as the Bears fought back from an 11-point deficit in each half. Trailing 34-23 early in the second half, they started using an effective pressing defense, meanwhile boosting their scoring until they made it a new game at 44-44 on a goal by Pomerantz, who took a clever pass from Stegmeyer. Sandy, fouled

Summer Arrives Early At Sports-Boat Show

By Bob Posen

On a Sunday when the golfers took over the Forest Park hills on which the slidders had held forth two weeks earlier, the summery exhibits at the Midwest Sports and Boat Show.

The thousands who shuffled and elbowed through The Arena and annex seemed to think so, too. They were constantly confronted by signs of warm weather as boats and motors, fishing equipment and skin diving gear, camping paraphernalia and promises of vacation paradises.

The pitchmen made the exhibits even more appealing, from the ones with the small price tags to the house boats big enough to sleep six, some of which had signs "Boarding by Appointment Only."

The fancy extras that have come off the compact cars have found their way to the boats. For example, there was the attractive boat marked with the "basic" price, $765, and also with the price tag including the accessories shown, $2227.

But there was a ready way to finance the boats, according to signs on a number of craft. Banks made their pitch on these printed cards.

There was no question of financing some offerings at the show. In fact, a byword of spectators passing exhibits seemed to be, "What are they giving away?"

by Roland Carpenter, then sank two free throws to give the Bears their first lead, 46-44.

The score was tied near the end of regulation time when Portland took time out with 1:23 to play. Bosone, a talented dribbler, whiled away time trying to set up a one-shot play. Art Eastery of East St. Louis Lincoln tried for a goal but missed. Pomerantz recovered and signaled for time out but not fast enough to catch the eye of an official.

Pomerantz, the game's top scorer with 22 points, fouled out with 4:12 to go in the second overtime and joined a select group waved to the bench. Those sidelined included Kent Lattig, Washington captain and only graduating senior who was tendered a "micro-nite" which included an after-game buffet.

Jim Altenhofen, a regular who was given a substitute's role, started Portland in its winning way in the second overtime. He was fouled by Pomerantz, Sandy's fifth, and proceeded to drop both efforts for a lead the Pilots never relinquished.

They improved their record to 13-9 and restored some of the prestige they lost Saturday when they were trounced at Notre Dame, 80-49.

Bosone, who sank 15 of 18 free throws, paced Portland with 17 points. Easterly and Gray had 13 apiece. Stegmeyer, with 16, was Washington's second best marksman.

DeAndreis, Dubourg Win In Soccer

DeAndreis defeated St. Mary's, 2-1, and DuBourg won from Ladue, 2-1, in District Class A high school soccer tournament matches at Forest Park yesterday.

Bob Peitroowski and Tom Brannon tallied for DeAndreis, while Bob Robben scored the only St. Mary's goal. Dario Francis and Carl Swarzen for DuBourg and Kit Heil for Ladue were the goal-getters in the other contest.

In today's games, Laboure opposes Corpus Christi at Penrose Park and Mercy plays Country Day at Forest Park.

The Class B final between C.B.C. and St. Louis U. High also will be played at Forest Park.

Mike Johnson, John Balmer, Carl Gentile and Mike Bertani scored goals as C.B.C. defeated O'Fallon Tech, 4-0, in a St. Louis High School League game yesterday. It was the Cadets' twenty-sixth consecutive victory of the season.

First round matches in the Johnny Marre soccer tournament of champions will be played March 15, it was announced by Bob Guelker.

Only league title winners will be eligible to compete. These include the first and second divisions of the St. Louis League; north and south of the Khoury; open, first and second divisions of the C.Y.C. and Metro League. First-round contests will be decided at doubleheaders at Fairground No. 1 and Carondelet No. 1. Semifinals will be played March 19 as a doubleheader at Fairground and the final the following Sunday at Fairground.

Two Affton Heavies in Gloves Final

Jack Patty and Chuck Riley, a St. Louis county policeman and a county bus driver by trade, are amateur boxers by hobby. Heavyweights and friends away from the ring, they belong to the same club, the Affton A.C.

Meeting in the final bout of the Golden Gloves Tournament at Hotel Chase Thursday night, they are not expected to show any surprises, as they customarily box six five-minute rounds a night.

Gary Huett, who was knocked out in the semifinals of the tournament, will try again in the novice finals. The South Broadway A.C. light-heavyweight will substitute against the fighter who beat him. Tom Toeniskoetter's scheduled opponent, Harvey Walter, failed to appear for the weigh-in Sunday. Under the rules, Huett needs only to make the 175-pound limit to get the second chance.

There will be 20 other matches on the program, starting at 7:30 o'clock.

Tickets for the finals cost $2 and $3 and may be obtained from the Dick Esser Ticket Agency in the Arcade Building.

Sports Comment

By Bob Proeg

Post-Dispatch Sports Editor

Glub!

CARL BAUER is a little happier, even a bit more brisk and lively today than usual. And the veteran sports director at the Missouri Athletic Club is customarily as vigorous as the countless kids he has taught to swim and play water polo.

The reason for Bauer's added sparkle in his 45th year at the M.A.C. is the literary bow to water polo in this week's Saturday Evening Post. The sport is saluted, along with other Olympic activities ordinarily given little attention in the United States, in an article entitled, "Why Do They Knock Themselves Out?"

The magazine sports editor, HARRY PAXTON, visited with Bauer and some of his former All-America water polo stars—HARRY QUEENSEN, DON CLOONEY, WALLY LUNDY, JOHN CARSON and DICK NEWMAN.

Newman describes water polo as a sport with "all the forcefulness of football and the speed of basketball."

Watching an "exhibition," Paxton was impressed. He saw it as "a body-contact game in which broken noses, punctured eardrums and facial cuts are far from rare," but the sport is really no more rugged than the body-building exercises and endless practice Bauer has demanded of his champions.

Besides, as Carl said with a chuckle, the game has changed. Now a man with the ball must get rid of it instantly as he goes under-water or else the referee awards possession to the opposing team.

In the uninhibited violence of the "old game," as it's wistfully remembered by Bauer and his former aquatic stars who still play two or three nights a week, a standard tactic was to take the man with the ball down until he let go of it. That's when water polo was known as Drownings, Unlimited.

General Orders

Gen. ELWOOD R. (PETE) QUESADA, president of the new Washington Senators, predicted in a visit to Los Angeles that his team would beat out the American League's other new entry, the Angels, who also were created from Adam's rib, i.e., the eight other clubs in the A.L.

"It should be interesting to

see which team develops faster," Quesada said. "I'm going to suggest to our players that our chief rival, next to Baltimore, is Los Angeles. The Angels won't get ahead of us because we don't intend to be outbid for any bonus boy on whom we have the right kind of scouting report."

HENRY RUGGERI's death will be mourned by many a ball player, past and present, who knew "The Chief" as a pleasant host in the happier yesteryear when, shirt sleeves neatly rolled above the elbow, he actively ran his restaurant on The Hill. Ruggeri and the late JIM MERIKAS, whose Grecian Gardens on South Sixth street recently closed, provided the personal touch that appealed strongly to sports and theatrical people, among others.

A soft touch where kids were concerned, The Chief gave GEORGE KHOURY a check for $1000, a contribution to the Khoury association's proposed small fry stadium just a few days before his death.

Live and Learn

SAM MUCHNICK is glowing these days, more over a development Friday noon than his turn-away 12,000 wrestling crowd that night at Kiel Auditorium. Badgered repeatedly by a Centralia (Ill.) strong boy who insisted he could whip any of Muchnick's grapplers, Sam finally—and angrily—gave the 225-pound husky a chance. With the Auditorium crew crew a private audience.

Curt Simmons Agrees to Contract Terms With Cardinals

Jackson Only Bird Unsigned

By Neal Russo

Curt Simmons, one of the baseball Cardinals' many pleasant surprises last season, has agreed to contract terms for 1961, the Redbirds announced today.

The signing of Simmons leaves only one Cardinal out of the fold, Larry Jackson, but the right-hander is expected to be even more stubborn than the left-hander.

"I haven't pushed Jackson, and I haven't talked to him yet," said General Manager Bing Devine. "We're pretty far apart but I feel that I've treated Larry fairly over the years." Devine recalled that two years ago he signed Jackson in St. Petersburg after spring training started.

When the Cardinals signed Simmons as a free agent after the Phillies cut him loose early last season, the Birds picked up his salary of about $25,000. The southpaw, 31 years old, is understood to have asked for about $30,000 and settled for a modest boost.

Simmons' 7-4 record with the Cardinals doesn't tell the full story of his value. Frequently the victim of poor batting support, Curt turned in a 2.66 earned-run average as a starter. His over-all ERA mark of 3.06 was good for sixth in the league. He tailed Mike McCormick, Ernie Broglio, Don Drysdale, Bob Friend and Stan Williams, in that order.

Jackson, who had an 18-13 record as the National League's busiest workman, is believed to have asked for a hike of close to $10,000. He was in the $25,000 class last year and Devine's original offer for 1961 included an increase.

Scales Show Cards Are Nearing Condition

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

HOMESTEAD, Fla., Feb. 21—Bats will be used in calisthenics for the Cardinal baseball players at the St. Petersburg camp, Walter Eberhardt said yesterday. Use of bats will make the exercises even more effective, said Eberhardt, the St. Louis U. physical education director who is on special duty with the Redbirds.

The players have lost an average of 3½ to 4 pounds a day, indicating that they are working their way into condition satisfactorily, Trainer Bob Bauman said. Of course, most of the lost weight is regained.

Movies were taken during yesterday's three-hour workout.

Baylor Hits 45 But Lakers Lose In 'Homecoming'

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Feb. 21 (AP)—Homecoming day here was something less than a success for the Los Angeles Lakers and as a result they're out of the running for the Western Division title in the National Basketball Association.

The Lakers, piloted by former West Virginia University coach Fred Schaus and including such former Mountaineer stars as Jerry West and Hot Rod Hundley, visited Morgantown last night to play the Syracuse Nationals. They lost, 126-121, and the St. Louis Hawks backed into the Western title.

What's more, the former West Virginia players took a very small share of the honors as the Lakers' Elgin Baylor scored 45 points and grabbed 21 rebounds while veteran Dolph Schayes, playing his 659th consecutive N.B.A. game, was the big man for Syracuse. He rang up 29 points for Syracuse.

Leading most of the way, the Nats dropped a point behind late in the third quarter and from there it was touch and go. Barney Cable put Syracuse ahead 117-115 with 2:43 to go and Schayes then made six of the last seven points to keep the Nats on top.

Football Cardinals Warm Up for Broomball

Members of the St. Louis football Cardinals get feel of weapons which they will use in broomball exhibition, a feature of the Silver Skates Carnival at The Arena Sunday afternoon, March 5. Former baseball and hockey players will take part in the game, which is based on hockey. Skates are used but players swing brooms instead of sticks and a basketball replaces a puck. From left are: BILLY STACY, DON OWENS, MAL HAMMACK and BILL KOMAN. Trainer JACK ROCKWELL has ball.

Broomball Feature Of Silver Skates

Broomball, a popular sport in hockey's rosier days in St. Louis, will be revived at the Silver Skates Carnival, it was announced today.

Featured performers in the match on Sunday afternoon, March 5, at The Arena will include four players from the football Cardinals and the club's trainer. Ex-stars of professional baseball and hockey will put on skates.

Representing the grid Cards will be Don Owens, 280-pound lineman; Bill Koman, Bill Stacy and Mal Hammack, as well as trainer Jack Rockwell.

Broomball seldom has been played here in recent years. The game was a side attraction at many hockey contests.

House brooms replace hockey sticks and a basketball is used instead of a rubber puck, and the result invariably is a lot of fun.

In the city championship series at Steinberg Rink last night, Frank Till beat Jim Chapin in a two-mile senior thriller. Chapin made a diving leap across the finish line. The victory put Till in front by one point in the city standings. Bill Kelly scored a close, surprise victory over Dennis Stanford in the intermediate mile.

Races are scheduled again Thursday night at 6:30 as the skaters prepare for the Post-Dispatch-sponsored Silver Skates.

Silver Skates tickets can be obtained at half price by using coupon on Page 7C.

Several teams in the league turned in a total of 60 or more punts during the season, including the champion Philadelphia Eagles. Green Bay and New York, each with 49 punts, were nearest to the Cards for fewest kicks.

Norton's longest punt of the season was 62 yards. Bob Green of Pittsburgh, in his first individual listing with an average of 44.2 yards for 64 punts. Green's 75-yard kick on one occasion was the season's longest in the league.

Tom Davis of San Francisco was third with a 44.1-yard average for 62 punts. King Hill, St. Louis's other punter, was eighth in the list with a 39.6-yard average for five punts.

But another significant figure was that the Big Red team had to punt only 44 times. That meant the Cards had consistent offensive work, especially on the ground.

hower. The best illustration took place after the independence of Guinea from France in 1959. The departing French yanked out all the telephones, removed all desks from government offices, transferred automobiles, trucks and everything else that was removable, leaving the new republic helpless.

President Sekou Toure appealed to President Tubman of the much older African republic of Liberia to intercede with the United States for aid. Tubman did so, but the Eisenhower Administration did not act.

The request lay on a State Department desk for about two months. It was not ignored; it was carefully considered, but Eisenhower decided that to help newly independent Guinea would offend President De Gaulle.

Finally the Guineans got tired of waiting, requested aid from Russia. Within five days a plane arrived from Moscow loaded with Communist technicians. Three hundred Communist technicians are in Guinea today and it has virtually become a Russian satellite.

GETTING ALONG with these new African republics is not easy. Later Eisenhower, aware of what was happening in Guinea, invited President Toure to Washington for a formal state dinner Oct. 29, 1959. Toure brought both his wife and his mistress, wanted both invited to dinner at the White House. United States protocol officers objected on the ground that the mistress had no official standing. She was included in the musicale after dinner, but not at the dinner. At this point Toure refused to go to dinner.

"If you can give the lady an official position, she can be invited," Ambassador Wiley Buchanan finally advised.

So Toure made his mistress

Secretary of State. She accompanied him and his wife to the White House.

Last fall when the United Nations was to vote for or against colonialism in Africa and Asia, the State Department had wanted to line up against colonialism. So did the American delegation to the U.N.

But Prime Minister Macmillan of England made a personal appeal to President Eisenhower and Eisenhower then gave instructions to the American delegates to abstain. Our position was a victory for Russia.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY now has laid down a policy along the line of his 1957 senate speech advocating independence for Algeria which made the French so mad.

The Kennedy decision is that, despite our ties with NATO, we cannot worry about the Belgians, the Portuguese, the South Africans, and others bucking the political tide of independence. They are considered certain to lose and we want to ride with the winners.

"Ike and John Foster Dulles," remarked one Kennedy friend, "stood at the mouth of the Nile and said, 'You can't flow.' But the tide rolled them over anyway. Kennedy has figured that since the tide is going to flow anyway you might as well ride with it, and try to channel it, not resist it."

This is why former Gov. Mennen Williams of Michigan, now assistant secretary of state, is avoiding the Union of South Africa and Rhodesia on his present African trip. These white governments of African countries are bucking the tide the Administration is sure will engulf the continent.

To Head Formosa Parliament. TAIPEI, Formosa, Feb. 21 (AP)—Formosa-born Huang Kuo Shu, 54 years old, who studied in the United States, will be the new president of the Chinese Nationalist Parliament, succeeding Chang Tiao-fan, who resigned because of ill health. Huang was nominated by President Chiang Kai-shek's ruling Kuomintang party yesterday. His election is a formality.

ARKANSAS MURDER TRIAL

ROGERS, Ark. (AP)—United States District Court has turned down an appeal by Mrs. Virginia Rand to have her second degree murder trial transferred to a United States court. Judge John E. Miller ruled that his court had no jurisdiction over the case against Mrs. Rand, Rogers housewife who is accused in the fatal shooting of restaurant owner H. V. (Buddy) Clark. She was convicted in a trial last year, but the State Supreme Court reversed that verdict. A second trial was to have started last Monday, but was delayed by the United States district court action.

TROOPS FIRE ON MOB IN RANGOON UPRISING

RANGOON, Feb. 21 (AP)—Burmese soldiers opened fire on a mob of several thousand demonstrators outside the United States embassy in Rangoon today, seriously wounding five persons. Troops were called out after police and firemen were unable to check the demonstrators in a melee that had left three policemen and 35 demonstrators injured. The crowd was protesting against the supplying of arms with United States markings to Chinese Nationalist guerrillas, remnants of Chiang Kai-shek's armies who took refuge on the Burmese frontier after the Chinese conquered the mainland in 1949.

The United States embassy has begun an investigation of how the arms reached the guerrillas. The steel-himmed troops knelt and opened fire on a crowd estimated at 10,000 after the reading of a government order, barring gatherings of 10 people or more, failed to disperse the crowd.

20-INCH SNOW FALLS IN PARTS OF TEXAS

LUBBOCK, Tex., Feb. 21 (AP)—A sudden snowstorm—described as the worst single day's fall in the area's history—dumped up to 20 inches of snow on West Texas, making highways and streets almost impassable. Thousands of automobiles were stalled, schools were closed and hundreds of students and travelers were stranded. At least two deaths have been attributed to the storm, which started yesterday and ended this morning.

Long-distance telephone calls were curtailed here when operators could not get from their homes to report to work. Texas Tech College and Lubbock schools suspended classes. At Wolforth, 10 miles to the southwest, 15 teachers and 50 students spent the night in the school after buses were unable to get more than a short distance from the school. Forty passengers and the driver of a commercial bus, stranded by the heavy snow, lined up in the school cafeteria to eat with the students.

Thousands of automobiles around Reese Air Force Base, west of Lubbock, were abandoned after many motorists were taken from their cars by crews driving tractors and road-clearing machines. One busload of school children in that rural area was rescued by parents driving tractors.

The storm affected an area approximately 200 miles long and 100 miles wide, ranging from Lovington and Hobbs, N. M., northwest through the Texas south plains to around Plainview, Floydada and Matador.

The heaviest snowfall of 20 inches was at the small town of Clauene, 40 miles southwest of here. Levelland and Plains had 19 inches. Bobby Jack Smith, 11 years old, was killed when he was struck by a car after alighting from a school bus north of Post in the snowstorm. Ralph Maldonado, 20, was killed at Lubbock when his car and a train collided in the blinding snowfall.

Missionaries Get Airplane. RIBERALTA, Bolivia (AP)—Maryknoll missionaries here have a new light airplane, contributed by Detroit business man Edward Wagonsamer, to transport about their 50,000-square-mile mission territory in the "Green Hell" jungle region of northeastern Bolivia.

"Ginger Rogers was too much for my undernourished physique!" says JIMMY STEWART.

How did Jimmy Stewart enjoy "working" with Hollywood's most beautiful—and exciting—women? Why was Ginger Rogers too much for Jimmy? And why will he always remember Jean Harlow's special kind of kisses? Read about the women in Jimmy Stewart's wild, wonderful bachelor life—in this week's Saturday Evening Post. # PROFIT-TAKING, SWINGING MARK STOCK TRADE

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP)—The stock market closed mixed today in heavy trading.

Changes of most key stocks ranged from fractions to a point. The ticker tape lagged in late dealings.

Volume for the day was estimated at 5,000,000 shares compared with 4,600,000 yesterday. Gains and losses of most key stocks were narrow but especially sensitive issues made wider moves.

Polaroid ran up more than 3 points. Brunswick picked up 2. F. G. Shattuck, which plans to expand into the motel field, rose more than 2. Lionel was up close to 2.

Celanese, which has developed a new high-strength plastic, was up more than a point at one point. San Diego Imperial was active and fractionally higher.

Building material issues made gains. Johns-Manville rose about 2. U.S. Gypsum more than a point. Some of the aircraft-missiles did well. Douglas and General Dynamics added more than a point each. Martin and United Aircraft were fractional gainers.

U.S. Steel dropped a fraction and other of the steel makers showed scant change. Lukens and Youngstown Sheet rose more than a point each.

Most motor stocks made fractional gains. Chrysler lost a fraction. American Tobacco, down more than a point, was a casualty in mixed tobacco section. Chemicals were unchanged to lower, oils narrowly mixed.

American Stock Exchange late afternoon prices were mixed in heavy trading. Wagner Baking held a gain of about 2. Pacific Petroleum, Apollo Industries, General Development and Cinerama were active fractional gainers. Draper and Beau Brummel were off a point or so. Glasstite picked up about 2.

WHOLESALE FOOD PRICE INDEX EASES A BIT IN WEEK

NEW YORK, Feb. 21 (AP)—Wholesale food prices, as measured by the Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., food index, eased a bit this week.

Continuing to move in the narrow 1961 range, the index declined to $6.12 from $6.13 the previous week and stayed in the $6.11-$6.17 range prevailing since the first of the year. The latest figure is up 4.9 per cent over the $5.78 index a year ago.

The index represents the total cost at wholesale of one pound each of 31 foods in general use. Higher this week were flour, wheat, rye, hams, lard, sugar, coffee, cottonseed oil and eggs.

Lower were corn, oats, barley, bellpeas, cocoa, potatoes and hogs.

BRUNS DEFENDS SCHOOL BOARD CRAFTSMAN PAY

The contention that St. Louis school board craftsmen are overpaid is not borne out by information gathered on wage scales and policies from other large cities, H. Lee Bruns, a member of the Board of Education, said today.

Bruns, chairman of the school board's subcommittee on buildings, said his committee is putting wage data obtained from about 15 other cities into final form for presentation to the school board here. A preliminary report on the committee's findings was given to board executive officers and members at a meeting yesterday.

Bruns said a large majority of school boards in other cities questioned have a wage policy similar to the one adopted here several years ago. That of paying craftsmen the prevailing rate in private industry in the area.

"There are minor variations, of course, such as differences in fringe benefits and differences in wage scales paid in industry, but the variations do not change the over-all, general pattern of similarity," he said. Bruns' committee undertook the wage study about two months ago at the request of the school board. Some members of the board, particularly Daniel L. Schlafly, have contended that board craftsmen here are overpaid under the present policy since their principal work is maintenance, whereas rates in private industry are paid for new construction.

Schlafly's position is supported by a report by David H. Nicholson, a St. Louis personnel consultant retained by the school board, who last June recommended a 15 per cent reduction in the wages of certain school board craftsmen.

In an interim report issued at that time, Nicholson said board craftsmen did mostly maintenance work, while private industry rates were based on new construction. A final report will be presented by Nicholson later this year.

RICHARD J. MEHAN TO HEAD LINDENBUSCH CAMPAIGN

Richard J. Mehan, an attorney, has been appointed campaign manager for Ben H. Lindenbusch, Republican candidate for mayor, it was announced today.

Mehan, 5701 Rosa avenue, was the unsuccessful Republican candidate for mayor in 1957. He is 35 years old, married and the father of five children. In accepting the appointment, Mehan stated:

"In Ben Lindenbusch, I recognize a fine candidate, a self-made man with the broad business experience needed for the most important position our city can bestow upon a citizen. He understands the needs of the people and the importance of creating a climate that will attract, not repel, more job opportunities."

Charles Menees 'Reporter at Large'

Beginning this coming Sunday, I'll be serving up a brand new column which I think you and your friends will find interesting.

That's the name of my column, up above my picture. To fill this assignment, I'll be roaming the length and breadth of the city, reporting on people, places and happenings in and around St. Louis—the interesting, the amusing, the unusual.

I hope you'll join me for the start of this new column . . .

This will be your column—a fresh, lively report of home-town happenings—spiced with humor, packed with human interest, filled with facts and notes about St. Louis and St. Louisans. It will appear three times weekly (Sunday, Wednesday and Friday) in the Post-Dispatch Everyday Magazine.

LABOR LAGGING IN SIGNING UP NEW MEMBERS

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 21 (AP)—A report that organized labor is losing ground in enrolling American workers in unions brought a self-appraisal in the AFL-CIO that the trend could spell union labor's obituary unless it is reversed.

Organizing director John Livingston is reported to have told the AFL-CIO Executive Council at a closed session yesterday that while unions covered 40 per cent of the work force five years ago the proportion is now down to 38 per cent.

Livingston was said to have told his colleagues that independent unions such as the Teamsters and Mine Workers, are winning bigger groups of new members proportionately than the AFL-CIO's own unions.

Joseph A. Beirne, president of the AFL-CIO Communications Workers, was reported to have said the waning proportion of unionized workers "means the obituary of organized labor" unless it is quickly reversed.

Livingston explained the decline in union organizing success was partially due to the rapidly changing composition of the nation's work force—with the number of manual workers declining along with an increase in white collar, or office and technical workers.

The AFL-CIO council voted yesterday to sponsor a series of "get America back to work" conferences, winding up with one in the nation's capital. The purpose is to pinpoint the plight of the unemployed and to consider ways to spur economic recovery. The council urged Congress to give emergency preference to President Kennedy's proposed $1,200,000,000 extra aid to the nation's 5,500,000 idle workers.

Many of the AFL-CIO chiefs were suggesting a joint demand in behalf of organized labor that business adopt a code of ethics similar to those adopted by labor unions.

The leaders said they intended to bring up the matter because of the recent pleas of guilty and no defense by the nation's largest electrical manufacturing concerns to charges of price fixing.

By United Press International.

The council also: Decided against taking any action in the current wildcat flight engineers strike that has tied up the nation's air traffic. President George Meany said he had done all he could to end the walkout. He said in his opinion, the only long-range solution to the many labor troubles besetting the airline industry was establishment of a single union.

Took under study a request by airline stewardesses that they be granted their own union charter apart from the pilots. The stewardesses claim the present union alignment places them in a position of being represented by their in-flight bosses.

James R. Hoffa notified the stewardesses his Teamsters Union would offer them a haven if the federation rejected their plea to get out of the Airline Pilots Association.

Hoffa coupled his assurance with an announcement that he was ready to set up a special air transport division within the 1,700,000-member truck union. A top Hoffa aid said the new division would be happy to take in the flight engineers as well as the stewardesses and other groups dissatisfied with the federation's policies. The flight engineers have long been on cordial terms with the Teamsters.

Hoffa's offer to give the Airline Stewards and Stewardesses Association an autonomous charter within the Teamsters was made by telephone from Detroit.

2 OFFICERS HURT AS CRUISER TURNS OVER IN COLLISION

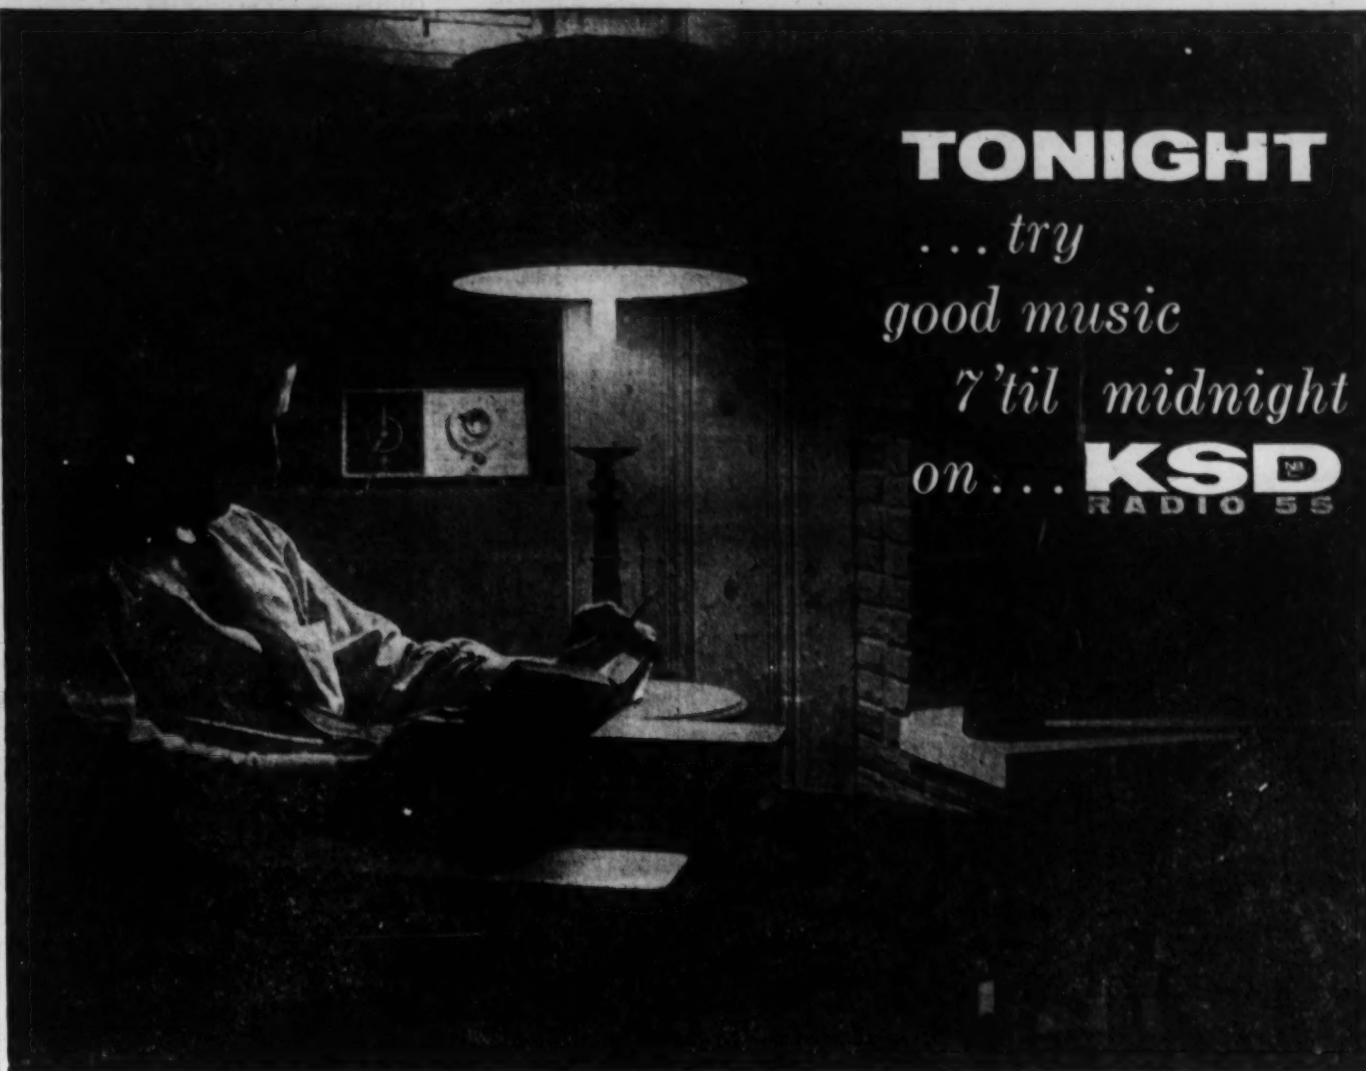

Two policemen were injured last night when their cruising patrol was struck by another automobile and overturned at Twenty-first and Cole streets.

Patrolman Clayborn Perkins was driving west in Cole street with Patrolman Philip Jones to investigate a disturbance in the Pruitt housing project. A south-bound car driven by Ambrose Holte, 1514 North Eighteenth street, struck the police car, turning it on its side.

Perkins and Jones were taken to City Hospital suffering from severe bruises. Holte, uninjured, was booked suspected of careless driving, destruction of city property, failure to have a city sticker and no driver's license.

MANITOWOC, Wis. (AP)—Excavation of a gravel pit recently uncovered a forest of trees all lying in the same direction. University of Wisconsin scientists, estimating the wood was about 11,000 years old, believe one of the great glaciers that overspread Wisconsin buried the trees.

GORNELL CAPA

These gloved hands are placing sensitized film on a radioactive piston. This produces a "radio autograph," from which Shell can study the effect of deposits on top performance.

BULLETIN:

Super Shell with 9 ingredients now contains 1 quick-start component; 1 fast warm-up ingredient; 1 mileage booster; 1 anti-knock mix; 2 octane boosters; 1 gum preventive; 1 anti-icer and new improved TCP—to give your car top performance

Read the facts about the remarkable formula of today's Super Shell. You'll learn why every one of these nine ingredients is essential if you want top performance from today's "critical" engines.

ENGINES ARE much more finicky than they were even a decade ago. That's why your car needs every one of the nine ingredients in today's Super Shell.

Test drivers, noted for conservative statements, go so far as to call many recent engines "critical." In fact, many will tell you that you probably do not know how good your car's engine really is, simply because it may be running well below peak efficiency. Today's Super Shell gasoline is designed to help correct this state of affairs.

Read on if you want to learn exactly how each of the nine ingredients in Super Shell helps every car deliver its best. Shell's own test drivers call it top performance.

1. The quick-start component in Super Shell is so volatile it's kept underground.

The Butane in today's Super Shell is like the priming charge in a shotgun shell. Its quick-firing volatility is what gets you started fast on cold days. Quick-start Butane, in fact, vaporizes so easily that it is kept under pressure—22 million gallons of it—in a specially dug cavern, 40 stories underground!

Because of Butane, your engine can start in seconds. You save your battery. You don't waste gasoline by pumping, pumping, pumping raw fuel through your engine before it finally catches.

2. The fast warm-up ingredient in Super Shell acts like kindling for a fire.

The fast warm-up you get with Super Shell comes from its Pentane mix. Pentanes are "kindling" molecules—split from heavier hydrocarbons. They release their energy quickly, giving you top cold-weather performance in a hurry.

3. The mileage booster in Super Shell owes its energy to carloads of platinum catalyst.

Shell uses eight million dollars' worth of platinum catalyst to produce Platformate, the extra-energy, extra-mileage ingredient in today's Super Shell. But fortunately for you and for us, this precious stuff can be used over and over again.

The platinum catalyst, which gives the Platformate its odd name, helps to re-form petroleum into super-energy components—such as benzene, xylene and toluene.

These three alone release 11 per cent more energy per gallon than the best 100-octane aviation gasoline.

But make no mistake. This is not untamed energy. Far from it. The super-energy of Platformate is harnessed by the eight other ingredients in Super Shell, where it behaves so well you scarcely know it's there. That is until you note your extra mileage. After that, there is no doubt.

4. The anti-knock mix in Super Shell is so effective that one teaspoonful is enough to treat a gallon.

The human ear is nowhere near sensitive enough when you're trying to detect the slightest trace of knock. Shell scientists depend instead on an astonishing set of instruments that registers the faintest knocks on a delicate picture tube, and then photographs it with a high-speed camera.

The result—information which has enabled Shell scientists to prescribe an anti-knock mix so effective that one teaspoonful per gallon of gasoline is enough to raise the octane rating by five full points.

5. & 6. Both octane boosters in today's Super Shell have a story. One is linked with Jimmy Doolittle. The other comes from heating petroleum to 900 degrees.

Jimmy Doolittle helped pioneer the first of these high-octane ingredients for Shell aviation fuel. It is called Alkylate.

Alkylate—which took the dream of 100-octane gasoline out of the lab and put it into the sky—is now in Super Shell. It controls knocking in hot engines at high speeds far better than anything else yet available.

NOTE: Speaking of knock-control at high speeds, remember that car engines often turn faster than the engines of a DC-7.

The second octane-boosting ingredient is "cat-cracked" gasoline for power with a purr. This is petroleum that has actually been cracked under 900-degree heat and catalytic action. Its heavier molecules have been shattered into livelier, lighter ones.

The result is a super-octane ingredient that asserts its authority the moment you put your foot down.

NOTE: "Cat-cracking" refers to the use of a catalyst—the mysterious substance that can alter molecules without changing itself at all.

7. The anti-gum ingredient in Super Shell uses a chemical "policeman" to guard against gum-fouled carburetors.

Even the purest gasoline can form gum when stored. This gum clogs carburetors and fouls automatic chokes. But, with Super Shell, you needn't worry, since a special gum preventive does the trick.

It acts like a policeman controlling a mob. Regulates unstable elements to help keep them from clotting. Hence no gum problem.

8. The anti-icer in Super Shell takes care of the most mysterious stalls of all.

Super Shell's formula is adjusted as often as eight times a year to beat the weather. For example, whenever the temperature is likely to drop below forty-five degrees, an anti-icer is added.

Why add anti-icer at forty-five degrees? Because, even then, frost can form in your carburetor just as it does in your refrigerator. It can choke your engine dead. And you might never suspect what did it.

Super Shell's anti-icer tackles the problem by discouraging ice from sticking to metal parts. Result: you can forget about any carburetor icing problems.

9. TCP in Super Shell increases power, mileage and plug life.

In 1953, Shell first introduced TCP*—a revolutionary additive that neutralized certain harmful effects of combustion deposits. Today, Shell has developed a new improved TCP, called cresyl-diphenyl-phosphate.

TCP can give your car as much as 15 per cent more power and up to 17 extra miles per tankful. It can also make spark plugs last up to twice as long.

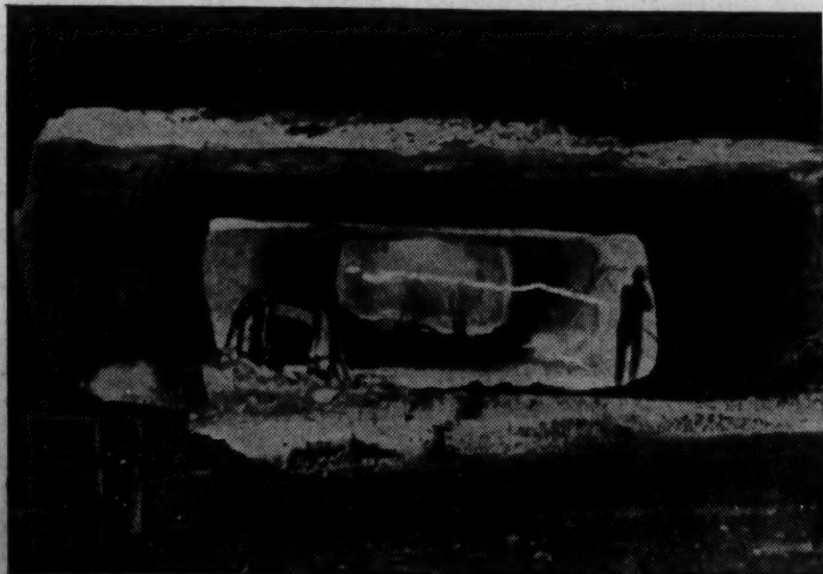

Ponder these statistics. They can have a refreshing effect on your car bills.

Test Super Shell for yourself Try today's Super Shell next time you fill up. You'll soon feel and hear a difference in the way your engine runs.

That difference is top performance.

A BULLETIN FROM SHELL RESEARCH
—where 1,997 scientists are working to make your car go better and better.

Shell's Butane Storage Cavern at Wood River, Illinois. Some 230,000 tons of rock were removed through a pipe only 42 inches wide. This tiny entrance posed quite a problem when getting a bulldozer down. Shell's solution? Cut the bulldozer up and weld it together again down below.

RALSTON-PURINA CO. MUST SHOW RECORDS

John S. Jones, retired manager of the sales analysis department of the chow division of Ralston-Purina Co. and a large stockholder in the company, has the right to inspect a series of records prepared for top executives of the company, the St. Louis Court of Appeals held today.

The court ordered St. Louis County Circuit Judge John J. Kelly Jr. to issue a writ of mandamus requiring the firm to permit Jones to inspect the records involved. It instructed Lewis B. Stuart, executive vice president of the firm and its chief financial officer, to pay Jones $750 for refusing him permission to inspect the records on three occasions in 1955 and 1959.

In his mandamus action in the county circuit court, Jones had sought permission to inspect a preliminary profit and loss statement, including estimates of future earnings; a monthly breakdown of income and expenses of each bill, product and division and a handwritten trial balance sheet prepared monthly on the basis of reports from plants and divisions.

The appeals court pointed out that Jones hold company stock valued at $2,600,000, and that state statutes permit stockholders to examine books of the company. Attorneys for the firm had argued it would be detrimental to the interests of stockholders to permit all stockholders to examine the records in question.

In his ruling last Dec. 1, Judge Kelly held that the records were of limited distribution among top officers, who treated them as confidential corporate memoranda.

The appeals court ruled that they were within the meaning of company books under the governing statutes, and that examination of them would permit a stockholder to understand the operations of the company better and therefore help him protect his interests.

QUEEN GETS WILD GREETING ON LAST STOP IN INDIAN TOUR

BANGALORE, India, Feb. 21 (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II ended a month of touring India with another wildly enthusiastic reception today.

This south Indian plateau city, which has been called India's most royalist center, turned out hundreds of thousands to cheer the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh after they flew here from Madras.

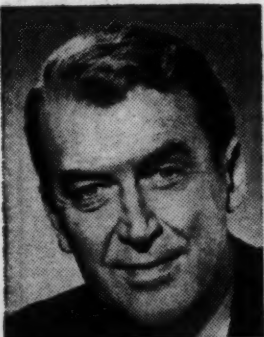

Crowds lined the road as the Queen drove in with the Maharajah of Mysore, who is the governor of Mysore state.

BRITAIN'S PLAN FOR RHODESIAN PEACE REJECTED

SALISBURY, Feb. 21 (UPI)—Prime Minister Sir Roy Welensky tonight angrily rejected Britain's plans to increase colored influence in Northern Rhodesia and promptly called 3000 army reservists to active duty.

Welensky, tough and controversial leader of the Central African Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland, "unequivocally" rejected plans disclosed earlier in the day in London to grant increased voting power to colored persons in Rhodesia.

NICOLAY—40 40 40
The Defense Ministry summoned four battalions of reservists to active duty tomorrow. An estimated 3000 men are involved.

Welensky, who has charged that attacks by African nationalists on his Central African Federation are supported by the Communists, appealed yesterday for help from the West.

Welensky charged that some Western countries had turned "to jelly" in the face of the surge of African nationalism that he said was spreading "bloody chaos" in Africa.

He said Western nations—especially Britain—must "come down off the fence on the issue of nationalism and race and declare firmly once and for all whether the future of Africa is to be dominated by one race or another or partnership between the races."

The prime minister was addressing a meeting of his United Federal party against a background of tension between white and African extremists that was threatening to flare into civil war in northern Rhodesia.

"I would like to remind you," Welensky said, "that The Congo today is a product of those very same forces which are at work throughout the continent and have been for the past decade."

"Nationalism, supported as it undoubtedly is by Communism and with equal certainty by elements we know so well in Britain and the United States, can produce the bloody chaos we see in The Congo, the uncertainty of Kenya, or the unruly mob that is from time to time let loose in Nyasaland," he added.

"But since its inception the vicious influence of African nationalism on the continent has grown and the doctrine of African racialism has spread widely and apparently turned the bone marrow of many in metropolitan countries to jelly."

He held out for his policy of step-by-step progress toward racial equality in a federal community of northern and southern Rhodesia and Nyasaland.

Welensky attacked what he called "intimidation" by African nationalists in the federation and attempts to take the reins of government "from the hands of responsible people."

He called the Africans' demands for "one man, one vote" unrealistic, saying most members of Rhodesian society were not capable of exercising the franchise, which will come only with education.

"Of course," he added, "I agree that the franchise should be open to all who can qualify, regardless of race."

RUSSIA REPORTS ITS FORCES HAVE NEW ATOM ARMS

© New York Times News Service
MOSCOW, Feb. 21—The Soviet Union said yesterday it has completed the reorganization of its armed forces and re-equipped them with improved nuclear and rocket weapons.

Marshal Vasily Sokolovsky said in an interview with the Soviet news agency Tass that the "power and military preparedness of the Soviet armed forces now are at a higher level than ever before." He said the striking power of the Soviet forces had been increased while the previously decreed reduction of manpower had "proceeded at full speed."

"The Soviet Army and Navy have completed their reorganization and re-equipment with qualitatively new weapons," Sokolovsky said. "The strategic rocket forces have been established as the principal arms of the armed forces of the U.S.S.R."

Sokolovsky was retired as chief of staff last spring for what his successor, Marshal M. V. Zakharov, described as reasons of health. The nature of his new duties have not been announced.

Mexican Industry Increases.
MEXICO CITY, Feb. 21 (AP)—The volume of industrial production rose 94 per cent in Mexico in the past 10 years, the government says.

2 EX-AIDS OF SYNGMAN RHEE BARRED FROM ASSEMBLY

SEOUL, Feb. 21 (AP)—A screening board of the South Korean National Assembly decided today to disqualify two lower house members under a law designed to punish former officials of ousted President Syngman Rhee.

The two, Lee Chai-hak, former vice speaker of the assembly and a leader in Rhee's discredited Liberal party, and Choi Hay-yung, former director of the Board of Audit, would be deprived of their civil rights, including the right to hold public offices and voting rights for seven years.

AMISH IN CONFLICT WITH LAWS, PLAN MOVE TO CANADA

CANTON, O., Feb. 21 (AP)—Seven Amish families near here have purchased farms and are preparing to move to Canada because of high-priced land and conflict with state school laws, Society Security and draft requirements.

The families are awaiting confirmation on immigration papers from Canadian authorities. They plan to leave late next month, or early in the summer.

The families will join an Amish settlement of 19 families at Owen sound, an Ontario community about 300 miles north of here.

The Amish, contend their children should not attend school beyond the eighth grade. To do so, they feel, would make the children worldly and would corrupt their lives.

Ohio has a compulsory education law for pupils up to 16 years of age.

"There are no high schools in Canada, except in large cities," an Amish spokesman said, "and a child can get out of school there at the age of 14 if he has good grades."

"Our church disagrees with the Social Security plan, because we have always taught our children to take care of the older people. . . . We also are opposed to universal military training in peacetime. During wartime we did government work in hospitals and in conservation, but we can't approve of this in peacetime."

KENNEDY SAYS BROTHERHOOD IS KEY TO U.S. WAY OF LIFE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)

"Human brotherhood is not just a goal," President Kennedy said last night. "It is a condition on which our way of life depends."

The President's remarks came in a message to the annual brotherhood dinner of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

In his message, the President urged "all Americans to join a nation-wide observance of Brotherhood Week." Brotherhood Week extends to Saturday.

COUNTY COUNCIL BILL TIED UP BY CONFUSION

By a Staff Correspondent of the JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 21—St. Louis county's legislative program remained in suspense after a hearing last night before the House Committee on Constitutional Amendments on a bill designed to broaden powers of the County Council.

The controversial measure, introduced by Representative F. Neil Aschemeyer (Dem.), Olivette, would authorize the County Council, on recommendation of the St. Louis County Planning Commission, to prohibit annexation of unincorporated land by county municipalities and also would give the council authority to initiate incorporation, disincorporation or consolidation of cities, towns, or villages.

However, the committee last night was left confused because most of the discussion centered about a "phantom substitute" which had not been submitted to the committee. The committee chairman, Representative M. E. Bauer (Dem.), Kansas City, at Aschemeyer's request, continued the hearing to allow time for the substitute measure to be prepared.

St. Louis county Councilman Albert Bailey (Dem.), Sixth District, chairman of the council's legislative committee, told reporters later that the substitute measure referred to in the hearings was one drawn up by the council as one which the council could support. He said Aschemeyer's bill was not submitted at the county's request.

Bailey said it had been planned to submit the substitute last night, but it had not been drafted in its final form. He said he hoped the council would have a definite proposal to make in two weeks.

More than 50 persons, representing municipalities and fire districts in the county, were present at the meeting to oppose Aschemeyer's measure, but only one of them spoke.

He was Mayor Vincent A. Bayer of Greendale, president of the county's municipal league, who said the league is "vigorously opposed" to Aschemeyer's proposed constitutional amendment.

He added that he believed no legislation was needed and he probably would oppose any similar bill.

JAPANESE RIGHTIST LEADER SEIZED IN MURDER INQUIRY

TOKYO, Feb. 21 (AP)—Police today arrested Bin Akao, extreme nationalist leader, on suspicion of inciting to murder. His party has been linked to the killing of Socialist party chairman Inejiro Asanuma and the stabbing of a leftist magazine publisher's wife.

Akao already had been ordered to trial in connection with Asanuma's killing but was free on bail. A former member of Akao's splinter party, Kazutaka Komori, 17 years old, is being held for wounding the wife of publisher Hoji Shimanaka and killing her maid. Komori told police he wanted to punish Shimanaka for publishing a fantasy in which revolutionaries seized Tokyo and beheaded the Emperor and his family.

Another former member of Akao's party, which security officials estimate has only about 30 members, stabbed Socialist leader Asanuma to death at a pre-election rally in October. The assassin, 17-year-old Otoyama Yamaguchi, committed suicide in his jail cell.

LATIN AMERICANS TO JOIN U.S. IN CANAL MANEUVERS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—Troops from some Latin American countries will join United States paratroopers in a simulated defense of the Panama Canal March 1-4.

The Defense Department said yesterday the military training exercises, labeled "Operation Solidarity," will be in keeping with the concept of collective hemisphere defense.

Military representatives from Western hemisphere nations will observe the joint maneuvers along with members of the inter-American defense board. The Defense Department did not identify the Latin American combat units which would join in the exercises.

KENNEDY PRESENTS SPAAK WITH U.S. FREEDOM MEDAL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—President Kennedy presented the United States Medal of Freedom to Paul-Henri Spaak, retiring secretary general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, today.

Ambassadors of all NATO countries attended the White House ceremony at which Mr. Kennedy conferred the award, a recognition of outstanding contributions to the nation's freedom and security.

The presentation was made after Spaak gave Mr. Kennedy what he described as "a long report on all the problems of NATO as I see them—political, economic and military." He is leaving his NATO post to return to Belgium and run for a seat in Parliament.

G.O.P. CIRCULATES COUNTY WOMAN'S LETTER TO NIXON

A letter written to former Vice President Richard M. Nixon by Mrs. Walter Laules of 4247 Galatin lane, Bridgeton, has been cited by Republican party officials as an apt expression of the challenge facing the party in the future.

Copies of the letter are being distributed to party officials throughout the United States. Mrs. Laules said she wrote to Nixon the morning after the election because of her disappointment in the outcome.

In the letter, she described herself as having had a Democratic background. The thought of voting for Republicans never had occurred to her, she said. The television debates, however, drew her interest to politics, and she learned that she liked the aims of the Republican party. She concluded that one reason many persons vote Democratic is because they know nothing of the Republican party. She urged Republicans to make a stronger effort in Missouri.

Mrs. Laules, 26 years old, is a college graduate and wife of a Ferguson High School teacher. She said she intends to become an active party worker.

C.A.B. SAYS EASTERN MUST STOP CALLING JETS DC-8B'S

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (UPI)—The Civil Aeronautics Board today ordered Eastern Air Lines to stop designating its jetliners as DC-8Bs in all advertisements. Such designation, the board said, is misrepresentation.

The decision concluded a bitter feud that began almost a year ago when Eastern began advertising its new jets as DC-8Bs. Delta Air Lines objected, saying the plane's manufacturer, Douglas, had never applied the letter B to any of the DC-8 series. The Eastern advertisements, Delta charged, implied that Eastern had a more modern jet than the DC-8s which Delta was flying.

Eastern retorted that its DC-8s had more powerful engines than Delta's; therefore it had a right to put it in a "newer plane" category.

DENIES PERJURY CHARGE LINKED TO 1959 ACQUITTAL

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. (AP)—A 24-year-old Chicago man has pleaded innocent to a perjury indictment in Jefferson county stemming from testimony he gave when he was tried for burglary in 1959 and acquitted. Charles William Mack testified Oct. 14, 1959, he was not the same Charles William Mack who was convicted of burglary in Pemiscot county, Mo., May 21, 1957. In 1959 Mack was acquitted on a charge of burglary in Jefferson county. The Mack tried in Missouri was sentenced to concurrent terms of two years for burglary and two years for felonious theft. The indictment charged the Mack in both cases is the same man. Mack appeared Saturday before Circuit Judge Randall S. Quindry. He is held in Mount Vernon in lieu of bond.

PROSECUTIONS URGED

SHERIDAN, Ill., Feb. 21 (UPI)—Gov. Otto Kerner has recommended that criminal charges be lodged against the superintendent and six officials of the State Industrial School for Boys here.

The Illinois Youth Commission announced yesterday the firing of Superintendent Clarence Farber, 57 years old, and suspension of six officials on charges they allowed boys to be beaten with paddles and confined naked in dark rooms known as "dungeons."

Other officials suspended were Capt. Melvin Bryant, Capt. Walter Bayer, Sgts. John Farrar,

FINDS NO FEAR OF FEDERAL MEHLVILLE VOTES TUESDAY CONTROL IN SCHOOL SURVEY ON $500,000 SCHOOL BONDS

Preliminary findings "indicate that chief state school officers strongly favor increasing federal aid to education and have no fear of federal control," Nicholas A. Masters, associate director of the Carnegie Foundation Study of State Politics, said today. He is a professor at Washington University.

Masters said that his preliminary findings are based on interviews with state superintendents, assistant superintendents and division heads in Missouri, Illinois and Michigan.

"State school officials responsible for administering current federally supported programs state that in no instance have federal officials attempted to exert any control or force any change in the administration of the programs," Masters said.

No increase in taxes will be required to finance the $500,000 bond issue which will be submitted to voters of the (Mehlville) R-9 school district next Tuesday, Kermit O. Bierbaum, supervisor of the district, said today.

The major project of the proposed bond issue is a new elementary school which would be constructed on the east side of Union road just south of Reavis Barracks road. Its estimated cost is $400,000. The issue would also provide for construction of a Central Office Building on the junior and senior high schools campus to house all school-district-wide administrative personnel. Its estimated cost is $100,000.

Bierbaum said the increase in assessed valuation, the retirement of bonds during the past year and a one-year extension of

How to Speak and Write Like a College Graduate

"Now, like thousands of intelligent men and women who have not had college training in English, you can gain the ability to speak and write like a college graduate without going back to school," says Don Bolander of Career Institute, Chicago.

"The new C.I. Method makes it easy. In only 15 minutes a day at home, you can build up your vocabulary, stop making embarrassing mistakes, improve your writing, discover the 'secrets' of interesting conversation."

According to Bolander, "Once you gain a mastery of English, you'll find yourself able to get ahead faster in your job and social life. You'll gain new poise and confidence plus the respect of those around you."

For those interested, Bolander has made available a free 32-page booklet that tells how you can gain the ability to speak and write like a college graduate, in your own home. Just put your name and address on a card or letter and send to Don Bolander, Dept. SL-1, 30 East Adams, Chicago 3, Illinois. The booklet will be mailed promptly with no obligation, of course.

Inactivity at the Airport

Bustling activity of a major airport is lacking in long lens view of Lambert-St. Louis Field, where full effect of wildcat strike of flight engineers was being felt today. Loading areas normally humming with arriving and departing craft are vacant except for Eastern Air Lines plane parked near first ramp. With the country's major airlines either shut down or engaged in only token operations, traffic at the airport was reduced to a fraction of normal and hundreds of employees were being furloughed, joining an estimated 85,000 expected to be idle in the country by nightfall.

Under Full Sail At United Nations

Billowing along in tribal robes, Alhaji Muhammad Ngileruma, chief of Nigeria's delegation to the United Nations, returns to seat after addressing the Security Council yesterday. He was one of the spokesmen for the group of African and Asian nations supporting the proposal that the U.N. use force in The Congo if necessary to avert a civil war. Proposal was part of a program, approved later, calling for removal of all Belgian and other foreign soldiers from The Congo to clear the way for political stability.

The Final Straw

Automobile is hung up on damaged barrier after skidding on rain-slick street and coming to rest in the front yard of the Rev. E. J. Stelle at Portland, Ore. It was the fifth automobile to crash into the yard in little more than two years, one too many in the view of the Rev. Mr. Stelle.

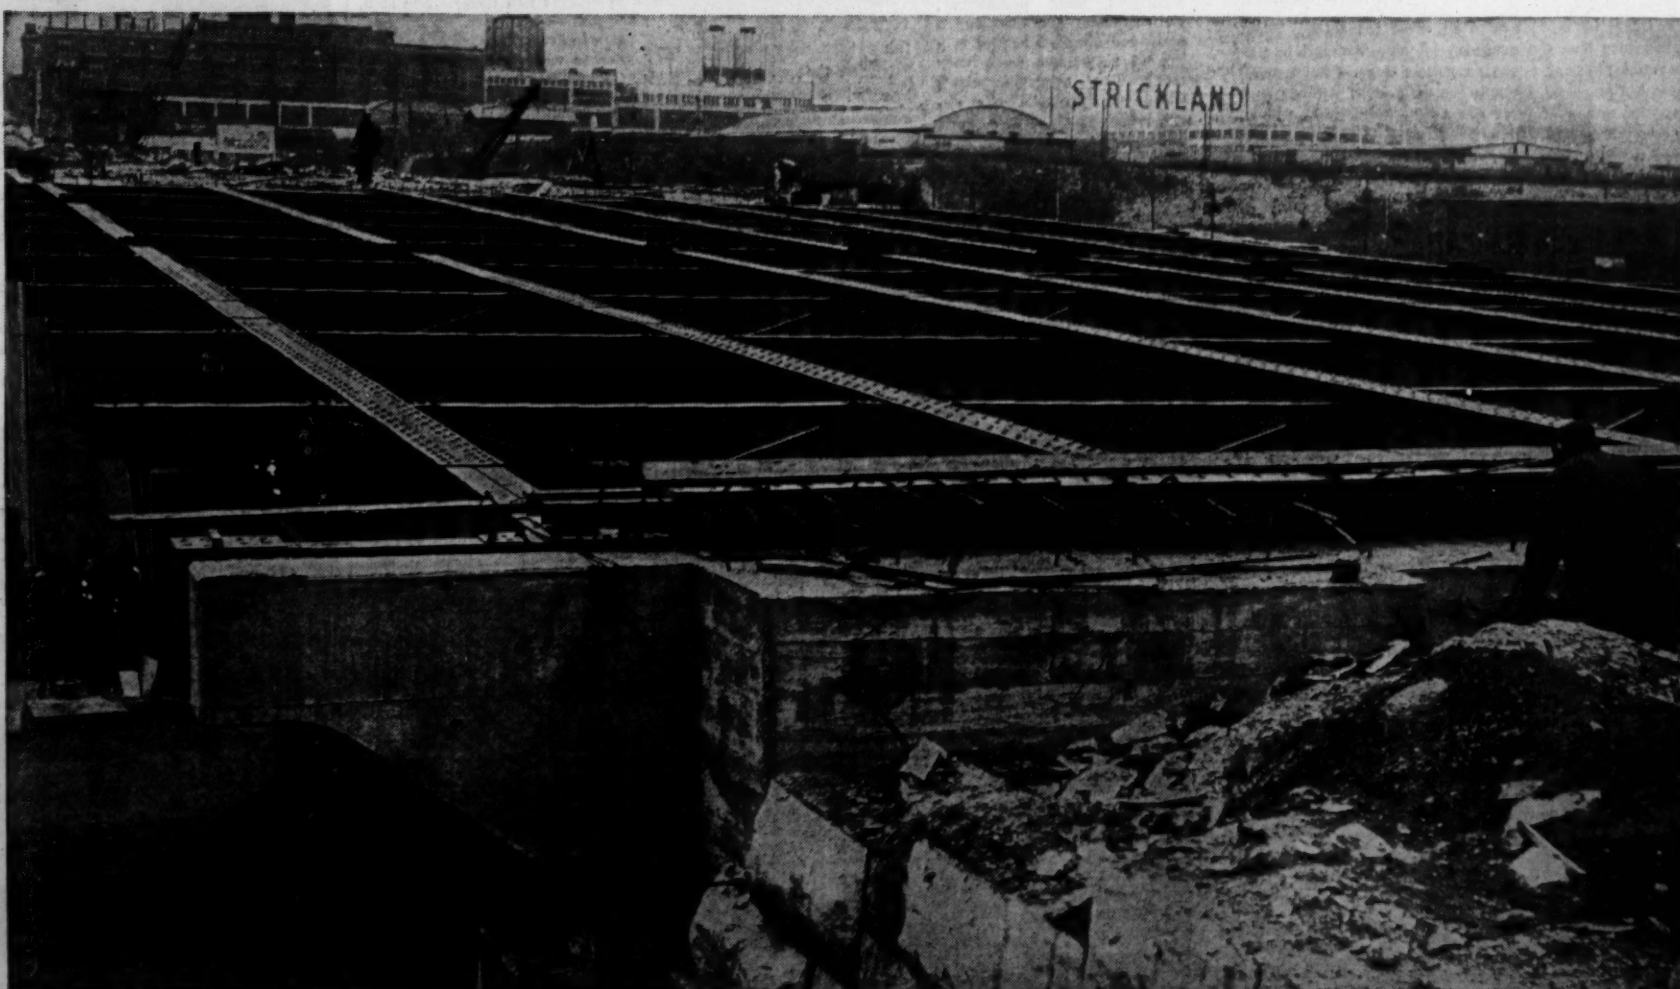

He was attempting to tie up the automobile in a legal snarl yesterday in an effort to encourage other drivers to be alert to the hazards in the area.

Stretching to The Future

Massive steel beams and cross pieces stretch off over section of Mill Creek valley in measure of progress being made in construction of new Grand boulevard viaduct. The new six-lane roadway is expected to be ready for traffic in about a year.

Clarissa Start Uncle Len Always Had Time for Kids

CHILDREN HAVE one-track minds as far as games are concerned; at least this has been my observation. For a while, we played Chutes and Ladders every night. Nothing else, just Chutes and Ladders. Then we went through a chess phase and then checkers.

CLARISSA START

He lived with my Aunt Olie and Uncle John. Aunt Olie is my mother's sister and Uncle Len was his baby brother, the only boy in a family of six. His sisters spoiled him one minute and scolded him the next.

"Leonard, will you never grow up?" they'd sigh. Uncle Len didn't act especially grown up and this made him a joy to children. He'd been a soldier in World War I and this made him a glamorous figure to start with, but also he was just a big tow-headed kid. Work was never important. He loved fun.

I saw a lot of Uncle Len because my parents lived on a farm on Telegraph road and when I started school I stayed in town with my relatives. I went to Froebel School and lived at Aunt Lil's and Uncle Howard's right across the street. But because Aunt Lil worked, I walked three blocks to Aunt Olie's house on California avenue after school and stayed there for dinner.

Every night after dinner, Uncle Len and I played dominoes. I can still remember the warm kitchen, the smell of Uncle John's pipe, Uncle Len's booming laugh as a play of mine sent him "to the bonnyard" for dominoes.

It never occurred to me that this nightly ritual might be less than exciting for Uncle Len. It never occurred to me that it wasn't the most natural thing in the world for a young man to sit down with a little girl night after night and play a game.

I knew, of course, that Uncle Len was younger than my parents or aunts who were all terribly old, being in their 30s. It wasn't until recent years that it occurred to me that he had been young—27 or 28—and must have had a few other interests in life than being a fond uncle. I can only assume that after he walked me back to Aunt Lil's at 8:30 each night, he stopped at the friendly tavern with the boys or went out on dates. But never can I recall that his own plans came ahead of our nightly game.

Uncle Len finally did settle down. He married Aunt Marie and they had Rosemary. I was in college when I heard the bad news. He was sitting in the kitchen one night, oddly enough, playing dominoes with a neighbor's child who adored him as children always did. One minute he was laughing and the next he was slumped over the table. She thought he was teasing and tried to pull him up. He had died immediately of a cerebral hemorrhage.

They say when the ambulance came to take him away, he was still smiling.

Ann Landers

Husband Makes Her Sick

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Is it possible that I am allergic to my husband? I'm perfectly fine every day after he leaves for work. I hum and sing as I do the housework. The minute I hear his key in the lock my heart begins to pound like a hammer. I feel faint and sometimes I get dizzy.

ANN LANDERS

When we visit friends or relatives together I feel uneasy and sometimes I shake for no reason. When I see these people without him I'm perfectly at ease.

My husband is a domineering man. His relatives call him "Mr. Always Right." It seems as if I am always on the defensive. What does this sound like to you?

ALWAYS WRONG.

Dear Always: You're on the right track. Your awareness that the presence of your husband has a harmful physical effect on you is a good beginning. Many women go through life half sick, without the foggiest notion of what ails them. (Sometimes it's a mother, a mother-in-law, a brother or a Dutch uncle.) You need outside help. Ask your doctor to have a talk with your husband. And ask him if he thinks both you and your husband need therapy—or just you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a junior in high school and broken-hearted. We have lived in this house since I was 6 years old and I love it. I've grown up with the same kids and our high school is the greatest.

My father's business is 10 miles away. Suddenly he has decided he hates to drive so much and he wants to move. The thought of not graduating with my friends makes me sick. I've tried to make my dad see how important this is to me but he says it's childish and that once I'm in another school I'll forget all about this one. Please, Ann, help me. I am getting physically ill over this.

CRACKING UP.

Dear Cracking: If this means so much to you why not ask permission to room and board with a close friend's family five days a week and go home weekends? Such an arrangement would let you finish high school with your friends and would solve your problem neatly. Good luck.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm addressing these remarks to "Overweight Pat" and to anyone else who believes that garbage about overweight people being jolly, lots of fun and nausum.

My husband started to put on his extra 100 pounds, (yes, you read right) immediately after we were married. I've listened to that line "If you love me you'll overlook the fat" till I'm blue in the face. He never wanted to hear MY theory—that if he loved ME more than the mashed potatoes and gravy and cheese-pie, he'd stop the gluttony.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-age Smoking," including with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Write her in care of the Post-Dispatch.

'Gorge Warshington' as Children See Him

Father of Our Country Fought the British Because They Put 'Tacks in Our Tea'

The author of the following article is a teacher in the R-6 (Eureka) school district, who has found in seven years of teaching elementary school youngsters can come up with some unique misconceptions.

By Harold Dunn

BEGINNING around the first of February, comments about George Washington start coming from the classrooms as thick as chalk dust. Here's an example, written by a 10-year-old:

"George Washington is one of my favorite like when he didn't let the British know he was out of bullets but kept firing. I read many things on him in a book. I was a brown one for 14 days. I am glad he comes but once a year."

Most of the kids' comments about our first President are short and to the point. Here's the way one excitable moppet retold the story of the famous cherry tree incident:

"Once upon a time Gorge Washington had a birthday. And his father gave him a shiny new ax. And Gorge took it outside and started chopping a stowt cherry tree. Oh! And his father came home and looked at what he had done. Oh! So he asked Gorge and Gorge said he had, and that is all."

One knowledgeable sixth grade girl strayed from the subject of America's most famous ancestor to a discussion of ancestors in general:

"I think ancestors are important to us because without them there wouldn't have been any mothers or fathers, and your parents wouldn't have had any and neither would you, probably." Another 11-year-old took up the subject of the Revolutionary War.

After pointing out that it was brought about by "the British putting tacks in our tea," he soon worked himself into a literary fury. By the time he got to the third paragraph, he was

Opening lead—four of spades. YOU CAN'T SEE the adverse hands when you play the dummy, but the defenders might just as well have their cards exposed in some deals, because you can figure out exactly what each one has.

For a sample of good card reading by declarer, we have this hand where South is playing three notrump. West leads a spade and East wins the K-Q and shifts to the jack of hearts. Declarer does not have to be a genius to deduce that East has no more spades when he discontinues the suit, and South therefore makes a mental note that West started with six spades.

At this point, also, declarer has reason to be optimistic about the eventual result. With eight sure tricks, all he needs to make the contract is a normal break in diamonds or clubs.

So, after winning the heart return with the ace, South cashes the K-Q of diamonds to see where he stands and discovers that the suit is divided 4-1. This complicates matters somewhat, because he now needs four club tricks to make the hand.

However, by this time, South knows practically every card in the defenders' hands, and to make the contract he has only to take advantage of this knowledge. He first cashes the king of hearts, West dropping the queen. Then South leads the two of clubs to the ace, West following suit. West's hand becomes an open book. He is known to have started with exactly six spades, four diamonds, two hearts and a club.

East therefore started with the J-9-7-4 of clubs. Now the simplest way to make the hand is to lead the 10 of clubs from dummy. If East plays the seven, South plays the eight, knowing that the finesse is sure to work.

If East covers the 10 with the jack, South wins with the queen and has the K-8 left over East's 9-7. The ace of diamonds provides the entry to dummy to take the proven finesse.

Patrice Munsel Knows Secret of Flair

By Josephine Lowman

WE GET INTO SUCH RUTS! I was just thinking about how much zest and fun it would add to life if we would live a little more imaginatively, if we would express our individual tastes with less fear and timidity. We are apt to dress alike, to furnish and decorate our homes in much the same manner, to read the same books and do the same things.

Yet those women who are known for their "flair" use a secret ingredient which is available to anyone. According to opera star Patrice Munsel, this secret is imagination. Miss Munsel, known as a woman who has the ability to make the unique work for her, says:

"Imagination gives you an outlet for self-expression and highlights your personality. For instance, everyone has a plain and simple suit that is a joy to wear, but looks very much like everyone else's simple suit. I add a flattering, eye-catching hat, and voila that outfit is mine alone."

In the area of clothing nothing excites Miss Munsel as much as hats. She owns every shape and kind from tailored clothes to plumed evening hats and uses them constantly as the personality touch of her costumes. I think that many women have forgotten that a hat can dramatize and personalize the simplest outfit. It also can add an extremely flattering touch with line and color. Patrice Munsel even has a reversible hat, a cloche that can be turned inside out—pays for daytime, and on the reverse, white mink for evening. This much traveled, talented and attractive young woman has designed several wardrobes for herself. One is a resort wardrobe of 52 pieces, all of them red, pink or white cotton or organdy. By interchanging the different parts she can create outfits for every occasion and hour. For instance, one beach-robe, by reversing its side, can be worn as an evening skirt. And all of this fits into one suitcase!

Patrice Munsel is equally imaginative in the decor of her home. She has taken unpainted furniture (or stripped the finish from old furniture) and applied decorative designs of her own fancy, or antiqued the older pieces with various spray paints (gold, white, gray, etc.) and then outlined the carved designs with an art brush to create shadow effects.

She believes in strong colors in clothes and decor. She said, "Most women have the imagination to dress themselves and their homes with lovely personal distinction, but many are too timid to follow their own inclinations. But whether it's wearing a charming hat or doing the living room in a startling color, imagination pays off in compliments and in self-satisfaction."

It also pays off because it scratches the creative itch we all have and adds color, novelty and variety to daily living.

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo

MANY OF OUR READERS SEEM TO FIND HUMOR IN THE INCONSISTENCIES OF SIGNS AND LABELS—LIKE THESE FOR EXAMPLE—

AND ABOUT THOSE "SORRY" SIGNS. DO YOU THINK THE MOTEL OWNERS REALLY MEAN IT?

Pet Doctor

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

ready to take on the British army by himself. "Then the British thought they were so smart they attacked Washington all over. But we showed them. Ha Ha. There was no use there trying to outfight us because we were right. After we showed them, they got out so we could have the forth of July."

I have one soiled sheet of tablet paper that looks like an epic Revolutionary battleground between a boy and a spelling book. Here's a one-sentence excerpt:

"Some people of them did not want Washington to fight the British, but he was not angustous anktous caring about this."

Considering the size of the penmanship, this next young fellow must have been under the influence of John Hancock as he expressed his opinion of Washington:

"Washington is Important because if it Hadn't been for him we would be Overrun today. As a Matter of fact, we would maybe be Starving, Freezing and having Nothing to wear."

Children have a knack for discarding everything but what they consider to be the most essential information. More than one youngster has brusquely wrapped up Washington's lifetime of yearnings, struggles and triumphs into a neat one or two-paragraph package. Here's one that ends with the finality of a dropped egg:

"George Washington was born in 1732, supposedly on his birthday. He married Martha Washington and pretty soon became the father of his country. He was rich and famous and happy, but at last he did something wrong. He caught cold and died in 1799."

See what I mean? You can't argue with this young writer. When she's through, she stops writing—which is a good example for grown-ups to follow.

Q. My Siamese cat eats nylon and other fabrics. Can you tell me how to break it of this habit?

A. Many cats seem to develop a taste for fabrics, like blankets and articles of clothing. Although most letters that I have read complain about their sucking wool, some of the newer fabrics hold an equal attraction. Even felines which are on a perfectly balanced diet, containing all the minerals and vitamins, will acquire this craving. Recent research seems to suggest that the cat is looking for the natural oils in the wool, oils which it normally got from animals it preyed upon. It was reported in one of the veterinary journals that placing a little lanolin on the cat's nose (about twice a week) for it to lick, will cure this condition.

When Shelbina, Mo., Got 'Secret' Ballot

THINGS HAPPEN to small towns. The railroads forget to run trains through them. The new highways go around them. On Main Street the dust seems thicker and the paint faded. When a man returns after long absence he thinks perhaps he should have kept the town where it was, at a distance and in his memory.

JACK RICE

My town is Shelbina in northeastern Missouri and many years ago I elected Kenneth Lasley its leading citizen. That is a personal election conducted by absentee ballot but I am satisfied Shelbina couldn't do better itself. Lasley never has failed me. Recently he explained a sign in Shelbina that has nagged me for 30 years.

The sign is "TORCHLIGHT" spread across a store front on the main street. The style of the lettering is Steamboat Gothic and the sign would be framed and petted and made a commercial asset on any storefront lucky enough to have it in Gaslight Square.

"I guess 30 years is about par for you to nurse curiosity before asking a question," Lasley said when I inquired about the Torchlight sign. "It's been painted over twice but it's still the most prominent sign on the street."

He said the Torchlight was a newspaper and the sign was painted in the 1890s when the building was a print shop. The sign-painter was just passing through town. There was strong suspicion of vagabond craftsmen and when the Torchlight's publishers, young Fred Haskin and young Fred Naeter, hired the man the solid business men warned them of folly.

"The sign won't last a year," the solid business men said. "It'll wash off for sure in the spring rains and if they don't wipe it out, the fall rains will."

Their sign stayed bright and their newspaper prospered. Naeter and Haskin came of voting age for the election of 1896 and fortune couldn't heap enough blessings on them. Missouri extended to towns of less than 5000 the Australian ballot—guaranteed secret. That was a blessing to Naeter and Haskin, leading newsmen in the heart of Little Dixie's nest of Democrats, because they shared a secret vice. They were Republicans.

They went to the polls in the morning and voted for McKinley in Australian secrecy. They came away from the polls, nodding and smiling as though they had voted straight Democratic and had a right to live in the community.

"By noon," said Lasley, "they knew better. The line-up to the Torchlight office door reached half-way down the street. People were waiting patiently for the pleasure of canceling their subscriptions with appropriate remarks."

Haskin fled, eventually to Washington, D.C., and wrote a syndicated column that sold to more than 100 newspapers. Woodrow Wilson told him to use the family door of the White House any time he wanted to chat. Naeter and his brother started a paper in Cape Girardeau, the Southeast Missouriian, and it has prospered for more than half a century.

Now I see "TORCHLIGHT" as a sign of permanency, fit to challenge a Democrat and inspire a Republican and keep the faith alive in small towns. Maybe, if the citizens look at that sign often enough, they'll be bold enough to bring back the Saturday night band concerts.

The 'Tough' Teacher

DEAR MRS. SCHRAUB: Do you feel that a teacher must be very strict to really teach a child? My son has a real toughy this year. The children are petrified of her and she really runs her fourth grade as an old-fashioned classroom.

SHIRLEY SCHRAUB

The only thing missing is the rod. I'm told that she drags boys who won't behave into the coatroom by the ears. A "good shake" when a child is not doing something properly is already accepted. I can't see this. I feel the children are too tense really to learn. My husband says that she'll teach them and they'll never forget it.

MRS. S. R. R.

Dear Mrs. R.: They'll never forget HER, you mean. We all had one teacher we can never forget. Usually, though, it is the person we remember, not what she taught us.

Any teacher who has to resort to ear pulling or shaking her students, needs a lesson in self-control herself.

An intelligent teacher starts the day with a smile and sets the atmosphere and tempo in the room for all. The teacher who wants to direct the mind of a child, must first put it in a receptive mood, and there is nothing like a friendly face to do it.

DEAR MRS. SCHRAUB: Why don't they "skip" children today as they did when I was in school? If we were good students, we were put a grade ahead and that was that. I know that I graduated from high school when I was 16 years old, but my son, who is a very good student, will be 17½ when he gets out of high school. I know he would have been able to finish his studies at the same age I did and have that extra year and a half for advanced work. I can't see why they have changed from this method. O.B.M.

Dear Mr. M.: Acceleration or "skipping" has advantages and disadvantages. It does give an earlier start on a career and keeps a bright child on his toes.

Skipping a child out of his age group can cause emotional and social problems for this child. He will be the very youngest in the group and not necessarily socially mature enough to feel he really belongs.

A child may be ready to skip in one or two subjects, but not in all.

On the other hand, I personally feel that acceleration can be a good and workable method for youngsters who are able. Many colleges today are accepting these students for "early admission," which means entering college at the end of their third year high school. There is no doubt these students can spend their time more productively in college.

75 Years of Fostering the Arts in St. Louis

Artists' Guild, a Training Ground for Painters and Actors, Observing Anniversary This Month

By Clarissa Start
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff

"ONE ARTIST is a genius. Two artists is an argument. More than two is a revolution."

This remark by one St. Louis artist to another may be true but in strife or serenity, artists still like to get together and enjoy studio shop talk. St. Louis artists have found their meeting place through the Artists' Guild, an organization which has been fostering arts and artists for 75 years.

Celebration of that anniversary is now in full swing. A preview party was held Saturday for the exhibit of Thomas Hart Benton paintings, and on Sunday, Feb. 26, a brunch will be given to honor past presidents of the Artists' Guild and also to celebrate the eightieth birthday of old-time member Guy Blackmer.

As committees, groups and veteran Guild members get together, many a sentence begins with "Remember when..."

"I remember when I joined the Artists' Guild in 1916," said Mildred Bailey Carpenter, who with her husband, Fred Green Carpenter, is an honorary life member of the Guild. "I thought it was the most glamorous place in St. Louis, that the people were simply too fabulous, and that if I ever could be a member I'd be in seventh heaven. The night that the Guild president, Clark McAdams stopped to talk to me I thought I was talking to one of the gods."

Clark McAdams was one of two Post-Dispatch editors—the other being George S. Johns—who aided and encouraged the establishment of the Guild.

Writers, musicians, and business men, whose principal contribution to art (and no small one) was to purchase it, have been among the active members of the Artists' Guild, as well as artists, sculptors and architects. But the club had its beginning with a group of artists who called themselves The Sketch Club and met at the studio of Robert Brinkhurst on Locust street between Eighteenth and Nineteenth.

According to Holmes Smith, who compiled a history of the Guild on its fiftieth anniversary in 1936, the new art organization was formed in the winter of 1886, and one of the first burning issues was whether women artists should be admitted. They were.

Dues were low in the early days and the group moved around nomadically from various rented rooms to the basement of the old downtown Art Museum. According to the Smith history, the early days were not without disappointments. For instance an exhibition of paintings and sculpture on Oct. 20, 1906 was described as "a fizzle as only nine persons attended."

On another occasion, the secretary recorded with feeling, "The beer gave out early." Occasionally newspaper accounts gave the impression that the activities of the Guild were spacy or daring, wrote Smith, adding:

"The most daring feat I recall was that of our youngest lady member who, upon special request, would leap over the back of a chair. This flight would be taken in evening dress with neatness and dispatch."

It was in 1907 under the presidency of George S. Johns that a fund campaign and an effort to obtain a permanent home was started.

"Johns got W. K. Bixby to donate a building," recalled Gustav Koetsch, who, at 83, is the oldest Guild member. "It wasn't adequate so Bixby sold the building and gave them the funds. They still didn't have enough so Mrs. Hudson E. Bridge, who lived on one of the private West End places, said she'd start a $500 life membership drive. She said, 'I'll just go up one side of my street and down the other and enlist my neighbors in this cause,' and she did."

Louis C. Spiering, architect, designed the building for the present site, 812 Union boulevard. There was some criticism from those who felt the location was too far west and that people wouldn't want to journey that far from downtown, but the cornerstone was laid, the building erected and the Guild entered a golden age of activity.

Johns was succeeded by Clark McAdams as president and it was he who conceived the idea of enlarging the building to include a little theater with additional gallery and rathskeller space. With the aid of members and friends, again including Bixby, funds were raised and the theater addition was opened Tennessee Williams and Bill

The late Grace Gooding, Guild secretary for 39 years, was fond of telling how a delegation went to the station to meet Maeterlinck only to find he apparently was not on the expected train. After much delay, confusion and investigation, they found the great man, sound asleep in a car that had been switched onto a side track.

The Guild rathskeller or "crypt" has been the scene of many a gay party including the big costume balls from the Egyptian Ball of 1921 to the Renaissance Ball of 1935 and some of the most hilarious memories are of those parties. Gus-in November 1916. As a bold gesture the opening night ticket price was the unbelievably steep sum of $5, but even so the theater had a full house. The Guild proudly proclaimed that it now had "all the arts under one roof."

"For a while the Little Theater outshone the Guild," Mrs. Carpenter said, "and it has had many distinguished graduates. Just last weekend I saw three of them on television, Robert Karnes as the attorney opposing Perry Mason on one show; Barney Phillips (formerly Barney Ofer) in 'Checkmate,' and a few nights later, Sarah Selby in 'Whirlybirds.' Mary Wickes, Gene Wood, Charity Grace appeared in Little Theater shows along with local TV personalities Bob Hille and Harry (Texas) Bruce Gibbs. Tennessee Williams and Bill Inge tried out their early plays there."

McAdams, who served as president from 1912 to 1936, worked tirelessly for the Guild and was fond of referring to it as his "golf club." It was he who built up a system of annual money prizes to encourage young artists. Many top St. Louis artists received their first cash awards at the Guild, among them Fred Conway, Charles Quest, Siegfried Reinhardt, Oscar Thalinger, Aimee Schweig, Tanasko Milovich, Edward Boccia, Warren Spaulding, Rodney Winfield, Miriam McKinnie, Belle Cramer, Louis Horwitz and Fred and Mildred Carpenter.

Meetings, now held once a month, used to be held twice a month with always a different chairman for each meeting.

"If a speaker turned out to be pompous or dull, we were not above turning out the lights or dropping knives and forks noisily," Mrs. Carpenter recalled.

Speakers were rarely dull, however, and often were brilliant. Lord Dunsany once wrote a play for the Little Theater. Frank Lloyd Wright made headlines with his blast at St. Louis architecture when he spoke to the Guild. Edgar Lee Masters, Hugh Walpole and Maurice Maeterlinck were among the celebrated visitors.

The late Grace Gooding, Guild secretary for 39 years, was fond of telling how a delegation went to the station to meet Maeterlinck only to find he apparently was not on the expected train. After much delay, confusion and investigation, they found the great man, sound asleep in a car that had been switched onto a side track.

The Guild rathskeller or "crypt" has been the scene of many a gay party including the big costume balls from the Egyptian Ball of 1921 to the Renaissance Ball of 1935 and some of the most hilarious memories are of those parties. Gustav Koetsch recalls the year he was Neptune. Mrs. Carpenter remembers being Pierrette to D. R. Fitzpatrick, Post-Dispatch cartoonist's Piervot, remembers also Prof. Otto Heller as a bull fighter, photographer Takuma Kajewara as a performing seal. Not at the balls but at every Christmas party, Frank Crunden was Santa Claus.

The aim of the Artists' Guild set out by its founders was to "emphasize the relationship of all the arts, the fellowship which should exist between professional and amateur and the connection between the artist and his public," as well as "to promote and maintain high standards of excellence." It has attracted members from all strata and of varying status.

"Some are artists, some buy art and some just like artists," Mrs. Carpenter describes the membership.

The Guild has five honorary life members, including the Carpenters, Koetsch, Charles Gault and Mary Powell. At the Feb. 26 brunch, 10 past presidents will be honored—Scott MacNutt, Percy Ramsay, Henry Chadeayne, Alexander Langsdorf, William Sims, James Harmon, Francis Rickly (now serving another term as president), Wayne Townsend, Dudley Higginson and Rodney Winfield. Also honored will be Mrs. Clark McAdams and Guy Blackmer, retired business man who served the Guild as volunteer treasurer.

The Guild has not only a past but a future. Mrs. Joseph Newman, fund raising chairman, points out, "There is a need to strengthen the Guild and there will always be a need for the Guild. Young artists should have a place where they can associate with one another and with other artists, where they can get encouragement through scholarships and awards, and have a gallery to exhibit their work where the public can see it."

The merits of art often have been controversial and the Guild has had its share of controversy and conflict between schools of art, styles of art and persons who would do things differently. There was a mild fracas when the St. Louis Community Playhouse little theater group and the Guild parted company. There have been the ups and downs and crises of any organization of years standing. The Art Section Committee which sets up the four major shows a year and the numerous one-man and one-woman exhibits in between must combine patience and psychology.

With all the changes in the times and in standards of art, one thing has not changed.

"The person who receives a prize thinks the jury was superb," said Mrs. Carpenter. "The person who didn't get a prize thinks the jury was the worst we ever had."

College Girls Plan Holidays

By Peggy Johnson

ST. LOUIS GIRLS in eastern colleges are making plans for their spring vacations. Some will return here to spend the holiday with their parents, others will visit friends, and still others will travel to popular resorts.

MISS CHRISTIAN... To Vacation in South.

Miss Frances Cordonnier, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Justin J. Cordonnier, 6306 Washington avenue, University City, who attends Smith College, will come to St. Louis about March 22. At this time she will complete plans for her wedding, which will take place next summer. Her engagement to Gillett Welles III of Elmira, N.Y., was announced during the Christmas holidays.

Another Smith student, Miss Sheila Clare Morrin, will spend the first week of her holiday skiing at Stowe, Vt. The daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Kevin Charles Morrin, 5251 Westminster place, she will return home for the next week. Spring vacation at Briarcliff College starts March 22. Miss Josephine Christian, a sophomore, is planning to go to Delray Beach, Fla. Miss Christian's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Christian, 9936 Litzinger road, Ladue, have had as their guest for the past week Mr. Christian's sister, Mrs. Leonard Roberts of Anniston, Ala.

Another Briarcliff student, Miss Elizabeth Jamison Folk, will visit friends in New York. She will be the guest of Miss Joan Johnson and Miss Barbara Rockefeller for several days, after which her mother, Mrs. Jamison Folk, 801 Clara avenue, will join her March 26. They will be guests at the Stanhope Hotel. Broadway shows and several shopping sprees are on their agenda.

Miss Ann Long's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Adelbert Long, 5135 Westminster place, are expecting her to come to St. Louis about March 17 from Vassar College, where she is a sophomore.

Miss Lucetta Ann Gardner, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rogers Gardner, 560 North Spode road, Creve Coeur, will go to Nassau with a chaperoned group from Sweet Briar (Va.) College. If conditions permit, the young women will visit other islands before returning to school April 3. Spring vacation at Sweet Briar will begin March 24. Miss Gardner will spend next weekend at the midwinter festivities at the University of Virginia.

Kretschmar-Jeschke Engagement Told

THE ENGAGEMENT of Miss Mary Louise Jeschke to Ernest Theodore Kretschmar, a first lieutenant in the Marine Corps, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Jeschke of El Paso, Tex. Lt. Kretschmar's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kretschmar, 8 Log Cabin drive, Ladue.

The announcement was made Saturday evening at a small family gathering. The prospective bride's parents will give a reception at their home March 5, to introduce their future son-in-law to their friends. Miss Jeschke attended Texas Western University, El Paso. She is currently studying music in El Paso.

Lt. Kretschmar is a graduate of Country Day School and of the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md. He is currently stationed at Twenty-Nine Palms, Calif. He is the brother of Miss Nancy Kretschmar, who will be married March 25 to William Bright Armistead. Miss Jeschke will come to St. Louis to be a bridesmaid at the wedding.

The bridegroom-elect is the grandson of Mrs. Phillip Edward Harth and the late Mr. Harth and the late Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kretschmar, all of St. Louis, and the great-grandson of Mrs. John L. Mitchell, who lives in Greenwich, Connecticut.

The wedding will take place May 27 in El Paso.

Children's Play by Junior League.

THE PLAY, "CINDERELLA," will be presented by the Junior League Children's Theater Saturday and the following Saturday, March 4, in the auditorium of the Academy of the Visitation, 5448 Cabanne avenue. There will be two performances each day, at 11:30 o'clock in the morning and at 1:30 in the afternoon.

MRS. MARTIN... In Junior League Play.

This short version of "Cinderella" has been adapted for the theater by Ann Marshall Rice Cronin. The leading role of Cinderella will be played by Mrs. Douglas V. Martin III. Others in the cast will be: Mrs. Carl C. Ulstrup, prince charming; Mrs. Stuart McKeldin, fairy godmother; Mrs. Foster W. Holmes and Mrs. Kenneth Robl, the two sisters; Mrs. Robert Chapman, the stepmother; Mrs. Harry N. Fisher, the jester, and Mrs. Martin Schweg Jr., the chamberlain.

Mrs. Herbert E. Taylor is chairman of the Junior League Children's Theater this year, assisted by Mrs. John B. McFeely. Professional director is Mrs. Edward (Dorothy) Gillan. Mrs. Fisher is assistant volunteer director and Mrs. Howard T. Heintz is in charge of production.

All four performances of the play are open to the public. Mrs. John R. Gannett is ticket chairman.

Maid of Honor at Mardi Gras Ball

MISS KAREN QVISTGAARD PETERSEN, daughter of Mrs. Donald C. Elsaesser, 1200 South Watson road, Ladue, was a maid of honor at the Ball of the Mystic Krewe of Comus, one of the most exclusive of the New Orleans Mardi Gras parties. Carnival festivities were concluded with Comus and Rex Balls, both last Tuesday in the New Orleans Municipal Auditorium. Miss Petersen made her bow with six other maids of honor. She wore a white velvet gown, decorated with pearls and sequins, and held a bouquet of white orchids.

Miss Petersen went south from Beloit (Wis.), College and stayed with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Aage Q. Petersen, who introduced her at a reception last Monday. Earlier in the week she was presented at the Mystic Club Ball.

Mr. and Mrs. Elsaesser, their daughter, Miss Carol Ann, and Mrs. Elsaesser's mother, Mrs. Oliver Lucas, 4931 Lindell boulevard, who joined Miss Petersen in New Orleans, returned home Thursday. The debutante flew immediately to college to resume her sophomore studies.

The group stayed at the new Royal Orleans Hotel, where Miss Petersen's father, Morten Q. Petersen, Shreveport, La., gave a breakfast for her.

At Military Ball

Mrs. Eugene D. Nims will be guest of honor at a luncheon to be given by Capt. Louis Spencer Plateau Chapter, U.D.C., tomorrow at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Frost Chadeayne, 6163 Washington avenue. Mrs. Nims is honorary president of the chapter which is named for her father, Mrs. E. Van Wilkerson of Kansas City, Mo., and Mrs. Merrell Taylor of Troy, Mo., will be here for the party. Mrs. Alexander P. Fox Jr., is chapter president.

Auxiliary Plans Luncheon and Panel Talks

By Fay Proffitt

THE ANNUAL Public Relations day luncheon of the Woman's Auxiliary to St. Louis County Medical Society will take place at noon Thursday in the library of the old St. Louis County Health Center, 651 South Brentwood boulevard, Clayton. The program will feature a panel of experts speaking on "The Problem of Aging." Mrs. Maurice A. Diehr is auxiliary president.

Mrs. Joseph B. Kendis is public relations chairman. Appearing on the panel will be Dr. William H. Reals, head of the adult education department of Washington University and a member of the White House Conference on Aging; Walter M. Beattie Jr., planning director of services to the aging of the Health Welfare Council of Metropolitan St. Louis; and Dr. Charles Miller Jr., secretary of St. Louis County Medical Society and chairman of the society's "Past Sixty-Five" committee. Guests will include leaders of all county civic and health agencies.

Luncheon will be served in the Health Center library after which guests will assemble in the auditorium for the program. Assisting Mrs. Kendis are Mrs. Robert A. Doisy and Mrs. Harvey Walker Jr. Mrs. Paul Miles is chairman of the hostess committee assisted by Mrs. Maximilian Weitman, Mrs. Josiah Walton, Mrs. Edward Helbing, Mrs. Robert Mayer and Mrs. Charles Molden.

Mrs. Arthur A. Westrup and Mrs. Weitman have created a centerpiece for the buffet table which shows a grandmother doll seated in a rocking chair surrounded by flowers. The

Why let winter housework ruin your hands?

This super-lotion protects and saves your hands long after other lotions wash away!

This is the season that's hardest on hands! Indoors, there's too much housework, too little help. Outdoors, there's too much weather, too little protection. Your hands need a lotion with more than a pleasant scent and a soothing sensation. In wintertime especially, you need a super-lotion that works as hard as you do. And that's Revlon's Medicated 'Silicare'. 'Silicare' sinks in... then seals in... fights dryness and redness, helps heal cuts, chafes and scratches.

'Silicare' keeps working long after other lotions wash away. Harsh detergents, as they cut through grease, also remove the natural oils which protect your skin. But the sealing-in protection of 'Silicare' lasts through as many as five ordinary washings. It protects with an invisible silicone 'glove'. Costs slightly more, but worth it. Choose 'Silicare' lotion or cream. Use it regularly for one week. You'll see there really is a difference in hand lotions!

Uncle Ray's Column

The Air We Breathe

A set of the World Book Encyclopedia has been awarded to the fourth grade classroom of the Stewart Avenue School, Columbus, O., by Uncle Ray.

Pupils in fourth through twelfth grade classes in public, parochial or private schools, may win a complete set of the World Book Encyclopedia for their classrooms by submitting questions to Uncle Ray. Ask your teacher to choose the best five questions submitted by your class on history, science, biography or geography and send them to Uncle Ray, in care of the Post-Dispatch.

by Ramon Coffman

A QUESTION about breathing has come from Roger Lawson, Barbara Ryan and their classmates. They ask:

"How do our lungs help us to breathe?"

Our lungs take oxygen from the air, and transfer the oxygen to the blood. The heart pumps blood around the body, and the blood supplies fresh oxygen to cells in the feet, head, arms, hands and other parts.

Waste gases from the cells are picked up by the blood. Then the waste gases are breathed out.

Q. How much oxygen does the air contain?

A. The air is composed mainly of nitrogen, a gas that has only a little to do with the breathing process. Nitrogen slows up breathing somewhat, and that is good. If we breathed pure oxygen for a long time, things would go wrong.

About 78 per cent of pure air is composed of nitrogen, and a bit more than 20 per cent is oxygen. The rest is made up of argon and other gases.

Q. When we take in a breath of fresh air, do we use up all the oxygen in that breath?

A. It is common for a person to use up only about one third of the oxygen in a breath of air. For this reason, people have met success in a type of artificial respiration that has become popular recently. The air breathed out by a human being still contains a good deal of oxygen, and this may be used by one who needs oxygen to start breathing again.

Q. Does air, in general, contain dust?

A. Wherever air is breathed by people, you may be sure that some dust exists. There is less dust in high places than in low. The air breathed by people in Mexico City is far more pure than what is breathed in a city like Baltimore.
